HOW TO WIN:—Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verify thou shalt be fed.

THE DEATH RATE AND THE AUTOMOBILE.
The national death rate in the United States has been placed by the commerce department at 11.9 per 1000 population, on the basis of figures for 1924 as compared with 12.3 in 1923, 1.8 in 1922 and 11.6 in 1921.

Heart disease was found to have been the chief cause of death in the general registration area in 1924, accounting for 176,671 fatalities, a slight increase over the comparative figure for the preceding year.

PARENTS MUST GIVE TIME TO THEIR CHILDREN.
Judge Jehu F. Norris has presided for 33 years in New York courts and while she is a striking example of the progress made by woman suffrage, she is still old-fashioned enough to contend that "respect for law and order begin in the home."

progress made by woman suffrage, she is still old-fashioned enough to contend that "respect for law and order begin in the home."

What is true of the fathers also is true of the mothers, except business is not taking most of the women's time, she said, adding that this situation is largely responsible for the increase in crime.

Officers of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. Henderson said, had assured her they are ready to combat as far as possible habits which threaten the perpetuity of the American nation.

TODAY'S EVENTS
Wednesday, December 30, 1925
Centenary of the death of Jacob Cist, eminent American geologist.

Post and Flag's Cotton Letter.
New York, Dec. 29.—Although the extent and duration of advances is still largely contingent on covering by shorts and there is as yet nothing in the situation sufficiently serious to create genuine alarm among those committed to that side of the market, the feeling is gradually developing that the size of the crop has monopolized the market to an undue extent and that perhaps things are not exactly as they may have seemed to the average man on the street.

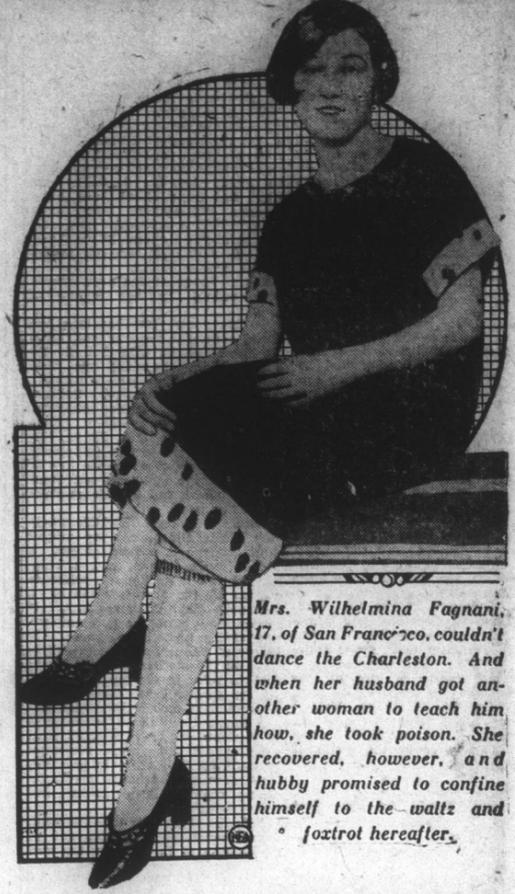

My employer had told me to take all messages and see all callers, as he was very busy. At 4 p. m., just as he was leaving for the day, a lady came in to see him. I told her my boss was out. "Why, isn't that over there reading the paper?" she asked. And sure enough it was. I told her he must have just come in. Just then my boss came over to where she was standing, saying: "Why, Miss H—I've been waiting for you ever since 2 o'clock, and was just about to give you up."

The most embarrassing moment of my life happened at a recent dance. I was waltzing with a very poor dancer and felt very much disappointed. When the dance was over I saw a girl whom I knew slightly and rushed over to greet her, but the number of those who feel that every recovery of a few points should be utilized to sell as much as the market will take is steadily diminishing.

"Barbaric Bob" Rivals the Shingle in London.
London, Dec. 30.—The "barbaric bob" has been imported from Paris by hairdressers who are trying to knock out the shingle.

I made a long distance call to my sweetie. After I was through talking the operator informed me there was an overcharge of $2. This I disputed, refusing to pay. Then I heard my sweetheart's voice at the other end tell the operator, "Never mind, I'll pay."

