Salisbury "Y" Wins From Kannapolis. Salisbury, Feb. 23.—The Salisbury "Y"agers won the title of group two in the state race meet by defeating the Kannapolis quietest 33-27 here tonight in a fast and close game. The visitors gave the locals some of the stiffest opposition they have encountered this season, and at one time during the contest led by a fair sized margin, however, the ultimate winners rallied, and when the half ended, the score stood at 15-15. Salisbury maintained a consistent lead throughout the last half, and despite threatening spurts by the Kannapolis lads, they always kept in the lead.

Chewing Gum For Air Pilots Helps in D-scents. Chewing gum is recommended for pilots by the Royal Air Force flying training manual, published in England, as it provides saliva and helps overcome the difficulty experienced in swallowing during descents as a result of parched throats, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Swallowing aids in equalizing the air pressure within the ears when descending from a high altitude as it opens the narrow passages leading from the back of the throat to the inner side of the eardrum. In sudden downward flights, authorities recommend "clicking the ears," which means pinching the nostrils and forcing air from the chest into the nose until a clicking sound is heard in both ears.

MERITS OF MOSES AND ABRAHAM ARE DEBATE SUBJECT Debate One of Pleasing Features of Program by Men of Kerr Street Methodist Church.

The following program was rendered by the Wesley Brotherhood of Kerr Street Methodist Church at the Church Tuesday night at 7:30: Prayer—Rev. J. W. Strider. Song—My Country 'Tis of Thee. Discussion of Subject—Resolved: That Moses Did More for the Human Race Than Abraham, Therefore Was Greater. The affirmative speakers were W. F. Hall and J. L. Towell, while the negative was upheld by E. M. Sloop and T. R. Brinkley. Mr. Towell made the reply for the affirmative and Mr. Brinkley for the negative. After many great things had been said by each of the speakers, paying great tribute to both Moses and Abraham, the judges brought in a verdict in favor of the affirmative. The public was invited and a number of outsiders were present, all of whom spoke as enjoying the occasion to the greatest extent. This was the first of this kind for the Brotherhood, but they are to be commended for the good speeches rendered, and we hope to see more of this good work, for we are persuaded they can do it, and who says they can not. Songs, "Faith of Our Fathers," and "God Be With You," were used in closing. Benediction by pastor. ONE PRESENT.

Tom Kimmery Barely Avoids Fatal Wreck. Tom Kimmery, well known young man of Albemarle, narrowly escaped a fatal collision with a freight train on the Winston-Salem Southbound railway here about 8 o'clock Thursday night, having avoided colliding with the train only by quickly swerving his car at right angles down the railway track. Mr. Kimmery was watching an approaching automobile and failed to see the train until he was nearly upon it. When he saw the train there was not time enough to cross the track so he cut his car down the railway but slipped into a hand-car that had been parked by the section crew near the track. Both the hand-car and Mr. Kimmery's Ford roadster were badly damaged. Several parts of the hand-car were broken while the front wheels of the roadster were smashed into countless fragments.

D'LOACH ADDRESSES FARMERS, OFFERING FERTILIZER HINTS

Tells Farmers They Must Shorten Growing Season For Cotton.—Tells How to Use Fertilizer Properly. "Farmers know lots of things but do not know why they know them," Dr. J. H. DeLoach, director of Agronomy and Company's research bureau, said Wednesday afternoon when addressing a small body of Cabarrus county farmers at the court house on the economical use of fertilizers. Dr. DeLoach, who for years has been director of an experimental station in Georgia and owner and operator of several thousand acres of land, continued his idea of the statement that farmers know considerable and do not know why they know it, said "the experiment station is now making experiments to find out why we know what we do and why we are doing what we are. They will spend months or even years, with one idea and as soon as it is worked out they turn it over to the farmers. "When a man cuts down forests and begins to cultivate crops he starts up an artificial condition," Dr. DeLoach said, "and then he must start using artificial things to keep up the strength of the soil. Re-establishing the fertility of the soil is no longer considered as crops and animal matter plowed under. In speaking of the growth of cotton, Dr. DeLoach stressed the importance of giving the growing plant all the food it could take during the first few weeks and thus hasten the coming of the fruit and the gathering of the crop. "The first six or seven weeks is the most important period in the life of the plant. The plant can make no more fruit than it can get food to make fruit. Therefore give it all the food it can take during the first few weeks of its growth. With the coming of the boll weevil a few years ago and other insects, we have had to shorten the growing period of the plant. It is possible to shorten the period of time from planting time to the time of the first square but you can't shorten the time from when the first blossom appears to the appearance of the first boll. Save the first squares by proper feeding of the plant, and also hasten the picking period and get the crop gathered and on the market sooner. To make money out of cotton you have got to check all the leaks that same as a banker or any other business man would have to do," Dr. DeLoach concluded.

