

GREENFIELD AGAIN
QUESTIONED ABOUT CAMPAIGN OF VARE

Senators Did Not Call W. B. Wheeler as Expected.—Witness Gave $1250.00 to Vare.

WHEELER READY TO TALK AGAIN

Remains in His Office So He Can Be Called When Committee Is Ready to Hear Him.

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—Leaving unfinished for the present its inquiry into political activities of the Anti-Saloon League, the Senate campaign funds committee again heard testimony today about the inner organization of William S. Vare's successful campaign against Governor Pinchot and Senator Pepper for the Republican senatorial nomination in Pennsylvania.

With Wayne B. Wheeler remaining at his office subject to call, the committee recalled Albert M. Greenfield, the Pennsylvania capitalist.

Upon his first appearance June 9, Greenfield said he collected about $50.00 for the Vare-Biedeman organization.

"Since you appeared I have come out that you had something else to do with the campaign," Chairman Reed said. "Now, tell us all about it."

"I had little more to do with the campaign," replied Greenfield. "When I appeared before, I was not asked about my contributions. I had no desire to withhold any information from the committee."

"You did have connections other than the mere collection of funds?" Reed said.

"I had no other connections," the witness insisted.

"I can't haggle with you," Senator Reed retorted. "Did you give any money?"

"I did."

"And that's a very important thing. How much did you give?"

"$125.00."

"Did you collect any money?" "I did, approximately $50.00."

"You were a member of the business men's committee of the Vare committee?"

"I was."

Thinks Grand Jury Should Act.

Washington, D. C., June 21.—(AP)—A grand jury should consider some of the things that transpired during the Pennsylvania Republican primary, in the opinion of Chairman Reed, of Missouri, of the campaign funds committee.

With Albert M. Greenfield a heavy financial backer of Wm. S. Vare, on the witness stand, Reed today sought with only partial success to get at the details regarding operations of the business men's committee which supported Vare and finally turned to witness and said:

"If I were prosecuting attorney you would make that explanation to the jury."

The observation followed Greenfield's statement that money sent to the business men's committee was turned over to Thomas F. Watson, central treasurer of Vare's organization, in his fight against Senator Pepper and Governor Pinchot for the Republican senatorial nomination in Pennsylvania.

Senator Reed read a section of the law providing that funds collected by campaign committees must be returned over to their own treasurer, but the witness protested that the business men's committee "disbursed no money" and that "we were not doing anything that wasn't right."

"I think you undoubtedly were," Reed retorted.

Greenfield then started a long reply, but the Missouri Senator cut him off.

"I want you to be up on the situation," the witness said.

"I'm perfectly up on the situation, and up on you too," Reed snapped.

Hide Boats in Fish Nets.

(By International News Service.) Los Angeles, June 21.—Airplanes and fish nets are the latest weapons to be employed by Los Angeles harbor bootleggers and off-shore rum-runners.

When a bootlegger's consignment recently was fifteen days overdue, the enterprising retailer or rare liquor chartered a plane and went out to sea hunting his craft.

Many of the rum ships are now equipped with large fishing nets, officials of the Coast Guard discovered, and when the Federal cutters came into sight the liquor supplies are lowered in the nets below the ship's waterline.

Japan Faces Famine in Next Thirty Years.

(By International News Service.) Tokyo, June 21.—Thirty years from now famine will stare the Japanese people in the face, according to T. Koyama, under-secretary of the Department of Agriculture and Forestry.

If the present birthrate keeps up, Koyama declares, Japan will have a population of 85,000,000 people and the present food resources of the country will be inadequate to supply so great a population.

Koyama's solution is the expenditure of approximately $20,000,000 annually for the next thirty years in the development of the nation's agricultural resources.

Convention Of State
Building And Loan Men

USE SOCKS AS LIQUOR CARRIERS

The bootlegger tries various schemes in his unlawful occupation.

