WALLACE DID NOT LEAVE WILL FOR GREAT ESTATE

WILL FOR GREAT ESTATE

One of Mecklenburg's Largest Landed Estates to Be Handled by Administrator.

Charlotte Observer.

The estate of former Sheriff N. W. Wallace, who died suddenly while visiting in Lincoln county Saturday, the 12, his not yet come up for administration under court auspices. It is thought by relatives and friends who knew the sheriff's attitude toward such matters that he did not make a will. No such document has been found, it is said.

The sheriff was said to be one of the largest if not the largest real estate owner in Mecklenburg county. He has rural holdings in practically all towfships, an acreage of about 1,200. His city holdings include 23 houses and lots and three vacant lots, according to the tax books.

The sheriff, himself, is said to tave been unaware of his exact worth. His estate is estimated to be considerably in excess of a quarter of a million dollars.

The venerable sheriff is survived by eight children, four girls and four boys. Members of the family said yesterday that the heirs will have a confepence after a few days and appoint an administrator.

COLD CHRISTMAS IS THE PRESENT FORECAS

Coldest Night of the Present Season Leads to Belief Christmas Day Will Be Cold and Chear.
Tuesday, night was the coldest of the present season and the low temperatures and clear sky indicate that Christmas Day will be perfect from a weather standpoint.
Many sorts of weather were offered Tuesday. Rain fell during the morning, the sun shone during the early afternoon, sleet fell about dusk and then at night a million stars and a brilliant moon gave signs that the wet weather was over.
Temperatures began falling during the afternoon when a stiff wind sprang up. Heavy ice was reported in all parts of the city this morning and low temperatures have prevailed
throughout the day.
