COURT MATTERS

Number of Cases Continued as Solicitor Announces Trial Docket—Dry Fined.
With routine matters out of the way before the noon recess, Cabarrus County Superior Court Monday got down to the business of handling the trial docket.
After the brief charge of Judge A. M. Stack at 10 o'clock in the morning, Solicitor Zeb V. Long announced his trial docket and immediately afterward the trial of cases was begun.
The docket of the solicitor shows an excess of unusual importance at the present term of court. A number of cases were continued because defendants could not be found and no pros with leave was taken in other cases.
It was announced in court Monday that the case of Carl T. Blakeney, charged with burning the Bank of Midland, would not be tried at the present term of court. Judge Stack advised Solicitor Long that because of family connections he did not want to hear the trial.
C. E. Hopkins, charged with possessing liquor, was found guilty. He was sentenced to serve ninety days on the chain gang, capias not to issue upon payment of the costs in the case and agreement not to handle liquor in any manner for five years.
George Dey submitted to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He was given six months on the chain gang, capias not to issue upon payment of $100 to Arthur Flow, whom he is said to have assaulted, payment of the costs in the case, agreement not to handle liquor for five years and agreement to be of good behavior.
Nol pros with leave was entered in the case against the following:
Will Barnhardt, W. B. Oliver, W. L. Johnson, W. B. Spivey and Robert Garland.
The cases against the following were continued: Wiley Freeman, Lee Brooks, Prince Hill, Alanzo Connor, Slim Byers, Henry Barber, Martin Boger, Carl T. Blakeney, R. J. Becker, Milas Lowder, Mrs. P. A. Melton and John Hefner.

GOVERNOR INTERESTED IN TRAINING SCHOOL

Became So Engrossed at School He Was Late Starting for Hickory—Ain With the Boys.
Monday was a great day for the Jackson Training School and Governor A. W. McLean. The Chief Executive of the State dropped in on the boys for dinner and the occasion proved one of mutual interest and pleasure for the governor and the boys.
Governor McLean came to Concord from Statesville, arriving at the school about 12:45. He had telephoned earlier in the day that he was coming so extra plates were set for him and members of his party.
After dinner with the boys of First Cottage—and there were no "extras" for the Governor—Mr. McLean went over the plant and looked at its administrative machinery. Question after question he fired at Superintendent Charles E. Boger and he laid special emphasis on the operation of the executive budget system.
Governor McLean found things to his liking at the school and remained so long he was late for his Hickory appointment at night. Dozens of things at the school interested him. He wanted to know about the manner in which the boys are housed, about their recreation, their vocational training and their associates. He asked about having a central dining hall instead of the cottage plan, wanted to know if the plan of making boys of all ages worked satisfactorily and asked if older boys could be sent to the school and segregated.
Superintendent Boger defended the cottage plan of housing and feeding the boys, saying it was more time-like, said no boy at the school is set apart from another or pointed out as different from another and said since children of all ages live together in houses he thought they should do the same at the school.
After eating with the youngsters Governor McLean met with them in the auditorium, heard them sing and recite and then talked briefly to them about making the most of the opportunities offered to them at the school. He told them that character is the chief thing that men need to get along in the world with, and pointed out that whereas many of the boys had no opportunities at home all had a chance to learn the right way to live and a way to make a living at the school.
Governor McLean asked all boys from his county to come forward and seven stepped up. He was friendly with them, asking about their life and school and whether they were satisfied. They all replied that they were. "I am an American," was the subject of a recitation by Guy Tucker and then Guy and Everett Parker sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia." Later the boys repeated the 15th Psalm in unison, after which eight youngsters led the singing of "America the Beautiful." The program proved a revelation to the governor.

COLORED FAIR OPENS WITH BIG PARADE

Program For Week Contains Round of Activities for Visitors Each Day and Night.
The fourth annual Concord Colored Fair opened this morning with a big parade and will continue the remainder of the week. The fair is being staged at the grounds of the Cabarrus County Fair Association.
M. C. Boger, president of the fair, stated this morning that everything was in readiness at the grounds. Dr. T. N. Spencer, secretary of the Cabarrus Fair, aided Boger and his assistants with the fair this morning to see that everything moved off smoothly on opening day.
A big parade, made up of floats, private cars, exhibits and horseback riders, was the first feature of the fair. The parade formed at 10 o'clock at the old Logan school and went from there to South Union street, thence to Grove street, thence to Spring, thence to Depot and then to the fair grounds.
This being educational day at the fair, H. Wilson delivered an educational address at the ground this afternoon at 1 o'clock. Immediately after this the race program was started.
The race program started with a free-for-all, the purses ranging from $50 to $125.
Wednesday afternoon in addition to the races there will be a football game between the Price High School and a team from Winston-Salem.
The show on the midway carries a number of attractions.

WANT PERMISSION TO EXAMINE CHILDREN

Special Attention to Be Given to Children 10 Per Cent. or More Underweight.
Dr. S. E. Buchanan, county health officer, has secured funds to conduct a more rigid examination of school children of Concord and Kannapolis who are 10 per cent. or more underweight. When the work gets underway about November first these will be the first cities in the state to conduct such work, it is said.
Students in the schools here and in Kannapolis recently were weighed by city and county nurses, and a record of their weight kept. Again this week children in the schools here were weighed and figures obtained at this second examination will be kept.
Dr. Buchanan will ask parents of children 10 per cent. or more underweight to allow him to make a more careful examination in an effort to locate the cause of their underweight.
Dr. S. E. Lee will assist Dr. Buchanan in the work, which it is planned to begin about November first.
Parents of children to be examined will be asked to be present when the examinations are made. Dr. Buchanan states, so he and Dr. Lee can discuss with them the defects found.
"We are anxious to get at the cause of the defects of our children," Dr. Buchanan stated, "and we hope parents here and in Kannapolis will cooperate with us. We are going to some expense in making the examinations but feel that they will prove worthwhile. Children 10 per cent. or more underweight are too far below normal not to cause some concern and we want to help parents correct any defects that may be found."
Definite announcement as to the date for the examinations will be made later, Dr. Buchanan said.

which continues even in constant cohabitation with contagious tuberculous persons for a period of three years and perhaps longer.
In spite of inadequate experimentation thus far it is encouraging to know that such progress has been made in conquering the dread "White Plague" which has heretofore propagated itself largely by attacking the offspring of tuberculous parents because a strong resistance could be built up. With tuberculous tendencies thus promptly arrested the type of finally conquering the disease at its source of prolific infection becomes so hopeful as to prompt the prophecy that the time will come when tuberculosis as a "deadly-disease" plague will be no longer feared.
Will Parade For Dr. J. Frank Norris. Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 18.—(AP)—The First Baptist Church today announced a parade of the faithful thousands strong for the night of October 21, eve of the trial of its fundamentalist pastor, Rev. J. Frank Norris on a charge of murder.
