JUDGE OGLESBY PRAISED BY ASHEVILLE NEWSPAPER

"Just and Able Judge" is Caption of Editorial in the Asheville Times. Judge John M. Oglesby, of Concord, last week completed a long stay in Asheville, and the Asheville Times of last Wednesday carried the following editorial under the caption, "A Just and Able Judge":

"Judge John M. Oglesby, now ending the last week of his judicial sojourn in Buncombe and the other counties of the 19th district, will leave behind him a splendid reputation for diligence in business and unalterable determination to uphold the law and measure out impartial justice from the Superior Court bench.

"The people of Asheville, and Buncombe will especially remember Judge Oglesby for his charge to the grand jury following the storming of the county jail by a mob in search of a negro who, fortunately, had been removed from the county. His Honor on that occasion delivered a stirring appeal to the jurors for prompt and fearless dealing with a lawlessness which sought to tear down and trample underfoot the very structure of the law itself. Such men as Judge Oglesby are creators and upholders of North Carolina's best judicial traditions."

Judge Oglesby arrived in Concord Saturday night and will remain here until tomorrow when he will leave for Marion, where he will wed Miss Sara Hodgins on Thursday evening.

TO PRESENT COMIC OPERA IN CONCORD

Price Doyle to Put on Musical Production, "The Gondoliers," in Mid-February.

"The Gondoliers," a comic opera by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be presented in Concord on February 12th by a cast composed of outstanding singers in the community together with a chorus made up of high school girls and boys. The opera is to be under the direction of Price Doyle.

Mr. Doyle is already making plans for the opera and at an early date will announce his selection of the chorus. This part of the opera will be trained at once. The leading characters in the performance will not be announced until the latter part of January.

"The Gondoliers" has an unusually clever plot and has bright sparkling music customary with Sullivan scores.

An opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was presented by Mr. Doyle last year and was very well received in the city. This year's musical production promises to surpass past achievements of Mr. Doyle.

A Cabarrus Situation

The Albemarle-Salisbury highway No. 80, barely tips the northern corner of Cabarrus. The Concord Observer bears that the road, financed by Stanly and Rowan counties, "will be given a turn and a curve to avoid Cabarrus." If that should be the case, it will be because of simplifying the matter of financing for the road would touch Cabarrus only to the extent of one of the white washes, indicating the unfinished road, and the slightest deviation would be sufficient to escape complication over a small financial matter. This, however, is simply speculation. It is a fact that Cabarrus has been liberal in providing money for the highway reaching toward Albemarle. The Concord paper insists that it was an outright gift of $300,000 to build the State highway to the Stanly line, and not a "loan." That being the case, it may be assumed with some degree of certainty that there will be no discrimination against Cabarrus in the routing of the Albemarle-Salisbury highway.

Mrs. Frances Thompson Dead at Home on Crowell Street

Mrs. Frances G. Thompson, 70, died at her home on Crowell street Saturday, December 26th, after an illness of about two weeks, death resulting from pneumonia. Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home and burial was made at Rocky River, Rev. M. E. Hausel officiating.

Mrs. Thompson was born in Carlisle county on March 11, 1855, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Stallings. She had resided in Concord a number of years.

Surviving are six children: Mrs. M. L. Rogers, of Brown Mill; Mrs. E. A. Morris, of Cabarrus county; W. N. Thompson, R. C. Thompson and J. A. Thompson, all of Concord, and Mrs. John M. Coley, of Montana. Three brothers and two sisters also survive.

C. C. Griffin Struck by Automobile

C. C. Griffin, of South Union street, was struck by an auto Saturday night about 9 o'clock at the intersection of Union and Corbin streets. He was not seriously hurt.

Police officers have not been able to find the driver of the car. Several persons saw the accident, the officers report, but the eye witnesses can not agree as to the make of the car. Some say it was a Ford touring car with the curtains up, others say it was a Ford sedan, while others say it was a Buick.

Mr. Griffin was dragged several feet after being struck by the car and it was feared at first that he was seriously hurt. He was rushed to the Concord Hospital where an examination showed his injuries to be mostly cuts and bruises. He returned to his home Sunday afternoon.

The driver of the car stopped a minute after striking Mr. Griffin but soon sped on. One person near the scene of the accident said the car started up again after one of the occupants shouted to the driver: "Pour it in her."

COLDEST WEATHER OF SEASON FOR CONCORD

Temperature hovered around 20 Above Zero During Most of Sunday Despite Sun's Rays.

The sun shone with much splendor Sunday but his rays made little impression on the freezing temperatures which rode into Concord Saturday night on a wind which had its origin in the west where temperatures ranging from 18 above to 12 below zero carried suffering to many.

The public generally did not anticipate the decided change in temperature and for that reason the cold was more pronounced. Persons without overcoats were seen on the streets in numbers Saturday afternoon, but the only persons who ventured out without them Sunday were those who had none.

Police officers on duty Saturday night state that temperatures dropped to 15 above zero during the night and so far as is known, the temperature Sunday was never above 22 degrees. There is no official government weather bureau here but many persons kept tabs on the weather with individual thermometers and the average temperature for the day was 20 above.

At 6 o'clock Sunday night the mercury started on another tumble and dropped rapidly to 18 above. Persons who watched its progress during the night report that it touched 15 above at 4 o'clock this morning. At 7 this morning a thermometer at the Pearl Drug Store registered 9 above and one at Gibson Drug Store was down to 5.

Plumbers were in demand Sunday and today, with the greatest number of calls reported this morning. Frozen pipes were the rule rather than the exception.