So Now Hubby Does the Waltz

Mrs. Wilhelmina Fagnani, 17, of San Francisco, couldn't dance the Charleston. And when her husband got another woman to teach him how, she took poison. She recovered, however, and hubby promised to confine himself to the waltz and fox trot hereafter.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS
New York Mirror.
I reported to the office very late the other morning, and told my boss that I had forgotten my glasses and was forced to return home for them. "That's all right," he replied, "take some dictation." Imagine my embarrassment when I opened my bag and found that my glasses were not there.

When in sorrow, read John 14. When men fail you, read Psalm 27. When you have sinned, read Psalm 51. When you worry, read Matthew 6:9-34. Before Church service, read Psalm 84. When you are in danger, read Psalm 91. When you have the blues, read Psalm 34. When God seems far away, read Psalm 139. When you are discouraged, read Isaiah 40. If you want to be fruitful, read John 15. When doubts come upon you, try John 7:17. When you are lonely or fearful, read Psalm 23. When you forget your blessings, read Psalm 103. For Jesus' idea of a Christian, read Matthew 5. For James' idea of religion, read James 1:19-27. When your faith needs stirring, read Hebrews 11. When you feel down and out, read Romans 8:31-39. When you want courage for your task, read Joshua 1. When your world seems bigger than God, read Psalm 90. When you want rest and peace, read Matthew 11:25-30. When you want Christian assurance, read Romans 8:1-10. For Paul's secret of happiness, read Col. 3:12-17. When you leave home for labor or travel, read Psalm 121. When you grow bitter and critical, read I Corinthians 13. When your prayers grow narrow or selfish, read Psalm 67. For Paul's idea of Christianity, read II Cor. 5:15-19. For Paul's rules on how to get along with men, read Romans 12. When you think of investments and returns, read Mark 10:17-31. For a great invitation and a great opportunity, read Isaiah 55. For Jesus' idea of prayer, read Luke 11:1-13, Matthew 5:5-15. For the prophet's picture of worship that counts, read Isaiah 58:1-12. For the prophet's idea of religion, read Isaiah 1:10-18, Micah 6:6-8.

"Bobbed Hair"

A GAZELLING MYSTERY STORY BY TWENTY FAMOUS AUTHORS

Copyright 1924-25, P. F. Collier & Son Co. and G. P. Putnam's Sons. "BOBBED HAIR" with Marie Prevost is a picturization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS
Connemara Moore, after hours of exciting adventures aboard mysterious vessels in Long Island Sound, has plunged overboard from the last of them and is swimming toward shore. It is pitch dark but in the water she comes in contact with a creature whom she instinctively believes to be a friend. It is Bugle, a dog. Connemara was to have announced her engagement to-night, but, instead, stole away from her Aunt Celimena's home. Later she found herself in the company of ram-runners—or revenue officers.

CHAPTER XIII—Continued
The dog swam along beside her. "Nice boy, good boy!" she murmured at intervals, and always in return there was the friendly little "Woof! Woof!"—if only the wisp of tail were as well intentioned and kindly, thought Connemara, who, though never ostentatious in her display of wisdom or erudition, was acquainted with mottoes and classic quotations, however slightly.

Bugle was covering her up. his lovely burden, of whose bodily beauty he was unaware, though her sweetness of heart must have spoken to his nobility through her gentle voice and touch.

And, like Columbus and Cortez, she was right. She felt for bottom and touched it. It was a rough bottom, and a rocky one. How fortunate that she had been unable to shed the slippers which now protected her delicate feet!

There was a spluttering and shaking at her side. Bugle had stopped swimming and come to his feet. What a tall dog he was! His head was level with her waist. Even as she walked uncomfortably over the stones, Connemara speculated on the breed of this noble animal, for she was ever interested in the sciences, natural or applied, and in history, natural, personal or private.

TWO CHARLOTTE MEN HELD FOR CAR THEFT
Barnett Craven Claims He Bought Sedan For $175—Gave Frank Lippford a "Lift" to Richmond.
Richmond, Va., Dec. 29.—Two young men giving the names of Barnett L. Craven and Frank Lippford were held today on suspicion of having stolen a Hudson Sedan in Charlotte, N. C., which was found in their possession. Charlotte was notified and a message came this evening from the chief of police of that city saying that they were wanted there and that an officer would be sent for them.
