ROCKWELL HIGHS IN RETURN CLASH WITH KANNAPOLIS HIGH FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Towel City Diamond Soldiers Seek Attraction for Last Week's Licking by Tackling Rockwellers in Home Lot Friday Afternoon at 4 O'clock. Other News Bits.—'Towler' to Blossom Forth Thursday, a New Weekly for Kannapolis.—Two Automobiles Stolen From Kannapolis Owners.—One at Salisbury, the Other at Charlotte.—'V' Glee Club Appears Tonight.

'THE TOWELER' MAKES DEBUT

'The Toweler,' a brand new weekly newspaper, will blossom forth here Thursday afternoon in its initial appearance to the local reading populace. It will be devoted entirely to Kannapolis news events, being published Thursday of each week if plans are not punctured.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION RULES ON MILEAGE

Will Hereafter Consider Only Roads Approved by Local Board. Lets 19 Contracts.

Contracts today were awarded for 19 of the 20 projects on which bids were received March 29. Nine of these projects are subject to a map being posted on the courthouse door in the respective counties showing proposed changes in route. If no objection is made by the road governing bodies of the county or town in which the changes occur, the contracts will automatically become valid.

Fenner and Beane Cotton Letter.

New Orleans, Apr. 5.—Cotton was strong and prices a shade higher today owing to the return of rains and prospects of further delay in planting. The map shows very little rainfall outside northern sections from Dallas to Chattanooga, but reports gathered at midday told of considerable precipitation in southern and central sections. The forecast is for generally unsettled rainy weather in the southern and eastern belt. Cables were some easier than due owing to renewal of hedging in Liverpool and domestic dry goods markets are reported to have quieted down. Practically all branches of the trade are waiting to see how the crop gets off. The generally accepted view is that both preparation and planting are backward at the present time and the market is more responsive to bad weather than to favorable. Reports were in circulation of the suspension of an important Japanese house parents to the publication. Just how many pages it will require to convey the news it is not known, but present plans call for six or eight pages in its first appearance.

HERE AND THERE.

Miss Attie Antley, of an Atlanta producing company, will arrive on Thursday to begin the direction of rehearsals for 'Rosetone,' the mammoth musical production to be presented April 15th. Inability to secure a local stage will cause the play to be given at the Landis high school.

The local post of the American Legion of which S. Z. Phleger is commander, will sponsor the entertainment, the proceeds going to the disabled ex-service men at the Oteen hospital.

A Ford roadster, bearing license tag 64,688, was stolen from the front of the Strand Theatre at Salisbury Monday night while the owner, Harry Tucker, a local youth, enjoyed a vaudeville program. The vehicle was decked out in four new tires and was reported to be in good running condition. A model of 1924, it bore the motor number 8344172 and the title number 281878.

Coincident with the theft of young Tucker's machine at Salisbury, Ray Hoffman, a toweler citizen, had his Ford touring car purloined while visiting at Charlotte.

In conjunction with the revival services, the Y. M. C. A. Glee Club will appear this evening at 7:30 o'clock at Trinity Methodist Church. Rev. James F. Moore, who is delivering the sermons, is attracting large audiences each night and with the appearance tonight of the 'Y' singers an exceptionally large crowd is expected in attendance.

SALE OF TOM SHANKLE PROPERTY.

Under and by virtue of an order of Superior Court of Cabarrus County, made in the Special Proceedings entitled C. A. Isenhour, Administrator, against Annie Shankle and others, the undersigned commissioners will, Saturday the 16th day of April, 1927, at 12 o'clock M., at the courthouse door in Concord, N. C., offer for sale to the highest bidder, at public auction, all the lands of Thomas Shankle, deceased, lying in Shankletown and also the portion of the Whit Shankle estate owned by said Thomas Shankle, deceased, as shown upon maps made by Recce I. Long now on file in the office of Register of Deeds Cabarrus County in Book of Maps No. 2, page 65, Subdivision of home-places Thomas Shankle, and Map of Lands of Whit Shankle estate.

