WILKINSON-GREEN WEDDING IS A BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Miss Virginia Wilkinson Becomes the Bride of William Stowe Green at Lutheran Church.

In a ceremony which was impressive and beautiful, Miss Virginia Wilkinson became the bride of William Stowe Green Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in St. James Lutheran Church.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. As a background, green palms and ferns were bunched, setting off the bunches of giant white chrysanthemums which were used in profusion in baskets and vases.

Similar bunches of chrysanthemums made a border for the center aisle, being tied to the pews with white ribbons.

On the altar, the seven altar candles shed a soft light on the scene. Just before the ceremony, Miss Helen Misenheimer entered, gowned in a dress of pink crepe embroidered in crystal beads.

She wore a shoulder corsage of valley lilies, narcissi, snap dragons and roses.

Miss Misenheimer gave several organ selections, "Venetian Love Song," "Lullaby," "Lullaby," "Lullaby," "To a Wild Rose," by MacDowell.

At the conclusion of the organ prelude, Miss Lois Crowell sang in lovely voice "At Dawning," by Cadman, and "Beauty's Eyes" by Wilson.

Miss Crowell wore a dress of blue chiffon with a girle of rainbow satin. She wore a shoulder corsage similar to Miss Misenheimer's.

The bridal party entered to the strains of Lohegrin's Wedding March.

The ushers, E. F. White, Max Warlick, Miles Wolf and Martin McRae, of Wadesboro, entered first.

Next came the two groomsmen, Leigh Colyer, of Charlotte, and William Bennett, of Wadesboro.

The bridesmaids, Miss Nell Green, of Gastonia, sister of the groom, and Miss Margaret Miller, followed. They were wearing dresses of gold taffeta and full fashioned in bouffant effect.

With slippers to match. They carried arm bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums tied with green and gold chiffon and wore yellow flowers in their hair.

Miss Winifred Gann, of Savannah, maid of honor, came next, wearing a gown of pink taffeta, with a close fitting bodice and circular skirt with an over-skirt of chantilly lace and wearing slippers matching the dress.

From her left shoulder back fell a shower of orchids, and pink and orchid velvet ribbon to the hem of the skirt. She had orchids in her hair.

She carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums tied with orchid chiffon.

Mrs. Arthur Edgeworth, of Monroe, dame of honor, entered wearing a shaded green cut velvet gown with trailing sash of gold.

In her hair was a large comb. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums tied with shaded green chiffon.

All the attendants wore pearls, a gift of the bride.

As the bridal party grouped itself around the altar, the bride entered on the arm of her father, H. B. Wilkinson. She was beautiful in her wedding dress of white duchess satin, trimmed in real lace, the dress being bouffant effect.

She wore white satin slippers with rosettes of orange blossoms.

Her veil was coronet fashion, of real lace showered with orange blossoms. She had a court train of white satin in her only ornament was a strand of seed pearls, the gift of her father.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MAJOR W. A. FOIL

Hundreds of Friends and Relatives Attended Services Held at Home This Morning.

Funeral services for Major William A. Foil, prominent citizen of Concord, were held this morning at 11 o'clock at the home on North Union street.

Major Foil died early Tuesday morning at his home here following an illness of several months.

Hundreds of friends and relatives of the deceased attended the services which were conducted by Rev. L. A. Thomas, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, of which Major Foil had been a member for a number of years.

Rev. C. F. Fisher and Rev. J. H. Keller, both of China Grove, assisted. The burial ritual of the Lutheran Church was used.

Music at the home and the grave was rendered by Mrs. J. B. Womble, Mrs. H. G. Gibson, Mrs. Gales Pickard, Kay Patterson and R. E. Ridgman, Jr. Hymns sung at the home were "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," "Sometimes We'll Understand," and "Lead Kindly Light."

Mrs. Womble also sang a solo. At the grave "Christians, Good Night," was sung. Piano accompaniments were played by Mrs. R. A. Brewer.

Hundreds of floral tributes sent as tokens of love and respect, were banked high at the home during the ceremony and later completely covered the grave in Oakwood cemetery.

In addition to those from friends here, many of the designs came from acquaintances and relatives of other cities. Major Foil being prominently known throughout the state.

Honorary pall bearers at the funeral were: C. W. Swink, Dr. W. H. Wadsworth, Dr. W. D. Pemberton, J. B. Womble, Zeb V. Long, of Statesville; W. A. Flowe, T. T. Smith, R. V. Caldwell, Jr., C. A. Ienhour, Geo. Kluttz, D. F. Giles, of Marion, and G. G. Allen, of Kannapolis.

Active pall bearers were: Dr. T. N. Spencer, John J. Barnhardt, J. Lee Crowell, Jr., A. R. Hoover, Charles A. Cannon, B. E. Harris, A. R. Howard and G. L. Patterson.

"Fear-Bound" Has Thrills Galore. An exceptionally strong cast appearing in a story that offers extraordinary opportunities for moving entertainment. This is the promise of "Fear-Bound," a Will Nigh production for Vitagraph, which comes to the Concord Theatre Friday to remain one day.

