Under plans approved by the aldermene recently, carpenters are now at work on the auditorium of the city hall, and they expent to change it from a dirty, dark, crowded room in to an improved court room.

Part of the old stage which protrudd into the auditorium has been and, one own of seats extending on the left side of the room from the reart othe front has been removed, all seats have been moved so as to widen the distance between rows by ski inches, banisters and railing are to be erected to designate the bar and the ntire room is to be painted.

Under the old order of things, when the room was planned as a theattre, the seats were placed as close together as possible and one was planed at every available point. The stage was needed then for the auditorium was the city's "opera house."

Inside the railing there will be the judge's seat, the seat for the witnesses waiting to be called, seats for lawyers and one section of seats to defendants waiting for trial. Spectators will not be allowed within the bar, and this plan is expected to elim secretaryship of the foreign Mayor Moore was quoted as saying he would hand in his resignation today, to become effective at once. If he follows this plan it is probable that beginning tomorrow, April first he will be in position to devote all of his cotton mill work here. Mayor Moore announced several weeks ago that he would son become secretary of the local textile plant but said then he did not intend to resign his work in Charlotte until April 30th. However, he has changed his plans, it is said, and is anxious to start his work here tomorrow.

W. C. Dowd, of the News Publishing Company, is being mentioned now as a possible successor to Mayor Moore. It is reported that Mr. Dowd was in conference with Mr. Moore and other city officials in Charlotte Tuesday, but later it was stated that the conference had no special significance. Others mentioned in connection with the mayorality are Edwin B. Bridges, Charles E. Lambeth and E. Mason.

WIND, HAIL AND RAIN

Many crippled and handicapped residents of this county are availing themselves of the wonderful opportunity provided by the Rotary Orthopaedic Clinic held on the first Saturday of each month in the offices of the City and County Health departments in the Welfare Building at the City Hall in Charlotte, The next clinic will be held on Saturday. April 3.

During the four clinics that have been held at Charlotte, 105 examinations have been made. Dr. Alonzod Myers, the orthopaedic surgeon who is conducting the clinic, has recommended operations for 24 of these cases. Some of these cripples are mended operations for 24 of these cases.
