The new gowns are cut very low in the back, and fairly high in front, so the newest necklaces show up to better advantage if they are worn with the ornament in the back rather than in the front, after the manner of this sketch. Pearl necklaces, too, nestle on the spinal column.

Meeting Wednesday For Purpose of Starting Work Again in Department of Woman's Club.

The Welfare Department of the Woman's Club will be reorganized at a meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Laura Leslie Ross on West Depot street and all former members of the department and other women interested in the work are invited to attend the meeting.

The Welfare Department work in the club was halted last year and Mrs. Ross has been asked to reorganize the departments and act as its chairman. Full plans for the department's work will be outlined at the Wednesday meeting.

Mrs. W. T. Shore, formerly president of the Charlotte Woman's Club and at present a member of the welfare department of that club, has been invited by Mrs. Ross to attend the meeting here Wednesday and address those present on the manner in which work should be carried out.

Mrs. Ross has been prominent in club work in North Carolina for a number of years and is certain to offer many worth while suggestions at the meeting.

Mrs. Ross is confident that after the department is formally organized Wednesday it will be able to carry on a very active and effective work in the city.

HOUS OF NECESSARY SLEEP TO BE REDUCED

Scientists Declare Sleep is Nothing More Than Form of Intoxication.

Washington, Nov. 28.—A theory that sleep may be nothing more than intoxication and that by cultivating better habits humanity may lessen the hours so spent was advanced here today by George Washington university scientists who conducted a recent test on eight students.

The finding was tentative and the research work will be continued but meanwhile the scientists say that if the results pointed to any one theory of sleep it was that of natural intoxication, caused by the storing of poisons in the human system during the wakeful hour.

When the drunkard becomes intoxicated, they said, he sleeps, and generally wakes up detoxified. In the case of the students microscopic examinations showed their blood changes corresponded to those of a drunken man, and that their trouble was cured by a short period of sleep.

The students were kept awake for 60 hours. It was found that insomnia played havoc with the visual senses phantoms being reported by some, and various distortion of objects by others. A single night's loss of sleep did not effect the ability of the subjects to drive an automobile but they became rather dangerous drivers on the second night. This was explained as due to their tendency to drop off to sleep while listening to the rhythm of the motor. Their mental faculties and muscles remained up to standard.

It is quite possible, the scientists said, that through force of habit one person is able to obtain a hundred units of sleep in one half the time required by others.

"In short," they said, "sleep has not only length but depth."

"If this assumption be true, the length of time that people sleep is very largely a question of habit. It might be possible to cause their sleeping mechanism to work faster just as by a series of conditioned reflexes we can make the salivary glands work faster."

The first two hours of sleep are much deeper than the last two, it was declared and this theory would account well for dreams by placing dreams in one of the stages of sleep having little depth.

CABARRUS COUNTY CAMPS ARE BEST IN THE STATE

State Inspector Finds Good Conditions on His Visit Here—Sees Everyday Aspect.

Cabarrus County chain gang camps are among the best in the State, it was learned here today following a visit by State Inspector Whitley.

Mr. Whitley declared after a rigorous investigation of conditions in and about the camps that Cabarrus County had the best camps he had visited yet in his rounds of the state.

Officials who had the matter of the welfare of the convicts, who had been sentenced to work on the roads, in charge were very much pleased at the report of the inspector and considered that it was "quite a feather in their caps."

They were all the more pleased since no effort had been made to acquaint the superintendent of the local camp that a visit from the inspector was impending. Mr. Whitley, it was declared, saw conditions as they actually are in every day routine.

CABARRUS Y CAGERS RUN AWAY WITH COLLEGIANS

Cabs Went After Ball With Right Much More Dash and Pep and the Ex-College Stars Were Unable to Stand the Gaff.

BY JAZZY MOORE.
Kannapolis, Nov. 30.—Cabarrus Y had little difficulty in making the Bozeman All Stars its second straight victim of the season here Saturday night by a 30-12 count.