BURGERS WORKING IN BROAD DAYLIGHT

Mooresville Enterprise. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McNeely, corner Main street and Wilson avenue, was entered last Sunday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock, the burglar entering, it is presumed, by means of a skeleton key through the front door, and on leaving had the presence of mind to lock the door. The windows and doors were all securely fastened when Mr. and Mrs. McNeely left for Sunday school at the Second Presbyterian church, on the opposite corner of Wilson avenue. The couple had planned to go to Davidson to hear Dr. W. T. Ellis, traveler and lecturer, and before going to Sunday school Mr. McNeely placed a $100 bill on a dresser in their bedroom, expecting to stop as he passed to get it for the collection plate. However, when he looked for the money it had vanished. A small purse in which Mr. McNeely kept change, but also been robbed of probably 50 or 60 cents, and the handbag of Mrs. McNeely, which contained a single $10.00 bill, had been robbed, the thief secured approximately $11.50. Nothing else seemed to have been tampered with. So far there has been no one to offer any clue as to the guilty burglars. The burglars did not deter Mr. and Mrs. McNeely from hearing Dr. Ellis.

BEING NATURAL MAKES A PERSON ATTRACTIVE

The definition of an attractive person is one who is perfectly natural is made by Rebecca West, the noted English writer, in an article in this week's Liberty. "The people who are attractive," Miss West maintains, "are those who, when a thing hits them, come right back at it; who have a direct channel between the outside world and the care of their hearts, so that they are completely in touch with reality, are sure in their minds what they feel about it, and can instantly impress that feeling by word and action. "They are not tangled up," Miss West explains, "They are not twisting themselves always so that they shall not see life as it really is. They are not forcing themselves to some false reaction to it. They are not frightened from saying what they feel about it all. "They know what is happening," the writer continues, "they know what they want to happen; and they go straight after it, happily and gracefully. It is as natural that we should be attracted to them rather than to the tangled-up type, strangled by fears and inhibitions, as it is that we should prefer to watch someone with a well made body dancing rather than a cripple hobbling on crutches."

OFFICERS WORKING ON ROBBERY CASE; SEEKING NEW CLUE

Local police officers are seeking additional clues that might lead to an arrest in the robbery of the safe of the Gulf Refining Company here Tuesday night. One officer who was assigned to the case has expressed the opinion that explosives were not used. This makes him believe the job was done by some amateur. It was said that a sledge hammer and a big pick axe were found Tuesday near the warehouse where the safe was opened. This officer expressed the opinion that the sledge hammer was effectively used to loosen the safe door after which the pick axe was used as a wedge, thus forcing the door from its hinges. There were no indications of an explosive being used, this officer stated. Working on this assumption officers hope to get information that will result in an arrest. The safe was entered sometime Tuesday night and about $50 in cash taken from it. Valuable papers were scattered about the safe, but so far as known none of these was taken. The robbers entered the plant through a window in the warehouse. They smashed down the door between the warehouse and office, rolled the safe into the warehouse and there opened it. William C. Carpenter, manager of the plant, said that not more than $50 was in the safe, thus denying reports that the safe contained approximately $1,000 in cash when robbed.