"Fear-Bound" is a Western, but with appeals for every class of picture-lover. It has thrills galore—a realistic rough-and-tumble "battle royal" in the high-light, but there is an appealing romance threading its way through the plot, there are clever comedy touches, and there are settings and outdoor shots that are said to entitle the picture to a place among productions of the highest artistry.

Aside from all these attractive features, the cast alone would seem of sufficient strength to attract all the fans. It includes such popular players as Marjorie Daw, Will Nigh, Louise Mackintosh, Niles Welch, Ed F. Roseman, James Bradbury, Jr., Warner Richmond, Dexter MacKeynolds, Jean Jarvis, Frank Conlan and Bill Gudgeon.

ROTARY MEETING. Club Members Hear Fine Talk by Rev. R. M. Courtney, of Central Methodist Church.

At their weekly meeting at the Y. M. C. A., yesterday members of the Concord Rotary Club heard a fine talk by Rev. R. M. Courtney, pastor of Central Methodist Church and gave attention to a number of important business matters.

The program for the meeting was in charge of W. R. Odell and E. C. Barnhardt and the former introduced to the club Mr. Courtney who in the course of his short talk expressed unusual pleasure at his opportunity of co-operating with the Rotary Club and other organizations in the up-building of a bigger Concord.

It was the first time Mr. Courtney has addressed the Rotary members and he was heard with unusual interest and pleasure.

During the course of the meeting the members were reminded of the mass meeting to be held here Monday night in the interest of securing funds from the Duke endowment for the erection of a hospital.

Dr. W. S. Rankin will address the meeting and Rotarians were urged to attend the meeting and otherwise co-operate in making the movement a successful one.

A committee was appointed by the club some time ago to aid other committees in the work of securing the hospital money and it is probable that this committee will have a report to make when more definite plans are adopted following the mass meeting.

MEETS DEATH DRIVING ON UNFAMILIAR ROAD. Charlotte Man Pinned Under Car When It Went Down an Embankment. Charlotte, Nov. 18.—While driving on an unfamiliar road at night, Ed Wilson, of North Pine street, met instant death about 9:30 p. m. Monday, near Lowell, in Gaston county.

Accompanied by two young women, Mr. Wilson was driving on the road from Cranston, that leads to the Charlotte-Gastonia highway when the tragedy happened.

THE BRIDE'S PARENTS ON NORTH UNION STREET

Mrs. A. B. Pounds and Mrs. R. C. Corzine met the guests at the door. In the living room was a receiving line consisting of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Green, Mrs. W. T. Green, of Gastonia, and Miss Corzine Green, also of Gastonia, Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Thomas, and Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Kester.

Mrs. Wilkinson wore a dress of black lace and carried a corsage of killerney roses.

Mrs. Green had on a gown of brown crepe embroidered in steel beads and carried a corsage of Russel roses.

The guests were shown to the other living room where the bridal party formed a second receiving line.

Miss Stella Misenheimer and Miss Mary Probst showed the guests to the gift room where Miss Margie Misenheimer, Mrs. Ephraim Tucker, Mrs. Lewis Musgrove, of Charlotte, received.

Here the many beautiful gifts attested to the popularity of the young couple.

Mrs. Fred McConnell showed the guests to the dining room where Mrs. J. Lee Crowell, Jr., Miss Mary McKinley, Miss Margaret Corzine, Miss Mary Troutman and Mrs. Charles Johnson served.

Mrs. R. M. Cook was at the door to bid the guests good-bye.

A salad course was served the guests.

Immediately after the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Green left for a motor trip to Florida.

One remarkable feature of the "Guardianship of Infants Act," which has just become effective in Great Britain, is the mother of an illegitimate child now acquires a legal status, as her consent must be obtained for the marriage of the child.

Parent-Teachers' Association Meets. On Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock building the Central Grammar School Parent-Teachers' Association had its regular monthly meeting.

Another attractive feature of the program was a charming duet played by two small sisters, Nancy and Billy Pike, pupils of Miss In Blume, Miss Janie Klutz then read an excellent paper on "The Selectio not Reading Material For Children."

This paper, and the program in general, was especially appropriate, since last week was National Book Week, during which a special effort was made all over the nation to stimulate the reading of worthwhile books.

Arrangements were made to have another penny circus in the near future. These events are always a source of much fun for the young folks who will doubtless greet the announcement with pleasure.

It was found that Miss Klutz's room had won the much-coveted reward for having the most mothers present. The association would make another appeal for better attendance on the part of the mothers.

Those who do not come, are missing some excellent programs as well as losing the opportunity to help in an eminently worthy cause. Let's all be present at the next meeting on December 1st which is a joint meeting of the grammar school and primary organizations.

Pastor Is "Founded." The good Methodist church of Mt Olivet Church arrived suddenly at the church parsonage yesterday, leaving a wonderful dinner and many substantial gifts for their pastor, Rev. A. G. Loftin, and family.

The pastor derived much pleasure from the unexpected visit of his congregation, the "foundling" coming as a complete surprise. He has many reasons to be thankful and no reason son for being hungry for some time. A FRIEND.