The game, played as a practice match between the varsity looper representing Cabarrus Y. M. C. A. and a group of former collegians, headed by the celebrated Bozo Bozeman, late of Georgia Tech, was void of any spectacular playing by either team, although the constant floor scramble by Polphs, Cabarrus center, and Moore, opposing guard, furnished the crowd some thrills and a good many laughs. Both players were tricky enough and their phoney dribbling and passing made a listless game fairly interesting.

The Collegians jumped off a few minutes after the game started and an eight point lead till Cabarrus caught up from behind. Being pushed by the college quiet the Cabs struck a fast stride and the half ended with the Y. M. C. A. leading by the score of 20 to 8.

In the second half it seemed to be easy going for the Y, and for a few minutes they exhibited some real teamwork, and annexed seven points to their total in quick succession. The Cabarrus substitutes showed up the game a bit and the college five took on new life, but the lead Cabarrus had run up proved too big to overcome.

Abie Love, erstwhile Stamford High star, made his debut as a varsity member of the Cabarrus loopsters. Bozeman was a flash on his feet for the losing cagers but was held in check by the splendid guarding of Moore for the Y team.

Line up and summary:
Cabarrus (30) All Stars (12)
Fowler (6) rt Bozeman (2)
Love (10) lf Butler (2)
Polphs (8) c Chandler (2)
Moore (3) rg Badenhop (3)
Veitch (3) lg McKay (0)

Substitutions: Gardner for Veitch; McKenzie for Moore. Referee, Jazzy Moore.

BURLINGTON MEN WILL RUN CIRCUS

Heritage Brother and Others Incorporate For That Purpose.

Burlington, Nov. 29.—Heritage Bros. Show, Inc., authorized capital $100,000 with its principal stockholders Arthur Heritage, Albert Heritage, "Pete" Neese, H. H. Whitehead, and "Bud" Horne, has been organized here.

In the capitalization of the Heritage brothers are two of the best known men in circuses, and the release of their plans to enter the "big top" game at the head of their own organization will be received with keen interest throughout the show world, and that takes in all—even the smallest county general store in America.

The show will be of the circus type, in fact, a circus, with three rings, side show, menagerie, and every other circus apparatus carried by the leading big shows of the country. It probably will feature pony and wild animal acts, supplemented with a full category of standard circus acts.

Immediately after the organization was effected Arthur Heritage, who is known in the show world as Art Hoffman, left Burlington en route to Chicago and other points to get a line on equipment for the show; props, animals and performers.

Efforts are being made to get winter quarters here, which, if successful will begin to receive shipments at once, and such personnel as required to handle winter training activities. Generally a circus is at its "busiest" in winter quarters for there its new features are planned and rehearsed for the spring opening.

"Where can Harold be?"
"Why?"
"He's been trying for a week to lose our cat, and as a last resort he took her up in an airplane and dropped her over the side."

"Well, what is there to worry about?"
"Lots. Harold isn't home yet, and the cat is."

Mr. Greene—These jellies all seem the same flavor to me, dear.
Mrs. Greene—But you can tell the difference by the labels.
Mr. Greene—Possibly. I never thought of tasting the labels.

Y BASKETEERS BEGIN SEASON ON THURSDAY

Schedule For Year Included Games With Wake Forest, Davidson and Other Colleges.

The local Y basketball team will open its season Thursday night when it plays Salisbury on the court of the Rowan basketeers.

Although the Concord team has had but very little practice, it is thought that one of the best teams that ever represented the Y. M. C. A. will be turned out this year.

Only two letter men are back, Capt. Robert Dick and Miles Wolf. A number of new men, however, give a promising outlook. Among those which have been showing up well are Livingston Easley, former high school captain; "Bub" Sullivan, high school football player who is making a bid for a guard position; J. F. Harris, also a high basketeer, and Cole, who comes to Concord from the western part of the state.

An unusually heavy schedule has been prepared with Salisbury, Charlotte, Winston, Greensboro and Kannapolis represented among the Y teams and Wake Forest, Lenoir.
