WHAT CO-OPERATION MEANS.

We believe Cabarrus County is now staging one of the best fairs in the State. In fact we doubt if there is another county fair in the South that is better for every feature found as such fairs is to be had here and in addition there are many other things here that one rarely sees at a county fair.

YOUTH IS NOT SERVED ALWAYS.

That youth must not be served always was strikingly demonstrated in the world series which closed Sunday with the victory of the St. Louis Cardinals. The most heroic and the most effective personages in the series are men who have seen years of service and who won through experience rather than brawn.

PLAN MEETING IN FRANCE.

Members of the American Legion in all parts of the United States are meeting in Philadelphia now and it is believed the convention delegates will approve plans for the 1927 convention in Paris.

We would like to see General Pershing accept the honor and certainly if he ever intends to accept it he should do so this year. It would be most fitting for the men who served under him in khaki to be under his leadership when the great convention meets in the French capital.

There still seems to be differences of opinion on the advisability of the Legion men going to France, but unless something drastic takes place we believe the meeting will be held there. The French officials are anxious to entertain the former service men and naturally they are going to do all they can to keep down any anti-American feeling that might arise in various quarters of the country.

Legionnaires will have their duties to perform also, and no doubt they can have a big influence on the French reception of them by the manner in which they conduct themselves. All of the burden of proof will not be on the French by any means.

IT'S A GOOD THING THEY'RE GONE.

With cotton selling at a loss of 5 cents per pound it's a good thing, don't you think, that the negroes are all gone from the farms in some Southern States?

Of course, when the negro exodus started a few years ago farmers in all parts of the South saw only ruin for them. There was no one left to work the crops and so the other things the negro was expected to do.

Such a condition certainly has not brought the ruin predicted. As a matter of fact we are raising more stuff than ever on the farms and certainly without cotton we didn't need anybody else to cultivate it. The pity is that something didn't really happen to cut down the size of the crop.

WISECRACKS.

JUSTICE AND JURY SERVICE.

Winston-Salem Journal.
"Do you business men realize that all property is protected by law? Do you not know that justice depends upon three important factors, the jury, the lawyers and the judges? If then, you evade jury service and thus shirk your part in the protection of your neighbor's property and rights how can you expect other citizens to protect your property and your rights by serving on juries?"

QUESTION OF WHIPPING CONVICTS IS REVISED

More Liberal Use of Lash, It Is Argued, Would Cure Insubordination.
Raleigh, Oct. 12.—Difficulty in disciplining prisoners worked by the state and the county convict camps revives the question of returning to more liberal use of the lash and the local afternoon paper carries an interview with a state official close to the administration, who believes that the whip will cure insubordination.

The uprising of Asheville prisoners and recently the reports of hoodlums and riotous conduct by Wake county prisoners have had something to do with the trouble just as the Cranford case had the tendency to go to opposite extremes. It is hinted by occasional visitors to Raleigh that some legislation on the subject will be necessary.

It probably will not take the form of milder statutes toward roughnecks who have made beatings so nearly criminal. The agitation will more likely assume the form of more intelligence among the prison handlers. It is well known that the chief humiliation which comes to guards and petty officials about a convict camp is the cursing which the convicts bestow upon these minor men.

He has knowledge of unspeakable speech and conduct by prisoners whom he has sent to the gaug. He does not hesitate to suggest that a lash would cure many of them nor is he so strong for so much ceremony and supervision of it. He would safeguard the beating, but he would cut as much red tape as possible.

However, the beatings become less and less popular. There has been very little trouble with state prisoners who have intelligent and studious men working over them and a humane superintendent at the head of the institution. The state may pay more money and get better men; it is not likely to lift the ban from the lash and bid every supervisor cowered with a little authority to name the medicine which each offender must take.

Dr. James W. Lowber, of Austin, Texas, is believed to be the world's champion degree holder. Fifty degrees and titles have been bestowed upon him by prominent institutions of learning and leading scientific societies.
