Elaborate Bridge Party in Honor of Miss Willeford

One of the most elaborate of the spring bridge parties, was the one given on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. A. W. Folkes and Mrs. Grace Brown Sanders complimenting Miss Bertie Louise Willeford, whose marriage to J. H. Goodman will be an event of April.

Spirea, flowering almond and jonquils formed a bright background for the bridge tables, which were arranged in the two living rooms and dining room. Dainty bridge score cards were used and a tiny bride was placed in the center of the table. Favors filled with nuts, were yellow jonquils made of paper.

The honor guest, Miss Willeford, was presented an attractive Venetian candy jar.

Mrs. J. Lindsay Ross, holder of high score, was presented a box of lovely hand made handkerchiefs, while Mrs. Neal Pharr was presented an attractive ballet girl, holding a handkerchief, as low score prize.

The guests were: Mesdames J. A. Cannon, Julius Fisher, H. G. Gibson, R. E. Ridenhour, Jr., L. A. Fisher, E. F. White, Jr., T. N. Spencer, J. Lindsay Ross, W. L. Burns, Mrs. Gates Pickard, T. N. Deaton, Ernest Robinson, A. Jones Yorke, M. L. Marsh, R. F. Gibson, J. Leonard Brown, W. J. Hill, C. E. Brown, W. H. Gibson, J. F. Cannon, B. E. Harris, Jr., J. A. Hartsell, J. B. Wombles, William A. Ritchie, A. Campbell Cline, W. H. Wadsworth, L. T. Hartsell, Jr., E. Sauvain, Leslie Correll, J. B. Lewis, Stanton Northrup, Greenlee Carlwell, W. M. Sherrill, M. M. Linker, D. L. Best and Neal Pharr, and Misses Willeford, Pink Willeford, Wilma Correll, Mary King, Martha Caldwell, Mary Pliffer Pemberton, Adele Pemberton, Ruth Cannon, Margaret Virginia Ervin, Helen Marsh, Margaret Ritchie, Jenny Gibson Brown, Mary Crowell, Frances Burroughs, and Maude Brown.

The guests invited to lunch were: Mesdames C. A. Cannon, R. E. Jones, J. C. Rowan, R. A. Brown, J. C. Willeford, W. A. Brown, W. M. Linker and Zeb Moore.

Mrs. Sauvain Entertains the Study Club

Mrs. E. Sauvain was hostess to the members of the Study Club at an entertaining meeting on Thursday afternoon.

Excerpts from Will Rogers' "Illustrated Digest" kept the members laughing. These were read by Mrs. C. A. Cannon and Mrs. R. B. Rankin. Mrs. W. M. Sherrill read a short article on Rogers and his wife.

Mrs. Sauvain then read some well known quotations, and asked who had written or spoken them—some were answered and some not.

The pamphlets composed of papers written by three members of the Study Club were turned over to the club by the committee.

After the program, Mrs. Sauvain invited her guests into the dining room, where a delicious salad course was served. The table had as its center a handsome silver basket filled with jonquils, and sweet peas. Tiny yellow baskets filled with mints marked each guest's place, while dainty miniature confections composed of violets and pansies were placed at each place.

The members present were: Mesdames I. L. Davis, C. A. Cannon, W. W. Flowe, D. L. Best, W. M. Sherrill, R. B. Rankin, R. E. Jones, C. H. Wagoner and Miss Mary King.

The services continues to hold interest at Forest Hill Methodist Church.

Rev. Roy T. Houts preached another good sermon to a large crowd on Thursday night. The subject used: "Jesus Seeking to Save." He pointed out that Jesus in all His interest in humanity does not force any man to become a Christian.

Religion is something that must be the outgrowth of man's faith and works. Some few took their stand for Jesus.

The services at this church have been very helpful to the people who have attended.

At 7:30 tonight the usual preaching service. There will be no day services Saturday, but there will be preaching Saturday night at 7:30.

PASTOR.

Great Service at the First Baptist Church.

