PLANS PERFECTED FOR CAMPAIGN TO AID FLOOD PEOPLE

Clothing to Be Sent to Old Browns-Cannon Stand Saturday, Monday and Tuesday For Shipment.

Plans were completed Thursday night for the drive to be made here for clothing for the flood sufferers.

Meeting in the Legion club rooms representatives of various civic organizations in the city pledged their support to the movement and heard an outline of the plans for the drive as mapped out by Mrs. John A. Porter, head of the American Legion Auxiliary.

It is the purpose of Mrs. Porter and her aides, to send the first box of clothing not later than Monday, others to follow as the goods are received. The clothing will be listed as it is packed and the various boxes, it is presumed, will be sent to those points where the different kinds of clothing are most needed. Shipping instructions have not yet been received, but Mrs. Porter will report to the State Auxiliary Secretary as rapidly as the boxes are filled, and from the secretary expects to get shipping directions.

The rooms formerly occupied by the Browns-Cannon Co., have been secured, it was stated, and persons are asked to send their bundles and packages there beginning tomorrow, Saturday morning, at 9 o'clock. Members of the Auxiliary will be at the rooms all-day Saturday, Monday and Tuesday to receive and sort the clothing.

The rooms were secured through the courtesy of S. L. Brown, former manager of the company which still has possession of the rooms.

Fred Shepherd, superintendent of the Cannon Mills here, has agreed to furnish all boxes needed for the clothing. Mrs. Porter reported, and he will see that the boxes are properly constructed, sealed and sent to the express office.

Main recent orders issued by the main offices of the company, the Southeastern Express Co. will carry free of express duty, all packages of goods for the refugees.

W. M. Sherrill, commander of the local Legion post, advised Mrs. Porter that members of his post would be at her services Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. Several of the members with cars will be used to collect bundles which owners cannot send in.

"I hope there will be little for these men to do," Mrs. Porter stated. "I feel certain that most people can send in their packages, realizing that by so doing they can facilitate our work. However, those persons who find they cannot possibly send in their goods are asked to notify Mrs. J. P. Cook, phone No. 23W, and she will notify in turn the Legionnaires, who will call for the goods."

Hundreds of persons in the flood area are without proper and sufficient clothing, Mrs. Porter explained, and with the public too, to make their donations as generous as possible.

"I felt that I could not undertake this task when it was first presented," she told the representatives at the conference. "but knowing full well the generous heart of Concord and the willingness of our people to co-operate in all good works, I accepted the responsibility, part of which I ask you now to share."

"Please make the appeal as strong as possible and see to it that the necessity of the clothing is stressed. These people in the flooded area are without many of the necessities of life; they are badly clothed and in many instances are without any change of clothing at all. Certainly we can do no less for charity's sake than to share with them the good fortune which has been ours."

It is hoped that one or two boxes can be filled from goods sent in tomorrow, Saturday, and that these boxes can be expressed not later than tomorrow night or Monday morning. The goods will be received through Tuesday, and the last shipment, under present plans, will be made Wednesday.

ANNOUNCEMENTS MADE ON ESSAY SUBJECTS FOR BETTER HOMES

Committee on Better Homes Campaign Prepares List of Books to Aid Those Entering Contest in County.

The committee in charge of the "Better Homes" campaign has selected the following topics for an essay contest. Any one entering the contest may select any topic that appeals best to their taste. The contest is open to any one that is a resident of Cabarrus county. The articles are limited to a maximum of 2,500 words and are expected to be legibly written on typewritten paper.

Seven valuable prizes will be given—first, second and third to those persons not over 20 years of age; first, second and third to those persons over 20 years of age; and a special prize to those selecting the essay "The Influence of Good Music and Books in a Home." The prizes will be placed in some window down town at an early date. These papers must be in the hands of the home demonstration agent not later than May 23rd.

First—What Makes a Home?
Second—The Parents' Duty and the Child's Rights.
Third—The Influence of Good Music and Books in a Home. Give a list of 25 books that would form a nucleus for a home library:
Books for children, religious books, reference books, fiction, miscellaneous.
Fourth—The Effect of Religious and Educational Institutions on the Home.
Fifth—Interior Decorations and Furnishings: living room, dining room, bedroom.
Sixth—A Model Kitchen (with floor plans).
Seventh—Hygiene and Sanitation in the Home.
Eighth—How to Beautify the Grounds.
Ninth—Home Gardening.
Tenth—The Value of a Well Balanced Diet to Health.
Eleventh—Select a person, then plan his or her wardrobe for a year not using more than 15 per cent. of income.
Twelfth—The necessity of a household budget and how to plan it.
Thirteenth—How to choose a vocation.
Fourth—Recreation for the family, and the value of an avocation.
Fifteenth—How a country boy or girl can go to college.

