PRESIDENT IN MESSAGE TO CONGRESS OUTLINES MANY RECOMMENDATIONS

(Continued From Page One) With reference to agriculture, the President regarded its position as a whole improved although many localities and individuals still are in a distressing condition. In his opinion farmers generally do not wish meddling by the government or direct or indirect price fixing which would result from permitting the government to operate in the agricultural markets and cover should be given the department of agriculture to aid marketing associations without undue regulation.

In his analysis of the merchant marine problem, he took the view that while elimination of the regional representation feature of the shipping board is not desirable, "it has become apparent that without centralized executive action the management of this great business will founder in incapacity and languish under a division of council."

Pointing out that the federal government has little to deal with the situation in the coal industry, he advocated authority for appointment of temporary boards with authority to call for witnesses and documents, conciliate differences, encourage arbitration and in case of threatened scarcity exercise control over distribution.

As for prohibition, the President said: "Under the orderly processes of our fundamental institutions the constitution was lately amended providing for national prohibition. The Congress passed an act for its enforcement and similar acts have been provided by most of the states. It is the law of the land. It is the duty of all who come under its jurisdiction to observe the spirit of that law, and it is the duty of the department of justice and the treasury department to enforce it. Action to prevent smuggling, illegal transportation in interstate commerce, abuse in the use of permits, and existence of the sources of supply for illegal traffic is almost entirely imposed upon the federal government."

"Through treaties with foreign governments and increased activities of the coast guard, revenue agents, district attorneys and enforcement agents effort is being made to prevent these violations. But the Constitution also puts a concurrent duty on the states. We need their active and energetic co-operation, the vigilant action of their police, and the jurisdiction of their courts to assist in enforcement. I request of the people observance of the public officers' continuing efforts for enforcement, and of the Congress favorable action on the budget recommendation for the prosecution of this work."

With reference to railroads he recommended authority for consolidation under the supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and expressed gratification that railroad employers and employees are in substantial agreement as to legislation necessary to regulate and improve their relationship.
