OPUSSUM SUPPER

Men's Bible Class of McKinnon Church to Have Supper.—Dr. J. C. Rowan to Speak.

The Men's Bible Class of the McKinnon Presbyterian Church is giving its annual oppusum supper tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

About 75 men are expected to be present. Twenty-five marzipans have been captured by members of the class and interested friends. They are being prepared in the various homes under the expert direction of Mrs. John McInnis.

Dr. J. C. Rowan, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will be the chief speaker of the evening. There will be several other honor guests who will make short talks. Tables have been set in the basement of the church. The oppusum suppers have been notable occasions in the past and this one bids fair to surpass all previous records.

Birthday Celebration For Mrs. D. C. Linker.

The following children, grand children and great grand-children and friends of Mrs. D. V. Linker met at the home of her son, Dr. C. Linker, in North Concord for a family reunion and to celebrate the 78th birthday anniversary of this bright, cheery good grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. James Linker and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Linker and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Linker and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Linker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hoke Linker and family, Mrs. Andrew and children, Mr. Preston Verble and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Flowe and children, Mrs. Olga Alexander and baby, Marvin Verble, Mrs. Flora Verble and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Garrau, and Rev. and Mrs. E. Myers.

The little girls that bore the announcement of the feast to the grandmother, the guest of honor, were Mollie Linker and Barbara Linker. Bill Hill this is the message which was composed by Mrs. D. C. Linker: "Grandmother is here we all love her best. Because we know that she is our guest, The table is all ready and it is our delight For grand-mother to enter and give us our light."

The little girls who lighted the candles were great grand-children, little Helen Flowe and little Virginia Linker.

This was a very pleasant occasion and was enjoyed by all present, not only the suppers but for the body but the social features as well. Many more celebrations of the good many more celebrations of the good day come to this excellent woman.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE COMMENCES MONDAY

Mrs. A. Jones Yorke, Chairman for Cabarrus County, Tells Something of Good Money Secured From Sale of Seals Has Done.

The Cabarrus county Christmas Seal campaign, Mrs. A. Jones Yorke, is asking that all citizens purchase his quota of the familiar penny Christmas seals when they are out on Monday. In asking the residents of the county to purchase the seals, Mrs. Yorke is basing her campaign upon actual results as measured in years of life and dollars saved.

In the past ten years in North Carolina the death rate from tuberculosis has been lowered to the extent which means in this state alone a saving of 12,000 lives and a money saving to the community of millions of dollars.

During the past two years in the North Carolina schools where health habits have been taught through the Modern Health Crusade, a practical health educational system promoted by the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, regular examinations of school children show that the percentage of undernourished children has been reduced in proportions varying from 42 to 20 per cent. In the state this figures a saving of $1,200,000 time loss measured in the annual cost of school upkeep and instruction.

The tuberculosis Christmas seals finance the school health program for undernourished and well-nourished children. Rescue the former and keep the latter healthy.

During the past sixteen years the tuberculosis death rate in North Carolina has been reduced 51 per cent, over one-half—a result attributed mainly to the campaign of education, prevention and treatment financed largely by Christmas seal funds, according to a statement given out today by Mrs. Yorke.

The North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, with which the local health association is affiliated, cooperates with the State Sanatorium, the State department of health, the department of agriculture, the State educational institutions, the department of public instruction, the American Red Cross, the State Teachers' Association, the Parent-Teacher Association, the American Legion, women's clubs, farm bureaus, labor and commercial organizations and other similar organizations, and it maintains a staff of workers in the field at all times. Its work, however, is carried on without state or federal aid, and its support has always been of a voluntary nature.

The sale of the seals in Cabarrus county starts Monday and a special drive will be made in Concord Monday and Tuesday but the seal sale will continue until Christmas. The good the seals do lasts all through the year and for many years to come.

Long and Short Staple Cotton. Monroe Enquirer.

The Concord Times relates that a Concord man sent a load of cotton to Monroe one day last week and received therefor a better price than could be obtained in his own town.

The Times says a Concord cotton buyer "informs us that some Monroe buyers are paying a little more than the average because they sold short at 17 cents and can afford to pay a little more than the buyer who must dispose of his cotton after receiving it."