The following is a list of books that may be gotten from the library which might be helpful in writing some of these essays:

Increasing Home Efficiency by Bruere; The Charm of Fine Manners by Starrett; Care and Feeding of Southern Babies by Wilson; Food and Health by Kenne and Cooley; Stories to Tell Children by Bryant; Food Its Composition, Preparation, Combination and Effect by Tilden; Food Its Influence as a Factor in Disease and Health by Tilden; The Pupil and Teacher by Weigle; The Meaning of Prayer by Fosdick; Springs in the Desert by Doran; Realities and Shams by Jacks; University Sermons by Coffin; The Birth of the Bible by Heysaham; The Influence of the Bible by Tiplady; God Our Contemporary by Jowett; The Job of Being a Dad by Cheley; How to Teach Religion by Betts; Life in the Heights by Jowett; The Adult Worker in His Work by Barkley; The Character of the Paul by Jefferson; The Young Man's Affairs by Brown; He Can Who Thinks He Can by Marden; The Story of Music by Henderson; The History of the Opera by Eson; Art in Everyday Life by Goldstein; Interior Decoration by Jakway; Housewifery by Balderston; Feeding the Family by Rose; Furnishing the Little Home by Seal; Chemistry, Food and Nutrition by Sherman.

LECTURE SUBJECTS FOR LECTURES BY DR. MORGAN GIVEN

Eminent English Bible Student and Lecturer Will Begin Lectures at Presbyterian Church July 11th.

The subjects for the series of Bible lectures which will be delivered in Concord during the month of July by Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, world-famous Bible student and lecturer, were announced today by Dr. J. C. Rowan, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, who was largely instrumental in securing Dr. Morgan to deliver the lectures in Concord.

Dr. Morgan, eminent English Bible lecturer, will begin his lectures here Sunday, July 10, at the new First Presbyterian Church. He will preach at both the morning and evening services and will begin his series of lectures Monday afternoon to continue through Friday night.

The following subjects will be used in the afternoon lectures; with the general theme of "The Christ of History":
Monday—The Recorders and Their Records.
Tuesday—Matthew—The King.
Wednesday—Mark—The Servant of the Lord.
Thursday—Luke—The Second Man.
Friday—John—God.
The evening lectures will be on the general theme of "The Bible, Some Reconsiderations":
Monday—The Romance of the Bible.
Tuesday—The Study of the Bible.
Wednesday—The Bible and the Nation.
Thursday—The Bible and the Church.
Friday—The Bible and the Child.

Concord is one of the very few smaller cities of the country that has secured Dr. Morgan for a series of lectures. When he was delivering a series of lectures in Charlotte last fall he was approached on the matter of giving a series of lectures here in Concord but was scheduled for lectures that would take his time for several months, but agreed to give a part of his Summer vacation and come here for one week.

Dr. Morgan will be accompanied to Concord by his daughter and, he has written that he and his daughter are looking forward with pleasure to the week to be spent in the city.

Dr. Morgan will come to the city from Charlotte where he is to give a series of lectures the first week of July.

NAMES OF CONCORD MEN ARE SAID TO HAVE BEEN FORGED

Two Men Held by Charlotte Police Are Alleged to Have Forged the Names of Concord Men.

Two men, who gave their names as Charles Smith and J. D. Ashton, are held by the Charlotte police on the charges of forgery, and several Concord men will charge them with having forged their names to checks, it was said today by G. Ed. Kestler, editor and publisher of the Concord Observer.

Mr. Kestler said that the two men, who claimed to be from Baltimore, Md., and were here in a big automobile, came to the Observer office and represented themselves as representing an advertising agency. "They said that they were going to put on some work for the Charlotte News but that they could do some work here before starting the work of The News. I let them start to work with the agreement that they were not to collect any money from the local people," Mr. Kestler said.

He said that the men brought in about $500 worth of business and at one time he gave them $2 and another time a check for $20. "The check was cashed here and I suppose that is where they secured my signature," Mr. Kestler said.

"The men stayed at a hotel in Charlotte and were here during the day. They went to H. I. Woodhouse, at the Cabarrus Savings Bank, and secured an cashier's check. Later they signed Mr. Woodhouse's name to a $50 check in Charlotte. They also have two checks at the Concord National Bank. E. B. Grady gave me a check for me for $20 and A. F. Thorsell gave them one for me for the same amount and the men signed my name to them and cashed them at the Victory Cafe in Charlotte," said Mr. Kestler.

The men are held in the Charlotte jail and their car, which has a Baltimore, Md. license tag No. 5395, is being held by the police. "There will be at least six cases of forgery against them by Concord people," Mr. Kestler said.

THINKS JUDGE BROWN MENTALLY INCAPABLE

A. D. McLean, His Nephew, Tells of Peculiar Actions While on the Bench.

Washington, N. C., May 12.—A. D. McLean, of this city, a nephew of the late Judge George H. Brown, a friend here for more than an hour. The case to Gov. A. W. McLean's and recognized as one of the leading attorneys of the state, was the principal witness introduced today in the suit which is being held in Superior court here in connection with the efforts of executors to set aside Judge Brown's will. The will, written by the judge three months before his death, left his entire, half million dollar estate to his wife. Other relative filed a caveat because the will was officially probated.

For many years A. D. McLean in his capacity as attorney, has grilled witnesses on the stand. Today, the situation was reversed and he found himself emitting the role of witness while Judge J. S. Manning, one of Mrs. Brown's attorneys, cross examined him for more than an hour. The examination will be concluded tomorrow.

Mr. McLean made an excellent witness for his side, being one of the executors himself, he had taken no part in the actual trial of the case, although he has held frequent conferences with the other attorneys. Summonsed by the stand, he told in full detail his impressions relative to Judge Brown's mental and physical condition during the last few years of the jurist's life.