The revival services at the First Baptist Church are gaining nightly, both in the size of the congregations and in spiritual momentum. The service last night, which was largely attended, was characterized by a spirit of profound solemnity, as the pastor delivered the most searching message yet preached in this series of meetings. The sermon subject was: "Concord's Five Biggest Fools," outlined by Mr. Truesdell as follows:

The athletic fool—"The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God," Psalms 14:1. "In his heart," he said it; that is he rebelled against the idea of a supreme being, a God, and then repudiated the fact of a God; hence his stupendous folly, for only a consummate fool would deny a fact simply because he did not care to believe it. Grim and ghastly, indeed, is the program of the athletic fool. "No God," he declares. The order of creation is merely fortuitous, law and order and design in the universe just happened, many is only an animal, prayer is silly nonsense, salvation is only a fantastic dream, the church has only a human foundation, the Bible is a pack of myths and fables, Christian experience is universal longing of man for a world beyond is a lie, there is no silver lining on death's dark cloud, for the grave ends all—man was born, lived and died that he might reach eternal destiny, the tomb. But such hope-destroying preachments are but the poisonous vapors of a fool, says God's word.

But such hope-destroying preachments are but the poisonous vapors of a fool, says God's word.

The iconoclastic fool—"Fools make a mock of sin," Proverbs 14:9. "A fool despise his father's instruction,

Proverb 15:5. This fool tries to laugh sin out of existence; he would get rid of sin, its tragic fact and results, merely by the whitewash of denial.

The egotistical fool—"The way of a fool is right in his own eyes," Proverbs 12:15. His motto is "Personal Liberty," and his idea of personal liberty is the same as that of a hungry wolf in a sheepfold. He asks nothing, accepts no advice, makes no mistakes—and just here is where the fool part comes in. He can learn nothing from experience, or from his best friends. Tell him "fire burns," and he laughs in your face and deliberately sticks his hand in the fire to prove to you that it does not burn. There is but one thing in all the universe, and that is his highly exalted ego! Oh, what a fool!

The materialistic fool—"But God said unto him, thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee," Luke 12:20. This is the fool that used the personal pronoun eleven times (Luke 12:17-19) and didn't refer to God a single time, while taking stock of his earthly possessions, and contemplating larger material gains for the future. He was a fool, not because he was rich, but because he had a God out of his riches.

The evangelistic fool, or paradoxically speaking, the wise fool—2 Corinthians 12:10-11. "I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses—I am become a fool in glorying." "We are fools for Christ's sake," 1 Corinthians 4:10.

Practically the whole congregation came forward for re-consecration. It was a wonderful response to the pastor's invitation to be "Wise Fools," for Christ's sake.

Mr. Betts was at his best in the song service, which is indeed thrilling. The people look forward eagerly to his solos. Services tonight at 7:30.

WILDCATS VICTORS IN CITY BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Shown Fine Teamwork to Win Last Game of Season From Winecoff Thursday Night.

Members of the Wildcats team won the championship in the City Basketball League. The final game, played Thursday night at the Y, resulted on a 39 to 21 victory for the Wildcats over the Winecoff team.

The teamwork of the victors was especially good, Center Denny and the two forwards playing together better than they had at any time in the season. They had competition aplenty, as several of the Winecoff players rank with the best in the league.

Gold basketballs will be presented to the Wildcats in the near future. The score of Thursday's game follows:

Concord	Pos.	Winecoff
Dick 13	f.	Barrier 8
Easley 14	f.	Umberger 3
Denny 9	c.	Kink 6
Goodman 2	c.	Barrier 4

Cantata at Reformed Church Sunday.

The choir of Trinity Reformed Church will sing an Easter cantata, "The Living Christ," Easter Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The music is the composition of R. M. Stultz. The libretto is scriptural, taken from the prophecies of Isaiah and Psalms of the Old Testament and the Gospels of Luke and John of the New Testament. The choir will be directed by Mrs. E. B. Womble. Miss Addie Barrier is pianist. The public is cordially invited to hear the story of Easter in sacred song.

Sleep is good, but no one cares to be caught napping.