Saturday Sheriff Caldwell and Deputy Sheriff Honeycutt went to Kannapolis and soon after reaching that city saw a man with an unsavory reputation coming from a patch of woods, accompanied by a stranger.

The officers stopped the couple and started a search. Soon two plants of liquor were found on each man, the liquor being carried in the men's socks.

The men were arrested and will be given a hearing sometime today.

FORMER KAISER WILL KEEP HIS PROPERTY

German Fail to Vote to Confiscate Property Held by Their Former Ruler

Berlin, June 21.—(AP)—The vast landed estates and other properties of Wilhelm, Hohenzollern and other former German rulers are safe from confiscation. A national referendum to decide whether the properties should be appropriated by the state failed to bring out an affirmative vote of half of eligible electors, which is necessary under the law.

It would have required the affirmative vote of 20,000,000 people to have taken away the property of the former rulers. The affirmative vote was 14,880,703, and the negative vote was 5,423,311. Fully 60 per cent. of the eligible voters stayed away from polls while 36 per cent. endorsed unconditional confiscation. More than 500,000 ballots were declared deficient.

Barons and other nationalist strongholds rejected the confiscation proposal through abstaining from voting. In the industrial centers such as in Ruhr and in Saxony the proposal was given its chief support.

Black Bear Killed On the Streets of Wilmington.

Wilmington, June 20.—The first bear hunt conducted in the city since Wilmington's corporate lines were drawn was successfully concluded early this afternoon when a marauding brown, black of color and weighing more than 200 pounds was shot down by a negro named Miller at Ninth and Bladen streets, following a hectic morning in which the baying of dogs was heard continually in the northern section of the county.

Brutal according to the best reports obtainable, and into the city early in the morning. He took a short cut through oakdale cemetery and was first observed by a negro grave digger who, to revert to the vernacular of the street, "sold out" giving the bear complete charge of the territory in which they met. His tools were abandoned as he ran yelling from the spot.

Hunt for the animal was begun shortly afterwards with every known breed of dog on the trail and dozens of sportsmen armed with rifles and shotguns occupying vantage points. It was not until noon, however, that the dogs ran the bear out of the woods and into the city. He entered the yard of Miller's home at Ninth and Bladen streets and Miller killed the bear with buckshot.

Opening Session of Convention Will Be Held in Hotel Concord at 2 p. m. Tomorrow.

MANY VISITORS
TO BE PRESENT

Every Possible Effort Has Been Made to Arrange a Program That Will Prove of Interest.

The stage is all set for the annual convention of the North Carolina Building and Loan League which will begin here tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Only one change has been made in the original program, this being necessitated by the illness of Henry S. Rosenthal, publisher of the American Building Association News, of Cincinnati. Due to a prolonged illness from which he is just recuperating Mr. Rosenthal has found it impossible to be here and in his place the delegates to the convention will be addressed by John M. Wyman, associated editor to Mr. Rosenthal.

J. F. Stevens, president of the league, is expected to reach Concord early tomorrow morning to confer with local committeemen relative to the program. His address will be one of the features of the opening program tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Reservations made at the Hotel Concord indicate that between 100 and 150 delegates will be registered on the opening day. The total is expected to be increased by delegates from nearby cities and towns who will go home each night.

C. Ross Wenrick, manager of the hotel, states that everything possible for the pleasure and convenience of the delegates will be carried out. The hotel structure is one of the most modern in the state and facilities are available for giving up-to-date service to all visitors registered there.

Concord feels a peculiar pride in entertaining the building and loan men due to the popularity of the three local associations and the fact that this is the first convention of its kind in the history of the city. Various organizations have co-operated in planning and carrying out the elaborate program arranged and no effort was spared in making the plans successful.

Sessions of the convention will be held in the assembly room of the hotel. Other officers of the association are expected here tomorrow morning to confer with President Stevens before the formal opening of the convention.

MAN SEEKS SAFETY IN PRISON AT KANNAPOLIS

Britisher Says Three Assassins Have Been Trying to Kill Him.

