IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

ANOTHER ABLE SERMON
BY DR. E. F. WEIST

Speaker Denounces Man Who Uses Church Membership as a Means of Making Money.

"When a man would buy the Holy Spirit and use the same to make money, when a man would buy church membership and use the same to get rich, it shows how low he has fallen morally, and intellectually." Dr. Edward F. Weist spoke at Trinity Reformed Church Thursday night from the text: "Thou hast neither part nor lot in this matter: for thy heart is not right before God."—Acts 8:21.

First—The atheistic heart is not right before God. Simon of Samaria was an atheist in heart, though he might have been a professing member of the church in creed. It was rather strange to hear the speaker say that Adam and Eve were atheists in heart, listening to the stranger rather than to God. The root element is disobedience.

Second—The idolatrous heart is not right before God. An idol is something before God. The pagan makes an idol, an image. His images may range. Our images may not be called gods, but if we cherish them before God they are idols to us. "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." The banker who is so engrossed in his banking that he has no time, no thought, no interest for Jesus and for the church of Jesus Christ has placed gold before God. The lawyer who has to give all his time to his clients, all his thoughts, all his talents, so as to exclude all time, thought and love for God has put gain before God. So also with every man. "For such as have no time, no thought, no talent, no love, for God because their business takes all of themselves, all of their time, I have no gospel, I have only a law."

For the man who has a business such as he cannot give up to a Godly man, a business that consumes himself, all his time, all his talents, I have no gospel, only a law. For the man who has wounds, grudges, enmity and is not willing to forgive, and is so set that there is no forgiving spirit, I have no gospel, only a law.

Third—The unbelieving heart is not right before God. The heart that does not believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. The heart that does not believe that Jesus Christ would not pronounce himself a fundamentalist, would not join such in controversy, yet he sounded forth the great truths of the gospel concerning the person of Jesus Christ—that He is the Son of God. Jesus Christ came to make the heart right. Dr. Weist is more concerned about right living than the learning of creeds. Jesus Christ, the Son of God came to lift man into life with God. "Except a man be born again he cannot see the Kingdom of God." And the test of such life is very simple. First the love test. The man begotten of God loveth his brother. Second, the faith test. Those born of God believe. Third, is the test of right. Those begotten of God do right according to the best they know, and of their ability. They support the church, the other institutions that make for civic righteousness, and the whole program of good. Oftimes we are too backward, too bashful, when the Lord wants us to be neck, bold and earnest.

Again the divided heart is not right before God. No man can serve two masters. We cannot serve God and mammon.

Neither is the impenitent heart right before God. Indifference, procrastination is the thief of time, also of life.

While the attendance was somewhat smaller than the previous night, the spirit was better. Rev. Mr. Wagoner led an inspiring song service in which every heart joined fervently. The song service tonight will begin at 7:45 o'clock. Dr. Weist will bring another message. Sunday will be a big day. The Sunday school, the morning and the evening services. The "Sunday Gang" and their fathers will be present at 3:30 Sunday afternoon.

GOODMAN FINDS CHUMS IN OPERA

Concord Singer, Visits Bernard Cantor at Charlotte.

Charlotte Observer, 10th.

Sam Goodman, of Concord, who sings each Sunday in the First Presbyterian church choir here, discovered yesterday that a number of the singers in the opera company are old associates of his. He sang with them in New York.

He was in Charlotte during the afternoon and spent the afternoon riding around with Bernard Cantor, stage manager.

The two were reminiscing about the time that Mr. Cantor threw managerial fits about a song which some member of the cast had failed to learn and which he had to teach Mr. Goodman in 10 minutes while the orchestra was tuning up.

Carmolin Ponselle, who was the star performer in the opening opera, Cavalleria Rusticana, left the city this morning shortly after 1 o'clock.

During her stay here, she hardly left her room. It is her custom never to go out on the day before she sings. Newspaper scribes who ask her for interviews yesterday were flatly refused.

"I must rest for my performance," she declared.

At the First Baptist Church.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the senior department of the Sunday school will enjoy a social meeting in the social rooms of the church. Splendid preparations are being made for an evening of entertainment and enjoyment. All members of the senior department are urged to be present.

At the morning hour next Sunday, a special welcome service will be held in honor of all new members who have recently united with the First Baptist Church. A special program will be rendered, consisting of a roll call of the new members, reading of the church covenant, brief welcome talks, brief address by the pastor on: "Growing a Big Soul," and other features.

"Prohibition—the Higher Freedom," will be Mr. Trueblood's subject for next Sunday night. This will be a specially prepared address on the subject that most agitated in America today. In this message, the pastor will call "a spade, a spade," and will not mince words in defending the cause of justice, liberty and righteousness.

Through Mrs. John K. Patterson, president of the local W. C. T. U., Mr. Trueblood has extended a special invitation to all members of that organization to attend the service Sunday night. Local city officials will also receive invitations to attend the meeting. CHURCH REPORTER.

DR. KAUPP WILL SPEAK IN CITY MAY FIRST

His Address to Be One Feature of the National Egg Program in This County.

Dr. B. F. Kaupp, head of the poultry department at North Carolina State College, will address farmers and poultry fanciers here on May 1st. That date has been designated as National Egg Day and will be observed in various ways in all parts of the country.

Dr. Kaupp has a national reputation and is not only an authority on poultry feed and care but is recognized also as authority on poultry diseases. In his address here he will discuss "Poultry Problems."

R. D. Goodman, county farm agent, and Miss Cooley, county demonstration agent, are arranging the program for the day and they expect it to be a very elaborate one. Acceptance of the invitation to speak here was received from Dr. Kaupp yesterday and Miss Cooley and Mr. Goodman are arranging now for other features to be offered.

While the public is invited to hear Dr. Kaupp his talk is expected to be of special interest to farm people and others who are interested in poultry. Agents from other counties in this section of the state will be invited to attend the meeting and speak briefly and the meeting will be open to interested persons from other counties.

It is planned now to have the meeting at two o'clock on the afternoon of May 1st.

Concord Man Wins Honors at Pinhurst

In the state-wide shoot held at Pinhurst Thursday I. I. Davis, Jr., of Concord, won fourth place among the amateurs with 94 pigeons out of 100 shots.

J. R. Audrey, of Wilmington, won high honors Thursday with a perfect record and W. B. Arey, of Salisbury, present state champion, was second with 99. D. H. McCullough, of Charlotte, broke 96 pigeons for third place.

Several professionals and others representing firearms and powder and shell companies, ranked higher than the amateurs but their records are not counted.

M. F. Ritchie, Jr., of this city, won high honors among the youngsters. Young Ritchie is state champion in the boys' class. He broke 83 pigeons Thursday.

Local Bank Celebrates 21st Anniversary of Opening

The Citizens Bank and Trust Company on Thursday celebrated the 21st anniversary of its opening. No formal celebration was staged but the occasion was seized by friends of the institution as an opportunity to congratulate its officials on the excellent growth it has enjoyed.

The resources of the bank have passed the million dollar mark, an evidence of the excellent manner in which the institution has functioned. Officers of the bank are: Charles B. Wagoner, President; A. F. Goodman, Vice President; M. L. Marsh, Vice President; C. L. Propst, Cashier, and Boyd Biggers, Assistant Cashier.

Francis Ward, the new world's squash tennis champion, has reached the top of the heap after only one year in the game.
