IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

ARRANGE FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE HERE

Miss Flora Davis, of State Sunday School Association, Confers With Township Officers. Tentative plans for a Sunday School Institute for No. 12 township which embraces all churches in Concord, were outlined here Tuesday at a conference between Miss Flora Davis, of the State Sunday School Association, and J. E. Davis, president of the No. 12 Township Association.

Institutes for all of the other townships in the county were recently held and when the institute in this city is finished, the entire county will have been covered. It was tentatively agreed at the conference, it is said, to hold the institute in the Forest Hill Methodist Church, provided the plan meets with the approval of the officials of that church.

The time for the institute will be decided later by Mr. Davis and V. L. Norman, secretary of the association. Representatives of the State association will be in Concord for the institute, it is said.

"Hawaiian Nights" Next Saturday. The romantic play, "Hawaiian Nights," which sparkles with exotic atmosphere and deals with the true life on these picturesque islands of Hawaii will be presented at the Concord Theatre Saturday, January 16th. Performances are to be given which include a matinee at 3:30 and night at 8:15. The play has met with unusual success in its tour, and is a delightful love story in three acts with music, surmounted with charming scenes and the plot is one of exquisite beauty, moving smoothly and logically into dramatic climaxes.

The versatile and versatile actress, Miss Emilie Montrose, takes the leading part of Lokelani, the dancer. The author, Lincoln Osborn, spent several years on the Hawaiian Islands studying the people living there. Kenneth Curry, who made such a hit in "White Cargo," plays the part of the American naval lieutenant, Marjorie Chester, the beautiful titan-haired ingenue, portrays the part of the American sweetheart, and Raymond Cardwell has the role of the doctor. Robert Wafaleke and his band of Hawaiian musicians and hula-hula dancers contribute a very large part of the evening's entertainment.

First Baptist Church Activities. The regular mid-week prayer and praise service will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock. In connection with this service there will be a round-table discussion of the question of "Young People."

The choir will hold its regular weekly rehearsal immediately after the prayer meeting.

Two committees, finance and enrollment, will meet, also after the prayer meeting. Members of these committees are as follows: Finance, A. E. Harris, R. F. Moore, L. I. Beasley, George Ballard, R. P. Lentz; Enrollment committee, Dr. G. L. Lang, S. W. Preslar, Mrs. C. W. Keeler, Mrs. G. T. Barnhardt and Mrs. J. S. Walker.

On next Sunday at 6 p. m., an intermediate B. Y. P. U. will be organized. This will give the Church three Baptist-Young People's Unions. The Senior Union has been organized for years, and has accomplished a splendid work. The Junior Union was organized three weeks ago, and is already in a flourishing condition. The Intermediate union, to be organized Sunday, will handle the young people, whose ages are 13, 14 and 15.

Large congregations are hearing the pastor's Sunday evening sermons on: "The Ruling Christ." The subject for this Sunday night is "The Christ-Ruled Business."

Death of Mrs. Maxwell Holsouser of Rockwell. Mrs. Mary Holsouser, wife of the late Maxwell Holsouser, died Sunday at 10 o'clock at her home at Rockwell, death being caused by burns she received Friday night.

Mrs. Holsouser was alone in her bed room when her clothing caught from an open fireplace and when her step-granddaughter, Mrs. Louis Sides, was attracted to the room by her screams, she found her wrapped in flames.

Mrs. Holsouser, since the death of her husband two years ago, made her home with her step-granddaughter, Mrs. Louis Sides, of Rockwell. The deceased was 72 years of age and was a daughter of the late Charles Holsouser and was a sister of the late Dr. A. R. Holsouser of Rockwell, who was killed about seven years ago in a wreck on the Gold Hill road two miles south of Salisbury. She was a highly respected woman. She was a member of Bethany Reformed Church, Crescent, N. C., where the funeral was held Monday, conducted by her pastor, Rev. H. A. M. Holsouser.

Mrs. Holsouser was an aunt of G. A. Fisher, of Tribune street.

"The Vanishing American." Zane Grey's latest and greatest story to be screened by Paramount, overshadows any similar exposition ever written and establishes a new high mark in motion picture production. It is gigantic in spirit and presentation.

The picture, which is the feature at the Star Theatre this week, 14, 15 and 16, presents one of the biggest and most vital themes concerned with the history and civilization of the United States. It holds a deep element of tragedy from the Indian viewpoint, showing him dispossessed gradually of his lands and shorn of his power by the white men's progress.

To build up the tremendous theme we are carried back to prehistoric times in spectacular scenes that are absorbingly interesting, showing how the Indians overcome the cliff-dwellers, and how in turn, the coming of the Spaniards foretold the passing of the Indian.

Two years of preparation were put into this picture by the company that has given the picture-going public such productions as "The Ten Commandments," "Peter Pan" and "Richard Dix, Louis Willmet, Noah Berry and Malcolm McKeown are featured in the leading roles of the Lucien Hubbard, George B. Seltz, who made "Wild Horse Mesa," directed, Ethel Doherty wrote the screen play.

In brief, the story is one of Dix, a Navajo Indian youth, educated among the white people, who is confronted with the barrier of race when he falls in love with a lovely white girl. Returning with a detachment of Indian soldiers from the war front of Europe, he finds his tribesmen in a rebellion that threatens to become grave—a rebellion against the aggressions to which the white people have subjected the aborigines who cannot cope with the might of the mechanical era wrought by white civilization.

Completing the all-star line-up of supporting players are such prominent names as George Magrill, Shannan Day, Charles Crockett, Bert Woodruff, Bernard Siegel, Guy Oliver, Charles Stevens, Joe Ryan.

GOOD DISPOSITIONS INVALUABLE. You can't watch your disposition too carefully. A crab and a grouch are rarely successful. If your liver and stomach are in an unhealthy condition you can not have a sunny disposition because they affect the brain as well as the entire system. MAYR'S "One Dose Will Convince" has been usually successful in such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis.
