Big Concert at Concord Theatre Monday Night. The Choral Art Club of Greensboro, under the direction of Charles Troxell, presenting forty wonderful singers will arrive in Concord by special car from Greensboro in time for their first appearance in Concord at the Concord Theatre Monday evening, the concert starting at 8 p. m. sharp.

Romola, Metro-Goldwyn production starring Dorothy Gish, Lillian Gish and Ronald Coleman will be the feature attraction.

A good time is promised and folks know that the Concord Theatre has established its reputation with the theatre-going public of Concord and they can be depended on for a good show at all times at the right prices.

Another asset has been added to the Concord Theatre permanently. William Doherty, of Asheville, is bringing his seven-piece orchestra to Concord and will make their first appearance here the night of the concert and we are sure that the music offered by his musicians will win the hearts of every one. His interpretation of music for the pictures are wonderful and this means bigger and better entertainment at the Concord Theatre.

Substitute Groom for the Bride. A girl whose intended husband does not show up at the church to take his part in the wedding ceremony has the perfect right to change her mind and accept the proposal of another man.

Then in the midst of the groom a two-week acquaintance of the abandoned bride-to-be came forward and offered to substitute as the girl's husband. The proposal was accepted and later the pair were married. Now everybody's happy.

AUBREY SIMPSON BURNED IN FIRE AT KANNAPOLIS

Fire Started in Warehouse When Simpson Struck Match and Ignited Bucket of Gasoline. Aubrey Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simpson, of St. Charles street, this city, an employe of the Widenhouse Grocery Store, in Kannapolis, was badly burned Thursday afternoon when a warehouse of the company in which he was storing an automobile truck caught fire from a lighted match in the hands of the young man and burned to the ground.

A quantity of gasoline and oil and several automobiles were stored in the building, and the fire spread rapidly after the first explosion. Young Simpson ran from the burning building with his clothes aflame his entire length. Lee Shuler and Robert Fletcher, the former also an employe of the establishment, saw his emerge and ran to his assistance.

Confused by the fire that enveloped him, and suffering agony from burns already sustained, the young man turned and fled from his companions, who gave chase. He was finally overtaken by Shuler, who took off his own coat and smothered the flames with it. Simpson was hurried to the Concord Hospital. He will recover.

The warehouse and the automobiles and other commodities in it were totally destroyed. The fire department at Concord was called on for assistance. This apparatus was quickly on the scene, and prevented the spread of the flames to other nearby buildings, including a number of fire residences, several of which were endangered.

T. M. Widenhouse, proprietor of the burned establishment, is now in Alabama as a member of the Kannapolis volleyball team, and in his absence no estimate of the amount of the damage or the insurance carried can be ascertained. The building was a frame structure, located on Main street, in the congested center. A garage in the rear of it was also burned.

Simpson was driving one of the delivery trucks, it is understood, and had returned to put his vehicle up for the night. He drove into the building, where for some unknown reason he found it necessary to strike a match. The fire immediately communicated with the inflammable material in the building. This exploded and burning oil saturated the clothing of the young man, and he was instantly enveloped in the burning fluid.

It was stated by an attache of the Concord Hospital this morning that young Simpson was not seriously injured. With the exception of his hands, his body was not deeply burned.

Simpson was a student in the Concord high school last year and was one of the most talented football players developed here in several years.

Making Progress With Religious Survey

Good progress is being made with the religious survey of the city. Practically all of the city that lies west of Union street has been covered by the canvassers and they are now engaged in the eastern half of the city.

It is indicated by reports already secured that many Concord people are without church or Sunday school affiliation and that hundreds of persons never attend religious services of any kind.

Much valuable information on the religious life of the city is being gathered by the canvassers.

It takes twenty minutes to affix Georgia's great seal to a document, because of the complicated process of 1790 still in use, requiring a dye, gilt paper, wax wafers, paper wafers, and ribbons.

FUNERAL OF MRS. ERNEST PORTER HERE THURSDAY

Large Concourse of Friends and Relatives Present—Burial in Oakwood Cemetery. Funeral services for Mrs. Ernest Porter, whose unexpected death early Wednesday morning came as a great shock to her many friends here, and elsewhere, were held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church.

The services were conducted by the pastor of the Church, Dr. J. C. Rowan, who used the burial ritual of the Presbyterian Church. Music at the Church was rendered by the choir of the Church. Two hymns were sung by the choir, "Lead Kindly Light" and "Oh Love That Will Not Let Me Go," and Misses Mary and Adeline Morrison sang "Whispering Hope."

