NO. EIGHT—GEORGE.

Because I have left George until last it doesn't necessarily mean that he is least in his own opinion. I mean, for there, I am sure, he is the acme of perfection, and the Beau Brummel of Asheville's aristocracy.

He is the major dome of this establishment, and to a stranger he must appear to be the lauded proprietor also. He always walks in such a way as to give one the impression that he owns the earth, and there exists in the hearts of many of the patients here a strong desire to give him a twit and vicious kick. But somehow he has managed to escape such brutal treatment so far. Perhaps the ones who are most bitter against him are just waiting until they have developed the requisite amount of strength necessary to inflict such a kick!

George it is who brings up to us all the telegrams, special delivery letters, packages and medicines, from the office and his air of lordly condescension as he does this is almost more than some of us—the Southern born ones, especially—can stand. It's a rare occasion indeed when George makes a smile to fit across his countenance, and when once he does the fact is heralded from room to room—"George has smiled!" But perhaps it's just as well that he tries to do a "Buster Keaton" for on one memorable occasion when he went into the room of one of the women here gaily skipping and chanting "Money, money, money!" he so startled and infuriated her that at the mere mention of his name now she faintly gashes her teeth!

George takes a vacation occasionally, as indeed what man in business doesn't? and he generally goes to call on the Sisters in other cities. I suppose he thinks that the life of a Sister would be incomplete without a yearly visit from him, but somehow I'm inclined to think that they would stagger along without him!

He was once seen boarding a train tastefully attired in a plus four (George, not the train) and this was the first intimation we had that golf knickers were the denier crux in traveling apparel. But it must be the correct thing, if George does it! His favorite costume for wear around here is a sky-blue, collarless, sweater worn with navy blue trousers, and this outfit, together with his entrancing side burn, gives him a most collegiate look in his own eyes.

George has several nicknames around here, but chief among them are "Ye Olds Scribe," because when any of us pass the office he seems to be busily writing, and "The Prince of Wales," because of his princely bearing—I don't suppose he knows of either of these names, but I'm sure he would be highly flattered by the latter, although he would calmly accept it as no more than he deserves! I'm afraid if some of us here were allowed our way his chief and only title would be convict No. 245!

He sometimes goes over to one of the cottages here and chats with one of the men there, and he is just too coy and demure when something is said that amuses him. He wriggles and twists for all the world like a schoolgirl in "supposed" to do, though precious few of them in these days ever actually do it, thank heaven! But how that man can enjoy having George around will always be a mystery to the rest of us. Perhaps, it's a case of George or loneliness, but even so, loneliness to us would be infinitely preferable.

I've just heard that George is away on one of his trips to New York City, this time—and a glorious thought has come to me—maybe he will become lost up there!

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas, The great and supreme Rule of the universe has in His infinite wisdom removed from among us one of our worthy and esteemed Society members of Kern Street Methodist Church, Mrs. Callie Ann Porter, on August 21, 1926.

And, whereas, the intimate relation held with her in the faithful discharge of her duties in this society makes it eminently befitting, that we recall our appreciation of her; therefore,

First, that the wisdom and ability which she has exercised in the aid of our society by service, contributions will be held in fond remembrance;

Second, that the sudden removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of this society, and will prove a loss to the community.

Third, with deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him who doeth all things well;

Fourth, that a copy of these resolutions be recorded by this society; a copy printed in the local paper and a copy forwarded to the bereaved family.

THREE PIEDMONT LEAGUERS REPORT TO KANNAPOLIS

Phelps, Buggy and Johnson, High Pointers to Disport Wares in Final Bracket of This—Other Towel City Sporting Chatter.

Kannapolis, Sept. 10.—According to a reliable channel of information "Tiny" Phelps and Art Buggy, catapults will report to Kannapolis in time to disport their wares in the state championship series with Gibson Mills here Friday and Saturday afternoon. The three players are reputed big dms of the High Point Piedmont League team.

WILSON SPEAKS WELL. "Lefty" Wilson, the Danville school master, who, between sessions, tosses the onion over in the Sally Union, made his appearance in the Towelers encampment recently.

Owing to the fact that Wilson has had experience grooming in the Piedmont League he was questioned about the Towel Makers' chances, should they be given any, in that brotherhood.

"The club you now have on field will stand the gaff of anything out of the Piedmont," he replied. "You have men of class 'C' calibre, you have class men; and you pay these fellows a Piedmont salary. Why not make a bid for a berth and cop the bunting?"

Wilson isn't the only out-of-town guest that has related that dope either.

Mauzy, best bet of the picturesque Fayetteville Highlanders, declared that not only would the locals hold their own in that six-cylinder circuit but "they would lick anything outside of Greenville in the South Atlantic."

RECORD CONVINCING. The record checked up by the native crew is convincing. Out of 77 games they have been setback only 20 times; a percentage of 644. The hitting of the entire team has gone for beyond the 300 mark, while the fielding is around 969. Homer Pink, truly a high class batter, clouted .450 for the season. "Lefty" Sherrill, local ace, won 18 of 23 games.

LEAGUERS FLOCK TO SANDLOT Several clubs with former big league stars attached to the line-up have been encountered by the Towelers in their climb for championship honors. The most notable being: Leder, Washington Senator with Newton; Hawn, Pittsburg Pirate with Hickory; and Pat Hargrove with Fayetteville. Flocks of Sally and Piedmonters took to the sandlots this year.

Johnston of Augusta, with Fayetteville; Ledbetter of Piedmont fame, with Hickory; O'Quinn, of Greensboro, with Silver City; Sherrill, Piedmont; Llewellyn, Sally; Kirk, Piedmont, with Kannapolis; Cline, Piedmont, with Gibson; and several others.

TORRENCE SIGNS BRYAN Of interest to Kannapolis is the announcement by "Big Jelly" Torrence, local representative of the Charlotte baseball club, of the signing of Howard Bryan, Fayetteville shortstop, to a Hornet contract.

Bryan has impressed local customers several times with his graceful fielding features and his flashy way of hitting balls for and often.

He will not report to the Charlotte team until next year.
