NEGRO TELLS OF THREATS AGAINST BURNED BARBER

Describes Altercation in Davidson Shop on Morning of Fatal Fire. Charlotte Observer.

Threats to kill Charles Morton, negro barber, whose cremated body was found in the ashes of his shop at Davidson the morning of November 20, was made by Ed Withers, negro, that morning shortly after midnight, it was said yesterday by Maude Sloan, negroes, he'd without ball as a witness.

Withers is charged with murder. McCorkle was served with a warrant yesterday charging him with implication in the murder.

"I was in the shop," said Sloan, "when Withers and Kenneth McCorkle came. Withers sat down on a bench or chair and propped up his feet. Morton looked at him and then said out loud to him so we all could hear, 'This ain't no place for bums.' 'This seemed to make Ed mad. 'If you wasn't so old,' he cried, 'I'd beat out your brains with this spittoon.'"

"Wait a minute," I said, coming out between them. 'We musn't have any trouble here.' Sloan explained that when he left a little later that Morton, Withers and McCorkle appeared on friendly terms and were chatting pleasantly. That was the last Sloan saw or heard of Morton, he said, until he learned that his body had been burned in his shop.

Barney Houston, trembling nervously, told of going to Morton's shop for a shoeing between 11:30 p. m. and 12 a. m. the night preceding the tragedy. Morton and another man were in the shop but it was closed, he explained. When he turned away he was asked by Withers and McCorkle to help crank a car, he said. The car wouldn't crank, so he and another man pushed it down a hill until the engine started. Withers and McCorkle then drove away he insisted; and that he then found his own car and drove home.

Fenner and Beane's Cotton Letter.

New York, Dec. 1.—Starting with easier cables than due, our cotton market has shown a sagging tendency throughout the day, being under the pressure of hedges and liquidation from the holders. Worth street reports a very quiet condition with immediate distributors declaring the lack of need in stocking up before January 1, at which date price revisions are confidently expected. For some time past it has been very popular to ignore the steadily increasing production estimate by the government; but this is a question that in our opinion cannot be so easily dismissed. Another increase by the government on the eighth is very likely to reveal a large quantity of cotton to be still unhedged and that the supply of good cotton is much greater than it has been the fashion to believe. The market may be said to have lost a great many of its friends since the beginning of the week and a lower range of prices seems in hand.

FENNER AND BEANE.

City Councilman of Durham Fined In Whiskey Case.

Durham, Dec. 1.—E. K. Powe, Jr., city councilman and prominent citizen, was today given a fine of $15 and costs and a suspended sentence of six months on the county road or transportation of whiskey. The case was disposed of in recorder's court at the request of counsel for the plaintiff that it be tried. He has a charge of manslaughter pending which is scheduled to come up for trial in the December session of superior court.

The case grew out of an automobile accident which occurred near the city on the night of September 7, in which W. N. Poindexter, of Winston-Salem, a companion of Powe, received fatal injuries.

HOW SHE GAINED 10 POUNDS
IN 22 DAYS.

That's going some—but skinny men, women and children just can't help putting on good, healthy flesh when they take McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

As chock full of vitamins as the nasty, fishy-tasting cod liver oil itself, but these sugar-coated, tasteless tablets are as easy to take as candy, and won't upset the stomach.

One woman gained ten pounds in twenty-two days. 60 tablets, 60 cents. Ask Pear Drug Co. or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and if you don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them. Insist on McCoy's, the original and genuine.

DISTURBED SLEEP

Relieved for Wisconsin Lady—Wants to Tell Others. Bladder Irritation the Cause.

Mrs. Ellen Johnson, Hillsboro, Wis., says she will tell or write any one how she was relieved by simple lithiated buchu, (Keller Formula.) She says: "I had to get up nights so much. The irritation was so bad. I had to go to the hospital for eleven weeks. I improved some but was not at all well. I began to take lithiated buchu. I feel fine today. Haven't taken medicine for two months. Am still well. Gained 30 pounds." Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Sold by all druggists. Locally at Gibson Drug Store.

Refugees Again

Reports from Armenia indicate a new famine threat with refugees made homeless by the earthquake besieging the food stations of the Near East Relief as a result of the earthquake. This picture shows refugee children in front of an American orphanage when relief workers first entered the country. Similar scenes are once more being enacted.

DODGES POSSES FOR 24 HOURS; GIVES SELF UP

Lattie Hagan, Charged With Killing Youth, Surrenders to Buncombe Sheriff.

