MURDOCK

ASHIONED after the eastern cottage type, this house is very homelike and convenient. The living room is ample size with fireplace and opens into the dining alcove, where triple windows with a ledge provide for ferns and cheery flowering plants. The kitchen is unusually well lighted and ventilated from three sides.

Two extra rooms can be finished off upstairs. Altogether satisfactory in every respect. Design submitted by the National Builders' Bureau, Spokane, Washington.

Post and Flagg's Cotton Letter.

New York, Aug. 20.—As natural just prior to a cotton report, trading has been rather perfunctory as all prefer to await the figures to see to what extent they confirm or refuse private advices respect to deterioration due to recent weather conditions.

tions.
Some of these private advices have not failen far short of being sensational but the tendency is always to suspect that they contain more or less exaggeration and reflect local conditions rather than that of the belt as a whole or may even be warped by the market position of the sender.

bett as a whole or may even be warped by the market position of the sender.

Many of the bullish advices the last few days, however, have come from sources which are above any suspicion of that sort and although they have not stimulated demand powerfully as yet and may not be exactly in line with what is shown by the official verdict. there is a growing feeling that they are based on facts and that the way is being paved for a possible later downward revision in official figures quite as sharp as the upward revision which started the trade last year. Deterioration once started in a crop so deficient in many ways as that of this season may spread with surprising force, Margarit, H. F. Grady, Levi, I from the lelief in lower prices which is still noted in some trading circles is founded upon the acreage and the carryover, neither of which is particularly reliable. If prices give way on the figures Monday it will look like a good chance to buy.