Asheville, June 21.—(AP)—Federal authorities here will communicate with the British embassy at Washington in an effort to investigate the story of Francis Marden, 26, of London, England, who sought protection from his alleged pursuers Saturday night by lodging in the city jail. When the police refused to harbor him for the night he walked to a plate glass door, smashed his first through the glass and then returned to the desk sergeant and asked to be locked up.

For the third time Marden told exactly the same story of his flight from London when arraigned in police court this morning. An embarrassing situation with the wife of a friend while the trio were at a party led to threats which forced him to flee to the United States.

After an attempt had been made to shoot him in New York, Marden fled to Tampa, Fla., and then came to Asheville with three men in pursuit, he told the court. About sixty miles from Asheville Friday night he was frightened so badly when his pursuers attempted to corner him that he jumped out of a window of a moving train and spent the night in top of a tree while his would-be assassins searched the woods for him.

Marden appeared to be sane and told the court he is a World War veteran having served eighteen months in the British army. He is a brick layer by profession.

A Travelling Print Shop.

(By International News Service.) Daytona Beach, Fla., June 21.—The proverbial traveling printer has not yet gone down the way of forgotten things.

George M. Powell's traveling print shop is in a town of Florida. Powell, who until recently operated a printing shop in Cleveland, Tenn., and his son, Virgil, are traveling in a truck with sleeping quarters, printing press, type and other accessories.

"We only solicit business from the small towns where there are no shops," the veteran printer said. "We drive up to a filling station and spend money with them, and then if they need any printing done, we solicit their business, do the work on the spot, collect and move on."

The most recent estimate of the world's population gives a total of 1,840,000,000, of which 725,000,000 are Caucasians, 680,000,000 Mongolians, 210,000,000 Negroes, 100,000,000 Jews, 104,500,000 Malays, 30,000,000 Indians.

Each family in the United States uses an average of eighty pounds of soap a year, at an approximate cost of ten dollars.

ADVERTISING GETS

Sir Henry Thornton Says That Proper Advertising Is Foundation of Successful Business.

NEW CONDITION
BROUGHT ABOUT

Ads, Have Brought New Relationship Between Buyer and Seller For the Benefit of Both.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 21.—(AP)—"Through their tireless efforts and continuous fight for truth in advertising," Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, told the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World today that its members had done more work than any other factor to establish in the business world the faith of the buyer in the honest purposes of the seller. Proper advertising in its introduction aspect, the speaker said, was the foundation of successful business.

"Business," said Sir Henry, "has assumed a new aspect during the past quarter of a century. The days of bartering and trading have disappeared. New and more cordial relations exist between the seller and buyer and a new confidence in the integrity of each has developed. Business today whether in the sale of a product in the industrial field, or the dispensing of that service which a railroad has to sell, is founded on integrity, fair dealing and truth, and to you who have become such an important factor in modern business affairs, I pay a well merited tribute."

Advertising which excites the reader to travel, Sir Henry declared, was inducing countless thousands to turn their faces toward the beauty spots of America and Canada.

THE COTTON MARKET

Opening Steady at Decline of 8 to 15 Points, With July 10 to 17.67.

New York, June 21.—(AP)—The cotton market was lower in today's trading on renewed liquidation, southern and local selling which appeared to be due to lower Liverpool cables and a generally favorable interpretation of over-Sunday weather and crop conditions.

The opening was steady at a decline of 8 to 15 points, July soon sold off to 17.67 and December to 16.33, net losses of about 16 to 32 points on the general list. There was some trade pricing on the decline as well as profit taking by recent sellers, but the market was within a point or two of the lowest around 11 o'clock.

Private cables said that Liverpool was lower on liquidation and selling on favorable weather reports.

Reports received here from Houston said the first sale of the new crop had reached their market there Saturday and would be sold at auction.

Cotton futures opened steady, July 17.67; Oct. 16.38; Dec. 16.40; Jan. 16.34; March 16.46.

Typhoid Now Becoming Rare.