During the services at the Church the altar was completely covered by many beautiful and varied floral designs sent by friends and relatives. The flowers later were banked on the grave at Oakwood cemetery.

During the funeral services the Pearl Drug Store, the Gibson Drug Store, the Cabarrus Drug Store and Cline's Pharmacy were closed out of respect to Mr. Porter, one of the owners of the Porter Drug Store.

The services were: J. L. Cannon, P. B. Petzer, Dr. W. H. Wadsworth, L. A. Fisher, Leslie Correll and Frank Crowell.

Hundreds of friends of the deceased gathered at the Church while these and others accompanied the body to the cemetery.

Kerr Street Revival

A revival will start at Kerr street Baptist Church Sunday morning, April 18th. Rev. Lonnie Austin will preach Sunday night. Mr. Fry, who is to assist in the meeting, will not be here before Monday. Mr. Fry is a great evangelist and an able preacher.

We are expecting to have some good singing, also some special songs. We have organized a quartet which will sing during the meeting. We have also ordered a supply of new song books and we are expecting congregational singing.

Mr. Fry has been doing evangelistic work for a number of years, and has held some very successful meetings. He is known as the Trumpet Evangelist. If you miss hearing Mr. Fry you will miss a great treat. Come and feel at home; help us to lead souls to Christ. Service at 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. each week day. Regular hours on Sunday. PASTOR.

Death of Miss Lula Sloop

Miss Lula Sloop, aged 60, died this morning at 11 o'clock at the home of her brother on Peachtree street. She had been ill for three weeks with pneumonia.

Funeral plans had not been made early this afternoon.

The deceased was born in Rowan county, but had been a resident of Concord for a number of years.

Surviving are two brothers, John and Will Sloop, and one sister, Miss Mollie Sloop all of Concord.

SEWER BONDS FOR CITY WILL BE SOLD APRIL 26

Money From Sale of Bonds Will Be Used to Complete Sewer Line—New Law For City. Sewer bonds of the city of Concord to the extent of $60,000 will be sold here on April 26th.

Meeting at the city hall this week afternoon the city decided to sell the bonds to complete the city's sewer system, and set the 26th of this month as the time for receiving bids for the bonds.

At the meeting members of the board also passed an ordinance governing the preparation and sale of milk in this city, the ordinance demanding that all milk be marked as to grade.

The grades will be classified as "A," "B" and "C," the average bacteria to determine the difference. The law specifies that in grade "A" the average bacterial count shall not exceed 50,000 per cubic centimeter. In grade "B" the count shall not exceed 100,000 and in grade "C" it shall not exceed 500,000.

Various tests are provided for in the law and equipment for making these tests has been ordered by the city. The law will become effective as soon as this equipment is received and the tests are made.

Among the features of the bill are the clauses calling for a physical examination of all persons handling the milk and the marking of the grade of the milk on the bottle cap.

Persons handling milk sold in the city must be examined by a health officer and must not have tuberculosis or other diseases that can be carried through milk.

Each bottle of milk must carry its grade on the bottle cap so the purchaser will know what grade of milk he is receiving.

The law is similar to laws enacted in other cities, but is said to have a number of new features which make it one of the best in the State.

The law will be published in its entirety in The Concord Times at an early date.

Clinic Here Tomorrow

Final plans were made today for the orthopaedic clinic here tomorrow afternoon in the county health offices. Dr. Alonzo Myers, of Charlotte, will conduct the clinic and all crippled children in the county who wish to be examined and treated are expected to attend. There is no cost for the individuals examined as all expenses for the clinic are paid by the county.

The clinic will begin at 1 o'clock and children to be examined will be given numbers so they can be called numerically to avoid confusion.

Catholic Bishop Coming

The Rt. Rev. W. J. Hafey, of the Catholic Bishop of North Carolina, will be at St. James Church tomorrow morning.

He is a preacher of more than ordinary ability, has an attractive personality, and is a born leader of men. Since his appointment to the See of Raleigh, less than a year ago, the Bishop has won for himself the good will of all with whom he has come into contact—both Catholic and Protestants.

It will give the Bishop the greatest of pleasure to meet tomorrow morning at St. James Church as many as possible of his fellow citizens of the great State of North Carolina.