Said maps may be seen at office of C. A. Isenhour, Cabarrus Bank Building, or office of Caldwell & Caldwell in Morris Building, and property will be shown persons interested before day of sale.

The residence lot will be sold last and will not be sold if other lots provide enough to pay debts and costs of administration of Thomas Shankle estate.

TERMS OF SALE:

One-third cash, balance in six and nine months' deeds delivered, when all purchase money is paid. This 15th day of March, 1927. C. A. ISENHOUR, J. M. CALDWELL, Commissioners. Tribune March 16, 23; Apr. 6-13.

SEEN ABOUT New York

New York, April 6.—The 'rubber sack wagons' stationed at strategic points throughout the city, chiefly in the Broadway section, furnish an unofficial but decisive test of that 'metropolitan air' which visitors desire and comparatively few New Yorkers have.

The barkers for the great busses, decorated with Chinese lanterns for a lure to visitors, watch the passing throng with an eagle eye for potential sightseers. If the barker singles out an individual from the passersby for his 'spiel' it is considered an unflattering sign of the buccolic air. Consequently it is the ambition of many New Yorkers to pass the busses without being invited to 'see Chinatown while you're in the city.'

Some New York names with a rural sound: Inwood, Throggs Neck, Riverdale, Featherbed Lane, Gun Hill Road and Hunt's Point.

A general impression, formed from talking with no less than six motion picture actors and actresses on the eve of their departure for California, is that screen players prefer New York to California.

The tears at leaving the environs of Broadway, however, in some instances suspiciously resembled the crocodile variety. It was revealed that an actress who reluctantly gave up her apartment here when Hollywood called, formerly had a 'vest coast contract,' meaning that her expenses, including rent, were paid as long as she was away from California.

It seems that no show house is really complete without an art display of some kind. Expressionistic paintings, in keeping with the type of plays offered on the stage of the New Playwrights Theatre, are hung in the theater's balcony.

'Meet me at lunch' is a hear slogan that convinces many visitors New Yorkers either have no homes or never stay in them. By one explanation is the small size of most apartments, and the other is that many New Yorkers live miles out of town, in the suburbs.

Two French Deserters of the World War have been living for twelve years in the forest caves of the wooded mountains. They returned to their native village, Vullens, and are facing a court-martial.

Have You Heard This One?

Love's Labor Lost.

A short time ago, in Richmond county, Ga., a negro and his wife were brought before a magistrate on a charge of fighting. The magistrate, desiring to act as peacemaker, said to the woman: 'Mandy, you should not lose your temper and beat Mose every time he does something you do not like. You should try heaping coals of fire on his head.'

'Well, judge,' responded the woman, 'I ain't never tried dat, but I did lam him on de head with a red-hot skillet, but it didn't do a particle ob good.'

Frank—I don't see how you can tell those Smith twins apart. Hank—That's easy. Mabel always blushes when she sees me.

Schram, the artist—I'm wedded to my art. Critic—Apparently a secret marriage.

Joe—Hello, Elmer, how's every body at your house? Elmer—We've had a little sickness. Little Robert fell and hurt his head and the doctor had to come every day for a week.

Joe—That's too bad. Is he seriously ill? Elmer—Oh, Robert is all right. But the shock of seeing him fall put my wife to bed with a severe nervous attack.

The young husband was anxiously awaiting news of the birth of his first child. He was pacing up and down the hall when the doctor came out and told him to control himself or else take a walk around the block.

'But I tell you I'm scared to death,' protested the young man. 'You needn't be,' replied the doctor. 'I've brought more than 2,000 babies into the world and I haven't lost a factor yet.'

The Way It Went. 'You remember that watch I lost five years ago?' said Twitter. 'Yes,' said his friend. 'You remember how I looked high and low for it? Well, yesterday I put on a vest I had not worn for years, and what do you think I found in the pocket?'

'Your watch—splendid!' 'No; I found the hole it must have dropped through.'