Tribune Bureau Sir Walter Hotel

Raleigh, June 21.—Typhoid, once one of the greatest scourges of North Carolina in the number of lives that it took yearly, is now rapidly becoming relatively rare in the state, according to the State board of health. In 1925 there were 271 deaths from typhoid in the entire State which represented a rate of only 9.6 per 100,000, which is considered exceedingly low. In 1914, however, before the board of health began its intensive educational campaign against typhoid, under the direction of Dr. G. M. Cooper, at present acting State health officer, there were 839 deaths from typhoid, which represented a rate of 39 per 100,000. This is but one example of what has been accomplished in the state by the board of health in its educational work on disease prevention.

The public stadium, more than one-half mile long, was banked to the topmost tier of the seats, and tens of thousands jammed the field at all sides of the stands, clamoring for admission. So dense were the multitudes about the field outside the stadium that the ecclesiastical procession of priests, cardinals and bishops could not enter the field.

Two More Diseases to Be Reported.

Tribune Bureau Sir Walter Hotel

Raleigh, June 21.—Two more maladies have been added to the list of reportable disease by the State board of health, it was announced today by Dr. G. M. Cooper, acting director. These are malaria and infectious dysentery. Beginning this coming week, physicians will be required to report all of these cases attended to the local health officer, either city or county, who will in turn report the number of cases to the State board of health.

While neither malaria nor infectious dysentery will be quarantined, the board of health feels that the extent of these two diseases in the state is such that an accurate record should be kept so that later on it will be possible to determine what progress has been made in their control or virtual elimination. Heretofore the principal reportable disease have been smallpox, scarlet fever, typhoid, diphtheria, measles and whooping cough. The records of these other two will be kept almost entirely for comparative statistical study.

AND HEAR McQUINN

Commander of American Legion Makes Plea For Law and Order Among Rank and File.

MANY VETERANS
AT CONVENTION

Speaker Says Law Abiding Citizen Less Secure in His Persons Than H Was Years Ago.

Atlanta, June 21.—(AP)—Appealing for law and order among the rank and file of American citizens, National Commander John R. McQuinn, at the annual convention of the United States Veterans' Association, today declared that the last few years have seen a general letting down of morals among the American people.

Quoting statistics that 11,000 murders were committed in the United States last year, which was fourteen times the number in Great Britain, eleven times as many as in Japan, and five times as many as in Canada, Col. McQuinn declared that "our soldiers and sailors are allowing too many criminals to escape, and today the law-abiding citizen in some communities is less secure in his person and effects than he was years ago."

Continuing on the subject of law enforcement the Legion Commander said "If there ever was a time in the history of America when law and order need to be maintained, it is now. In this country we have such laws and just such law enforcement agencies as the majority of the people insist upon having. If the laws are not enforced it is because a majority of the people are indifferent or too engrossed in their own affairs. And when I speak of law enforcement I am not referring any more to the 18th amendment than I am to laws generally."

Parlor bolshevism, misguided internationalism, came in for a rap by Col. McQuinn whom he declared was against and decried America and American form of government. These people, both men and women, are trying to belittle more than a century of material and intellectual achievements as the world ever experienced, all established, developed and maintained under the beneficial provisions of an instrument pronounced by one of the greatest of all times and not an American, to be the most wonderful work ever struck off at one time by the brain of man."

Many Attend Convention.

Atlanta, Ga., June 21.—(AP)—Atlanta today officially threw open her doors in welcome to over 5,000 disabled American veterans who have been arriving for the past two days on every train and on all types of other conveyances for the 6th annual convention of their organization.

Registration headquarters on closing the books yesterday were optimistic over prospects for a record attendance. Registrations were from every part of the United States and included such personages as Col. McQuinn, national commander of the American Legion; Gen. Frank R. Hines, director of the Veterans' Bureau; John W. Mahan, national commander of the disabled American veterans of the World War; and on down to the lowly though happy yuck rinate in the rear ranks.
