Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

G. O. P. and Dems. "Live Together as Brethren." By CHARLES F. STEWART NEA Service Writer Washington, Jan. 30.—"Oh, how blessed it is for brethren to dwell together in harmony."

Representative George Huddleston, of Alabama, was talking about the Republicans and Democrats in Congress. As he sees it, the two parties are just alike. Every time anything really important comes up, he says they get together on it.

"Oh, how I love these eras of amity," he adds. "But, as an afterthought, I wonder whether they are going to produce any good results for the country."

So it appears that Congressman Huddleston was sarcastic when he said, "How blessed it is for brethren to live together in harmony."

That is to say, you can consider him a regular if this description fits one: "Oh, yes," he confesses, "I wear the party yoke."

"I put it on my shoulders and I groan and I grunt and I go forward and lean against my fellow ox, for of course I am an ox when I wear a yoke."

"I wear the yoke of party regularity as best I can, but let me say that it is not a case in which the galled jade doesn't wince. I cry aloud. I am not the captain of my soul."

"I am compelled to be reasonably regular but I am no more regular than I have to be."

Who is Responsible for the Divorce? It distributed about the number of divorces that threaten the very security of our nation, listen to this from the Religious Telescope and then say "Amen."

Perhaps ministers are responsible for a part of the divorces. When a strip of a girl and an apology of a boy pull into the parsonage for a nuptial knot, the preacher ought to stop long enough to make some inquiry as to the fitness of things in general, and the fitness of these two things in particular.

New York Mirror. Teacher—Johnny, I'm only punishing you because I love you. Johnny—I wish I was big enough to return your love.

Jimmy—Father, the Sunday school teacher says if I am a good boy, I will go to heaven, and you say if I am a good boy I will go to the circus. Now, who is right?

I was trying to illustrate the word Haberdasher to my five-year-old brother, and asked: Buddy, if you owned a store that sold shirts, suits, collars, ties and such, what would you be? Instantly, little Buddy replied: "Well-dressed, Edith."

Free Love Gets Young Quartet in County Jail. Lexington Dispatch. It was a case of "free love" not running any too smoothly when two young couples who had not wed were brought before recorder's court Monday night on the charge of living together here as men and wives.

Four months on the roads was apportioned to each of the young men and three months in jail to the young women—or girls, rather—with the latter given the opportunity of paying the costs and going back home, or anywhere else outside this county.

Arthur Wagner and John Wagner, the young men said their names are, and they also testified they are double first cousins. One claims Hillsboro as his home, while the other apparently had not particular choice of home town. Nellie Fry and Sara Walton are the names the girls gave. One is from Asheboro, the other from Goldsboro originally but lately of Greensboro, so the authorities were told.

The four came here some two or three weeks ago, it is related, and took rooms at the home of a Mrs. Stucks, living north of the city. According to her testimony in court they represented themselves to be married. But her suspicions were aroused and an investigation disclosed there had been no wedding bells. They are supposed to have come here from Greensboro.

A double wedding ceremony as a solution of their difficulties was discussed following the conviction, but there appears to have been a scarcity of funds. Yesterday morning all were still in jail but an effort was being made to secure money from relatives, at least enough to pay the costs for the girls and let them go free. The young women are reported to have expressed eagerness to marry their "free-love" husbands.

His John Hancock Illegible. "I beg your pardon," said the hotel clerk, "but what is your name?" "Name" echoed the indignant guest who had just signed the register. "Don't you see my signature there on the register?" "I do," answered the clerk. "That aroused my curiosity."
