

Dinner Stories

Kating Wool.
"I wish you wouldn't knit at meals. I can't tell where my spaghetti leaves off and your sweater begins."

Traffic Note.
"I have a terrible rumbling on my stomach." It's like a wagon going over a bridge."
"It's most likely that truck that you ate this morning for breakfast."

Her Long Suit.
You can't blame a spinster for being particular; if she hadn't been particular she wouldn't be one.

Use No Hooks.
"Harold says that all he wants is a chance to express himself."
"Fine! Where to?"

Dorothy had been praying each evening at bedtime for a baby sister. The other day her mother while reading the paper exclaimed: "I see Mrs. Smith has a little daughter."

"How do you know that, Mama?" Dorothy inquired.

"It says so in the paper, dear." Her mother read: "Born on July 2nd, to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith, a daughter."

Dorothy thought a moment and then said: "I know what I'm going to do. I'm going to stop praying and ask daddy to advertise in the paper."

Cap Not on the Job.
Imagine the surprise of a Washington resident when, answering the door bell, he was confronted by a burly policeman who demanded to know why he had not responded to a summons to traffic court which was posted on his auto a few days before.

The autoist was able to explain that his car was stolen the night before it was tagged for parking in violation of police regulations and that the police department knew of the theft. The policeman now began to feel like 30 cents for it was he who had tagged the car, not realizing that it was stolen, and that he had its number pasted in his hat at the time.

Five States, Florida, Alabama, Indiana, West Virginia and Iowa, have placed no legal limitation on the hours of labor of women in industry.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTERS

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington, April 21.—The canniest politician at the capital, if you ask him whether his politics are Democratic or Republican, will smile and answer:

"I'm a servant of the people, Sir, just a servant of the people."

That's Harry, doorkeeper and messenger of the House ways and means committee. His full name is Harry Parker, although few know anything but the Harry. Ever since William McKinley was chairman of the ways and means committee, for 38 years, Harry has served the people as guardian of the committee door.

Sunshine Politics

"Folks come here to work who talk a lot about being Republicans or Democrats," says Harry, and he doesn't mean the elected members of Congress although he could, with reason. "And pretty soon they come walking by all dressed up and they tell somebody, 'I USED to have that job right there.' My politics is just to scatter sunshine and be a servant of the people, and I still got my job."

Harry was born at Washington's home, Mt. Vernon, where his father was a watchman for many years.

President's leaders in Congress and other distinguished personages have been his friends all his life. He has a sweeping familiarity with the personalities and incidents of two generations of public life, and his memory for acquaintances is astounding.

The other day he called without hesitation the name of a man who returned after seventeen years absence, and the man had been merely a congressman's secretary.

Aliens comprise 25 per cent of the prison population of New York State, costing the taxpayers $7,000,000 a year. Of the criminally insane 35 per cent are aliens.

Vanishes
