"HANDS OFF IN CHINA," IS THEIR DEMAND

The United States' participation with other powers in a show-of-force in China is not going without protest at home. Photo shows a monster demonstration in Union Square, New York which was addressed by labor leaders, Liberals and Chinese notables. "Hands off in China!" was the cry set up at the gathering.

COUNTY HOMES NOT INCLUDED.

In The 15 Cents Levy Limit Fixed For County Expenses.

Tribune Bureau
Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BASKERVILL.

Raleigh, May 12.—Those counties that are struggling along to take care of all their county expenses, including the upkeep of the county home for the poor and infirm, on the 15 cents levy for general county expenses, are being notified today that the funds for the county homes do not need to be included in the 15 cents levy, but that an additional levy, not exceeding 5 cents, may be made for this purpose.

This information is contained in a letter to all the county auditors, from C. M. Johnson, executive secretary of the County Government Advisory Commission, as a result of numerous pleas from various counties, where the commissioners contended that it was impossible to keep their expenditures within the revenue yielded by the 15 cents tax for county purposes. But many of these counties have been including the expenses attendant to the operation of the county poor houses in the amount yielded by the 15 cents tax, and were finding it a hard proposition to make ends meet.

Attention of the county auditors is called to Chapter 24, Section 1927, consolidated statutes, which provides that the boards of county commissioners may levy annually a tax not to exceed 5 cents per $100 valuation, in addition to the regular 15 cents tax for "the purpose of maintaining roads, bridges the upkeep of county homes for the aged and infirm and other similar institutions." The statute further contains a clause "and to supplement the general county fund," but this clause has subsequently been found to be unconstitutional, although the balance of the section was upheld by the Supreme court.

The entire section making this provision was attacked by the Norfolk and Southern Railway, when the commissioner of Pasquotank county levied a rate of 18 cents, 15 cents for the general fund, and 3 cents for construction and maintenance of bridges and county home. The Supreme Court ruled that the extra 3 cents was levied for a special purpose, and hence was valid.

for cotton at present for the farmers to make a fair profit if the present marketing system was changed.

"If Georgia and the South is ever to regain a prosperous condition it will only be by the cotton farmers realizing fair profits on their cotton crops."

"The ultimate consumers of the farmers' cotton are the mills and, they pay today and have been paying year in and year out, a 'premium' above the market prices paid the farmers, of from $15 to $30 and even $100 per bale.

"If the marketing system was corrected, so that the farmer would get a fair division of the price paid by the mills, they would all be solvent farmers today."

"The cotton industry is the only industry that is limited and regulated by the United States law in production and marketing. All the mills in Southern states, under this regulation, buy their cotton at a price, which includes freight to New York. No matter where the farmer is located, his cotton is sold under a 'one price system' delivered to New York and he must pay the freight on every bale, less six per cent for weight of bagging and ties.

"Why not free the cotton farmers from all government interference? Why not free the merchants of all cities in the Southern states and permit them to buy cotton without taxing the farmer with freight to New York when possibly that same cotton is to be used in a mill from the city where it is shipped?"

"Under this law no Southern city can be a delivery point for cotton, except by the consent of the members of the New York Cotton Exchange."

Precis has launched a number of frocks like this, sometimes for day wear and sometimes for evening—and no one could object to the trouser idea when it remains as invisible as this.

NEW USE FOR TELEPHONES

George F. Mitchell, of the United States Department of Agriculture, has invented an attachment which will make a radio set out of an ordinary telephone receiver. When "French" receivers come into vogue here, those now in use might be converted into sets such as shown above.

BLAMED FOR LYNCHING

The Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations are pushing ouster proceedings against these officials because they did not prevent the lynching of John Carter, a negro, accused of assaulting a Little Rock, Ark., woman and her daughter. They are (left to right), Sheriff M. J. Haynie, Police Chief B. C. Rotenberry and Mayor Charles E. Moyer. Carter was hung, his body dragged through the streets and burned in the centre of the negro quarter.

MARKETING SYSTEM IC WRONG, EXPERT STATES

Says Present System Keeps Farmers From Getting Profit on Their Cotton.

Marietta, Ga., May 12.—(INS)—Southern cotton farmers must be freed from government policies and laws at present in force, if they are to ever "come back," according to cotton experts here.

While the program of diversified farming that is now being spread throughout the Southeast will do much to relieve financial conditions, the backbone of southern prosperity is its greatest cash crop, cotton, Martin Amorous, state cotton economist for the state of Georgia said.

Southern mills, and mills all over the country, he said are paying enough