If Monroe buyers have "sold short" they certainly have made money this season because they have bought thousands and thousands of bales, receipts daily throughout the season running into the hundreds of bales.

The Concord paper at last got to the kernel of the nut when it said: "Cabarrus farmers as a whole raise short staple cotton which sells on the average for less than the longer staple variety."

Union county soils have a natural tendency to grow the longer staples. The farmers themselves have heeded the advice of County Agent T. J. W. Broom and for the past several years have planted selected seed. Consequently we are reaping reward for cotton mills far and near know Union county staple to be away above the average and premium is paid for it. Monroe cotton buyers have little trouble to dispose of Union county cotton when they buy it of the farmers.

And the foregoing is only another lesson upon the value of co-operation among farmer, county agent and cotton buyer.

LOADS OF FUN IN STORE FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

Central Grammar School Presents the Combined Adam Hindzap and Barndoor Balling Ringless Circus.

Loads of fun are in store for those who attend the Penny Circus at Central Grammar School Friday night. The doors will open at 7 p. m. and a record-breaking crowd is expected. The most wonderful collection of oddities ever gathered together in one place will be exhibited that night, including the famous Red Bats, recently captured in Australia; the January Ground Hog; the Grave Digger; and the most astonishing of all—the animal with its tail where its head ought to be.

During the free acts you will have the opportunity to see such characters as Fuzzifonis, the strong man; Princess Kaufman, the dancer; and Angelle Gonzello Swindler, the man of magic. Of course you will want your fortune told. Get Zorabead of Kolabar to do that—she will find your fortune in the deserts sands of Zulaballah.

Save your pennies in order that you may take in all these wonderful sights. Everything that goes to make up a good circus will be at Central Grammar, balloons, peanuts, popcorn, ice-cream, etc. The admission price will be five pennies. Lots of fun for everybody.

Church Officers Forget Jobs for Song at Theater. Houston, Texas, Nov. 30.—Having sung on Sunday in a quartet at a performance in a theater of "The Old Homestead," three officers of the Central Baptist church have resigned by request. The pastor says they neglected their church duties.

THE STUDENT MANAGER

Jim VanNess is to Be Awarded a Manager's Monogram.

Chapel Hill, Dec. 1.—One of the most indispensable and yet least heard of members of a football contingent is the student manager. This man shoulders many worries that the squad has to contend with. Yet he is seldom in the limelight, and his name is not known to many of the vast throngs who watch his team in action during the season.

The manager shares little of the glory of the players, but in the palm of his hand lies great power. For it is the manager who arranges all the railroad trips, attends to the schedules and sees that the squad makes the train on time; who looks after the safe receipts, the squad's equipment, and keeps a watchful, supervising eye over a host of details that must be attended to if the squad is to meet its engagements. He is to the football squad what the secretary is to a professional baseball team.

In Jim VanNess (above) of Charlotte, the University of North Carolina squad has had an excellent manager during the season that has just ended. He is to be awarded a manager's monogram.

How He Spent His Last Yen. (By International News Service.) New Orleans, La., Dec. 1.—This is the last ten of fifty thousand.—Thus the inscription began, a neatly written inscription, in red ink on the corner of a ten dollar bill that a reporter for the New Orleans States ran down by luck recently. The inscription ended: "Spent on good liquor, fast women and slow horses in New Orleans."

YORKE & WADSWORTH CO.

A Smart Black Dress is Exploited on This Cloth Frock.

Dark green rep is the material used for this very effective little cloth frock. Instead of concentrating its decoration at the front, the front is finished plain, with a V neck and a row of green covered buttons.

At the back three tucks mark the waist portion, while the skirt is marked by three inset pleats which are continuations of the tucks in the waist.

Narrow bands of fitch finish the neck and cuffs, while a stippled leather belt in the same colors marks the lowered waistline.

Notes Pianist to Give Concert Here. Gabriel Szigmoudy, head of the music department at Catawba College, at Salisbury, and a noted pianist, will give a concert here next Thursday night under the auspices of the Guild of Trinity Reformed Church.

Miss H. Wolf, "covering" Szigmoudy's recital in Charlotte for the Charlotte Observer, said nothing like his playing had been heard in Charlotte since the great Paderewski had played there.

The concert will be given at the high school auditorium beginning at 8 o'clock. It is hoped many music lovers of the city will hear him.