Asheville, Dec. 1.—Just as deputy sheriffs were preparing to begin an all-night search for Lattie Hagan, 33 years old, alleged slayer of Marvin Wyatt, 17 years old, the man who had eluded officers for 24 hours walked into the office of Sheriff E. M. Mitchell late Wednesday afternoon and gave himself up.

His father and a brother accompanied him and remained with him after deputies had taken him to the county jail.

"I have no statement to make," he said in reply to a question. And his father hastily corroborated his curt answer as they started for the cell.

"Doubtless one reason for the reticence of this grizzled mountaineer, who put a bullet in the abdomen of the Wyatt youth Tuesday afternoon, was the difficulty he has in talking at all. Every time he speaks he has to put his hand on the end of a small tube emitting from his neck and let out little spurts of air. For the last several years he has drawn his breath through this tube, his his windpipe being destroyed by a bullet from his own hand in an accidental shooting. A large grimy handkerchief conceals this tube when Hagan is not talking, but when he opens his mouth to speak, his right hand grasps the end of the tube and a faint blast of air is heard beneath the bandana as the words come forth in faint gasps.

SEVERE COLD COMING OUT OF MIDDLE WEST

Coldest Weather of Fall Expected to Extend Over Eastern Half of the Nation.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—December and real winter weather arrived simultaneously in the middle west today, O'Fallon winter, three weeks ahead of the time set for his official debut, sped eastward tonight with prospects that by tomorrow the most severe cold of the season will extend from the upper Mississippi valley to the Atlantic seaboard.

Temperatures tonight in the middle west were expected to hover from zero to around 15 above. A little relief was promised by Thursday evening when winds were expected to shift to northeasts.

Today the front of the cold wave advanced southward into the middle west and eastward over the upper great lakes region with zero temperatures extending through southern Minnesota, while even lower readings prevailed west of the Rockies.

In Iowa a drop of nearly 50 degrees in temperature was recorded since yesterday when the mercury stood around 60 and the entire northwest fought the coldest wave of the season which was marked principally by the presence of high winds and sudden drops in temperature within a few hours. Crookston, Minn., reported 26 degrees below zero.

Reaction from the wintry blasts is expected to be evidenced tonight, appearing first in the extreme upper Mississippi valley and gradually spreading eastward.

Lake vessels were cautioned to remain in port because of the gale over the great lakes region. The first fatality due to the cold was reported here today when a poorly dressed laborer was found dead beside railroad tracks.

Says Dempsey Was Poisoned Before Fight

Baltimore, Dec. 1.—Charles J. Mabbutt, generalissimo of Jack Dempsey training camp, charged in an article written for The Baltimore News today that poison in Dempsey's coffee the Saturday before his fight with Gene Tunney at Philadelphia sent the champion to defeat.

"It is now more than nine weeks since Jack Dempsey lost his heavyweight boxing crown to Gene Tunney at Philadelphia," Captain Mabbutt said. "I have purposely refrained up to this time from discussing in detail what happened at Dempsey's training camp at Atlantic City, but after due deliberation I offer as my firm belief the opinion that both Dempsey and I, as well as his trainer, Jerry the Greek, were victims of foul play and that a poisonous substance introduced into the cream used by our party did the work."

I've got a half-nelson on jimmy-pipe joy

I TOOK P. A. for better or worse . . . and found it better! Better than anything I had ever smoked. That's my story and I'm going to stick to it. When siren-brands try to flirt, I just give them the icy stare. I know what I like in a pipe, and what I like is Prince Albert!

The instant you break the seal on the tidy red tin and get that wonderful fragrance of real tobacco, you know you are in for a pipe-treat. Your mouth fairly waters for a taste of tobacco that smells as good as that. Then you load up and light up—ah! . . .

Cool. Sweet. Fragrant. Old words, I'll admit, but you get a brand-new idea of how much they can mean in a pipe-bowl packed with P. A. Maybe you've always thought such pipe-pleasure was "just around the corner." Try a load of Prince Albert and turn that corner!

Get a half-nelson on the pipe-joy that's due you. Before you do another thing, buy a tin of Prince Albert and tuck a neatwad into your pipe. Notice how mild it is, yet how delightfully full-bodied. Here's a smoke that you can pal around with, morning to midnight.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, round and half-pound tin humidor, and pound crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!
