IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

DEMOCRATS WILL MEET IN CITY TOMORROW

Will Gather at Court House to Select Candidates For Election in November. Hundreds of Democrats from all parts of Cabarrus county are expected to be here tomorrow afternoon to attend the county convention at which candidates for the November election will be named.

In addition to the regularly accredited delegates chosen in the primary last Saturday, scores of other party workers are expected to be present when the convention is called to order at 2 o'clock by C. A. Isenhour, chairman of the county executive committee.

It is said that the convention may develop some hard-fought contests among the candidates although it is a known fact that some of the present officers will be nominated since they had no opposition in the primary and will have none in the convention.

However, the race between W. B. Roger and W. H. Johnston for cotton weaver, and J. B. McAllister and M. L. Widenhouse for clerk of court, will have to be decided on the floor of the convention.

Mr. Roger received the most votes in the primary, but it is reported that his vote was not large enough to assure him victory over Mr. Johnston, who carried several precincts and received votes in others.

Much interest is being aroused in the personnel of the board of county commissioners. J. F. Dayvaut, present chairman of the board, stated several weeks ago that he was not a candidate and so far as is known there are no announced candidates for the post.

In the primary last Saturday votes for this nomination were cast for C. F. Ritchie, J. O. Moore and C. A. Isenhour, all of Concord. These men were not candidates and it is not known whether they will accept if nominated.

Various men were voted on for members of the board in the primary, each precinct as a rule voting for only one man, and that man a resident of the precinct. It is probable that the selection of the candidates to sit on the board may develop the hottest fight in the convention.

COTTON ASSOCIATION MEMBERS MEET HERE

Local Members of N. C. Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association Get Reserve Checks. Several hundred members of the North Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association residing in Cabarrus county met at the court house here this morning to get reserve fund and reserve fund interest checks from officials of the organization.

There were about 200 Cabarrus members of the association during the first year of its operation, association officials state, and all of these participated in the reserve fund payments as the payments being made this year cover the reserve fund established the first year of the association's history.

Dr. B. W. Kilgore, active head of the state association, attended the meeting here as did Norman Black, district manager. Dr. Kilgore has been in the county for the past several days working in the interest of the association which now claims all of its attention.

When the state association was organized it was decided to create a reserve fund by holding back each year a small per cent. of each member's sale money. It was also decided to pay back this reserve fund after the association had begun well established, so the fund created the first year is being paid back this year.

The checks distributed this morning by Dr. Kilgore ranged in value from $1 to $125, it was stated.

"Men of Steel" Is First National's Big Steel Special. Thrills of the sort you see once in a lifetime are in store for motion picture patrons in "Men of Steel," First National's big steel photoplay, which comes next week to the Concord Theatre, with Milton Sills in the starring role and Doris Kenyon as the featured feminine player.

For example, there is a scene in which Sills and Victor McLaglen are trapped in a huge vat in a steel mill. A maniac is trying to jump a ladle of molten steel on their heads. Sills catches hold of a big iron hook swung over the vat on a chain from a crane and with McLaglen hanging to his feet is swung out of the vat, over masses of molten steel to safety at the other end of the big room.

McLaglen stands well over six feet and weighs more than two hundred pounds. The task of carrying him to say nothing of the molten steel that was ready to bring death was one requiring iron nerve as well as strength. Sills would not allow a "double to take his place." It was his picture and he took the chance. This is just one of many thrills that all this picture from start to finish and place it far above the ordinary "special."

The woman who carries her ideal is apt to change her views.

KANNAPOLIS WINNER AGAIN OVER GIBSON

Out 17 Hills in Game 8 to 2 Victory in Game Here Thursday Afternoon.

The Kannapolis towel makers, refusing to concede anybody the state championship in independent circles, smashed out another victory over the Gibson team here Thursday afternoon.

Seventeen hits crashed from the willow wielded by the visitors and these were good for eight runs while the local were making two runs from nine hits.

Gibson made only one real bid for the honors when in the fourth two runs were scored with the aid of an error by Bob Kirk who bobbled H. Watty's drive.

Bugsy, Piedmont League star, was on the mound for Kannapolis while Ferguson did the twirling for the locals. The sliding bugler had much the better of the argument.

Kirk with three hits out of three trips to the plate, one for three bases, was one of the best hitters for Kannapolis, and Irby secured three and Jarrett three.

The Kannapolis team put the game on ice in the fourth when Jarrett drove the ball out of the lot with one on the pat. This drive seemed to get the visitors started and every man on the team went to the bat during the inning.

The victory was the 58th of the season for Kannapolis. The two teams play in Kannapolis this afternoon and tomorrow.

Other New Bales Brought In. Three bales of 1926 cotton, the first reported ginned in the county from the present crop, were brought to Concord this morning.

The sale brought in by Mr. Kiser weighed 474 pounds and was purchased by S. J. Hooks for 17 1/2 cents per pound.

The Stallings cotton was purchased by Capt. W. S. Bingham and also brought 17 1/2 cents per pound.

It is reported here that several other farmers in the county have picked enough cotton to make a bale, but so far as known the three bales sold here this morning are the first ginned in the county.

Mr. Kiser, it is said, had already weighed and sold his cotton when Mr. Stallings arrived at the cotton platform with his.

During the past two weeks the cotton has been opening rapidly in all parts of the county and it is certain that gins throughout the county will be in full operation soon as the fleecy staple is picked and prepared for sale.

Last year, according to reports available, the first bale of cotton from the 1925 crop was ginned during the latter part of August and a number of bales had been picked and sold by the 25th of August.

While the crop is later this year it is predicted by many persons that the total production will be as large as last year's.
