LOCAL MENTION

According to a deed filed Monday at the court house Nora B. Norton has sold to Reese Ira Long property in Cabarrus county.

We can fix you some engraved Christmas cards with your name thereon on two hours notice. Call at Times-Tribune office and make your selection.

We can furnish engraved Christmas cards on a few hours notice. It isn't too late yet. Come in and let us fix them up for you the same day received. Beautiful line to select from.

No meeting of the Study Club will be held this week. The meeting scheduled for this week was held last week with Mrs. C. A. Cannon so that no meeting would come on Christmas week.

As usual, none of the offices in the court house will be open on Christmas day. Throughout the country Christmas is a day of rest for every one and no business of any kind will be transacted in the local court house.

What is nicer for a Christmas present than a year's subscription to the Tribune or the Times? Make somebody happy this Christmas at New Year by sending them either the Semi-Weekly Times or the Daily Tribune.

Several persons tried in recorder's court Monday afternoon paid fines and costs totalling $45.55, police officers report. Several cases scheduled to have been tried were continued at the request of the defendants, the officers report.

Post Office employees are expecting their usual Christmas rush this year, long E. nosepe etain nu nununu long lines of people forming during the greater part of the day to await their turns to purchase stamps for Christmas cards or to get their packages weighed for mailing.

Work on the hotel continues at full force, despite the fact that it is Christmas week. All the brick work has been finished with the exception of the top story and this is being rushed to completion. Workmen are busy in the interior putting in plumbing and supports for the plasterers.

The manse of All Saints Episcopal Church is being changed and improved. The whole interior is being painted and other improvements are contemplated. The new rector of the church, Rev. Harris B. Thomas, expects to occupy the manse sometime in January and the improvements will be completed by that time.

Firemen were called back to the burned home of Rev. D. A. Braswell about 11 o'clock Monday night to extinguish a blaze which was discovered in a bed mattress. The home was burned shortly after noon Monday and the mattress evidently was ignited then although the blaze was not seen until at night.

While the rains of the past several days have hurt local business to some extent, they have improved the water situation in the western part of the state it is reported. This probably means that Bridgewater, the Southern Power Company's water reserve, soon will be back to normalcy and that local textile mills can go on a full-time schedule.

This is the busiest season of the year for Register of Deeds Elliott insofar as marriage licenses are concerned. On Saturday Mr. Elliott issued eight licenses, four white and four colored and another colored couple received a license Monday. Christmas week usually finds many couples in this county anxious for licenses to wed.

The general public is invited to attend the Christmas pageant at Central Methodist Church tomorrow night. The pageant will be given by members of the Sunday school of the church and will depict Christmas celebrations in other countries. Persons are asked to take gifts to the church, to be sent to orphans and needy persons.

People in all parts of the country know about Concord as a result of the fair held here. Mrs. W. H. Gorman went into a New York candy shop several days ago, made a purchase and asked the saleswoman to send the candy to Concord, N. C. "I have been in Concord," the clerk said, "I was there last year at the fair and am going back next year." She was Mrs. Glick, whose husband was manager of the Greater Bernard Shows which were on the midway.

Noted Judge of Stage Beauties Says Every Girl Needs a Corset

Agitation Against It a Lot of Bosh," Says Bennett, Who Trained "Sunny" and "Rose-Marie" Choruses

DAVID BENNETT

I HAVE been asked what makes the best chorus girls. First, I would say "good health and reasonably good looks. Singing and dancing ability can be acquired to satisfactory degrees, but not unless a girl is healthy."

The foregoing statement was made recently by David Bennett, director of dancing and an expert judge of beauty. Mr. Bennett selected the girls and trained them for "Sunny," "The Charlotte Revue," "Rose-Marie," "The City Chap," "Widowmaker," "Florida Girl," Earl Carroll's "Vanities" and numerous other big musical productions.

"I have always chosen girls with a view to getting healthy ones, first," Mr. Bennett continued. "They must not be fat, of course. As to hair, I don't care whether it is bobbed or not. Posture has much to do with my selection. If a girl doesn't sit well I know she has let herself become plouchy. She probably has been too lazy to brace herself properly at the waist, and just below, where such vital internal organs are. This girl I reject because I believe she will be listless and weak."

"I have been asked if I favor corsets for girls. I certainly do. Of course, I mean the modern sort that are comfortable and form-giving. I have studied this question somewhat, in my observation of chorus girls, and I consider agitation against the modern corset merely a lot of bosh."

Seventy-five per cent of the corsets nowadays do not lace—they hook, or are slip-ins. Therefore, tight lacing is a thing of the past. Every girl needs a corset of some sort to lend her both health and style.

"I am not partial to any shade of hair in the chorus. I do like to see my girls 'sized up' well, however, and the hair colors properly contrasted. Facial beauty doesn't 'make' a chorus girl, always. I've seen little pug-nosed youngsters walk away with first honors in many a big number."

"Here!" concluded Mr. Bennett, "I've forgotten bow-legs. Well, and he smiled, "I guess I'd better continue to forget them."

True sportsmen will not kill more than the law's allowance of game. That's right. And others won't either.

Over 2,000 Families With Cones, Gets Hams.

Greensboro News.

The over 2,000 families connected with the operation of the Cone mills in Greensboro will this Christmas, as in the past, be each presented with a ham as a token of the esteem of their employers.

J. F. Hardin, superintendent of the Proximity mills, states that distribution of the hams will be made one day this week before Christmas itself.

The mills close on Wednesday afternoon and will remain closed until Thursday morning after Christmas week.

In Finland it is a custom to attend church service at 5 o'clock on Christmas morning.

The best sympathy

IT is only human for a funeral director to feel sympathetic in the presence of bereaved patrons. But it is real sympathy when he recognizes an obligation to see to it that the highest character of burial equipment is furnished at honest prices. Such a policy has been responsible for the success of this concern.

Typical of the burial equipment furnished by us is the Clark Grave Vault, recognized as a leader in the vault industry, because it gives positive and permanent protection.