Auto owners in many instances also found the change in weather very costly for frozen radiators were replaced in great numbers. Many cars which were placed in garages Saturday night refused to move Sunday morning and a few others are said to have frozen during the day after leaving warm garages early in the morning.

Calls for fuel were received by city officials from a number of families, it is said, and in most instances the fuel was furnished. It is said that more calls would have been received had not many families been given fuel on Christmas.

Continued cold weather for the remainder of the day and night is promised, with slowly rising temperatures later in the week.

THREE BASKETBALL GAMES TO BE PLAYED THIS WEEK

Wake Forest, Lenoir-Rhyne and High Point Come to Concord For Contests With Locals.

Unless the present plans go awry, as did the plan to play White Oak last week, the local Y hoopers will have a busy week this week, with three of the toughest games on their schedule to be run off.

And, with the assistance of the college boys who are home from their respective institutions of learning, the visiting basketball five will probably have about all they can handle.

Three games are to be played on the local Y floor. The first comes on Wednesday when Wake Forest comes to the city for a match. This is the first appearance of the Demon Deacons in Concord in the last three years and fans are looking forward with much interest to the game. Among the players will be Capt. Ober, Greason, Chackles, James, Green and other players of fame. It is rumored that Emerson will probably make other teams in the state sit up and take notice ere the season is over. Prominent among the players on this team is Moose, who is not only a basketball star, but who is a ball pitcher of note, rated as one of the foremost hurlers in the state.

These three games will give local fans an opportunity to observe the playing of some of the best basketball in the state. A large number of people are expected to attend the games. All the games are to be played at the Y gym.

Colleen Moore in a Western Comedy

With the bustling background of the West in the making, peopled by faithful replicas of the period, "The Desert Flower," latest Colleen Moore vehicle to be released by First National, is now the attraction at the Concord Theatre today.

Admirers of this spirited sprite, who have been surprised time and again by her many-sided talents, will look upon Colleen Moore quite different from the one they zehled in the flapper classics she has contributed to the screen.

As Maggie Fortune in "The Desert Flower" Miss Moore is said to have achieved her greatest histrionic triumph.

The building of a railroad, with Maggie keeping house in a boxcar for her step-father, who is foreman of the construction gang, supplies interesting atmosphere for the early scenes.

Lloyd Hughes appears opposite Miss Moore, and in the cast are to be found such well known character actors as Frank Brownlee, Kate Price, William Norton Bailey, Monte Collins and Gene Corrado. Irving Cummings directed the production.

CONCORD'S POOR ARE CARED FOR CHRISTMAS

King's Daughters Head Charity in City and Provide For Needy—Generous Gifts Received.

Concord's poor and needy were well provided for this Christmas.

A committee from the King's Daughters, assisted by J. H. Brown, welfare officer, took care of the poor in the city and country: friends saw to it that the Jackson Training School boys were not forgotten and other friends remembered inmates of the county home and the jail.

Every case, where it was known that there was an actual want, was attended to and the things most needed were given them, along with the Christmas bags.

As is customary at Christmas time, the King's Daughters took the lead in charity. Seventy "Opportunities" were listed and the committee found no trouble in getting the co-operation of the different individuals, according to Mrs. J. P. Cook.

Among the contributors to the "Opportunities" were men's Bible classes of the different churches and several of the fraternal organizations.

Two hundred and fifty bags were filled with fruit and candies and were distributed over the county to people who were having little or no Christmas cheer. Clothing was distributed to twenty-two families, averaging five children to a family and fuel was given to seven homes.

All the fuel given out as an "Opportunity" was contributed by A. B. Plonks, who very kindly agreed to give to the King's Daughters all the coal they needed in distributing to the poor this Christmas.

Another generous gift came from C. A. Cannon, who telephoned to the office of Dr. T. N. Spencer on the day before Christmas and inquired how many "Opportunities" were still not taken, and later sent a check to cover all needs. He expressed a hope that there would not be a cheerless home in Concord.

The King's Daughters were loud in their praise of the co-operation of Dr. Spencer, who permitted them to use his office throughout the campaign to secure contributions to the "Opportunities." They were also grateful to Dewey Sappenfield, they said, for his untiring work in answering all calls relative to information necessary to placing the "Opportunities" properly.

"The committee from the King's Daughters," said Mrs. Cook, "realizing that it was a season of goodwill and good cheer worked constantly and up to the very end endeavored to bring cheer to every needy home."

Some criticism has been directed toward the King's Daughters, it was learned today, about misplaced charity. It was pointed out by Mrs. Cook, however, that in giving to so many families, there are bound to be some mistakes made and that any assistance in keeping these same mistakes from being made another year would be appreciated.

At the Jackson Training School exercises were held on Christmas morning with Rev. R. M. Courtney as the principal speaker. A tree was lighted and the boys of the institution sang carols. Well-filled bags were then distributed, this made possible through the generosity of friends who contributed over $400 to the Christmas fund of the training school. The Elks played Santa Claus to the inmates of the jail, purchasing 21 bags to the unfortunates housed there. The Silver Cross circle of the King's Daughters presented these bags.

Another King's Daughters circle, Junior Daughters, distributed 32 bags to children who would not have had any gifts this year.

As was customary, the Ladies' Aid Society of St. James Lutheran Church took gifts and bags of fruits and candy to the men and women of the county home Christmas day.

"Nomenclature" is a profession of which a woman, Miss Laura Lee Rogers, of Elizabeth, N. J., is believed to have a monopoly. For twenty years Miss Rogers has made a business of supplying "catchy" names for houses, boats, and commercial products. Some of the names suggested by her for prepared foods and similar products have become known throughout America.
