DETAILS of the FINAL COUNT

This Page Carefully

In order to maintain the utmost secrecy as to the number of subscriptions turned in by each candidate this, the last week of The Tribune-Times big automobile campaign, the race will be brought to a close under a sealed ballot box. After next Tuesday candidates' standings will not be published.

No subscriptions whatever will be accepted through the campaign department this week, but instead, candidates themselves will deposit their final collections in the SEALED BALLOT BOX located at the Cabarrus Savings Bank, of this city. By so doing, no one, not even the campaign manager, or the publishers can possibly know the voting strength of the respective candidates, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree.

Locked and sealed, the ballot box has been placed in the Cabarrus Savings Bank, where it will remain until the closing hour of the campaign, 10 o'clock Saturday night, November 21, 1925.

When the final hour arrives the campaign will be declared closed. The judges will break the seals, unlock the box and immediately thereafter, or as soon as votes can be issued on subscriptions contained therein, the last count will begin. The winners will be determined by merely adding the published vote totals which will appear for the last time in Tuesday's issue of The Tribune to reserve votes and those contained in the ballot box. There will be no waiting; no complicated count, but simply a matter of adding the vote totals and announcing the winners.

It is calculated that it will require some time, however, to canvass the findings in the Football is a good game, a manly game. We like it. But football should not be allowed to rule supreme in our colleges, no more than should baseball or tennis or pole or poker playing or crap shooting or any other game.

Our colleges are intended for the dissemination of learning. When they fail to do that, when they fail to hold that as the original principle, these colleges are not fulfilling their duty to the public, to their pupils or to themselves.

Football is well enough in its place and it should be kept in that place.

Getting Action When Action is Needgetting Action When Action is Needputting his heart and soul into the work that he has been doing but who has been preaching to a lot of luke warm and self contented members of his congregation, decided recently to put the matter right up to them and to see whether they wanted to rouse out of their spiritual and physical stumber and do something or whether they wanted to continue as they were. If they did, he had made up his mind that another pastor was just what they noeded.

"Look here, you folks," said the pastor, "I've been fighting the devil here for a long while. I've been hammering sin and shouting about doing great things for the master and you have been sitting back in your pews and letting me do all the work. You have given me no support except your sanction of what is have said and done and your financial aid. I want action from you, am I going to get it? Are you going to do your part and help carry on the work that I am trying to do, or are you going to sit and snooze and allow me to continue to go on as I have been doing? It you are, I'm do your part and help carry on the work that I am trying to do, or are you going to sit and sneeze and allow me to continue to go on as I have been doing? If you are, I'm through."

That congregation sat up and looked as though they had been stabbed with a bolt of lightning. By Jingo they had been awakened out of their sleep and it didn't take them many minutes to assure their pastor that they were with him beart and soul, brain and brawn and would do their share.

If a few other pastors in Durham would adopt the tactic of that one mentioned above a few more or the ten thousand men, women and young folks in this town who have their names on the church register would become more than mere figure-heads in the work which is to be and can be done.

That pastor is due to go far. He is the sort of a pregcher who leading the mark in the world.

Motorists who don't fancy their cars used for advertising purposes without their knowledge and consent will be pleased to learn that they are not entirely without remedy. In Greensboro an advertising sticker was glued to the windshie'd of an automobile without the consent of the owner. The latter secured a warrant for the advertising man, charging him with defacing personal property, and the court rose to the occasion by imposing a fine of $50.

In some cities a license is necessary for disturbing advertising matter, and this is also being used in Greensboro to cheek the indiacriminate pasting and posting of bills and stickes. The defacing of property would seem to hold good where the advertising is attached to the property, but this does not take care of the fellow who piles advertising matter into your car without your consent. Possibly a way will be found to reach him, by calling him a tresponser if no other way is open. Then attention should be given to the folias who litter your yard and porch, and the streets and sidewalks. Much of this sort of advertising is so carelastly done that it is of no salvantage whatever to the advertiser. It simply makes litter and so irks the citizen that he is prejudiced against the thing advertised. Some regulation of the distribution, with due regard for the rights of the citizen and the advertiser as well, would be of benefit to the advertiser, as, he would be saved much waste. That is, the regulations would be of advantage if they were enforced. Regulations that are not to be observed should not be made. We have too many of that sort now.
