TOWELERS FIT AND SET FOR THE WEAVERS

Kannapolis Road Club in Davidson For Battle—Big Crowd Expected.

Kannapolis, June 11.—The Kannapolis Towelers are all set for the season this afternoon of Manley Jewell and his Concord Weavers. The game will be played at the new Charles A. Cannon athletic field, beginning at 3:30 o'clock and may have an important bearing on the state semi-pro championship.

Kannapolis won six games from Concord last year while the latter contingent, known as Gibson Mills, edged five victories from the Towelers. On paper this season and ending by the playing of the two teams thus far, Kannapolis has slightly the stronger nine. Concord's infield looks and is the strongest but the Towelers loom bright and loud in the outfield, on the mound and behind the platter. Concord's more dangerous at bat but the Towelers are better and surer fielders. So, write your own ticket. Both clubs are as fit as a fiddle and are raring as the old gray mare to hit it up in a good old fashioned baseball battle, such as only Concord and Kannapolis can present. While the Towelers are battling the Concordians the Kannapolis road club will meet Davidson at Davidson. Clyde Lipe, Louie Fowler, and Julius Efrid, of the Locke Mill team, will covet for the winners of the highways this afternoon and a good fight is expected to come about.

SPORT STATIC

—BY RADIO KING—

Tune In the Eyes For An Earful

Prither, gentle readers, how would some statistics on the Weavers' brilliant victory over Statesville strike your baseball appetite this evening? N. H.—Kannapolis supporters are asked to stand by.

Ending a line of consecutive wins was the feat established by Skipper Lou's team in walloping Statesville. The Hushers had rung up nine straight victories and came to town tonight on stretching the number to ten, but they lacked the punch in their hustle in the pinches and fell by the wayside under a barrage of Concord bingles.

Here's the statistics: First hits: Daugherty, Concord; Meadows (Statesville); First double, Gilbert (Statesville); First home run, Daugherty, (Concord).

Scoring first tally, Greason (Concord), marching home from third on Daugherty's homer over the left field wall in the first inning.

First sacrifice, Basinger (Concord); Greason advanced two bases on the play in his swift, elusive base-running.

First Concord player to reach first, Hord; he was given a pass to the base when hit by a pitched ball.

First strikeout, Miller (Concord); Ball (Statesville).

First double play, Meadows to Gilbert, second inning (Statesville); Hord to Daugherty to Lewellyn, third inning (Concord).

Hits given up by Bartel (Concord) 8; by McLaughlin, 12 (Statesville). Home runs, Daugherty, Lewellyn and Outen (Concord).

Concord's dozen hits netted twenty bases, while Statesville's nine bingles tallied only ten bases.

Outen was the only man who was given a base on balls during the game.

First stolen base, Greason (Concord).

Leading hitters: Concord—Daugherty .677; Outen .677; Hord .677; Hovis .500; Lewellyn .500; Statesville—Meadows .500; Dewalt .500.

Every man on the Concord team with the exception of four collected a hit in the opening game.

Scoring most runs: Daugherty, two, (Concord).

Concord led the field in almost every phase of the battle. It is nothing less than remarkable that the Concord players, several of whom had to be introduced to each other for the first time a few minutes prior to the game, should work so smoothly as the team did in placing Statesville on the toboggan. And speaking optimistically, we wonder what kind of victories the boys will pile up when they have worked together for a while.

Manager Lewellyn is well pleased with his team, and the Concord fans are even more enthusiastic. With Hovis and Outen, two of North Carolina State's best players, working in the outfield, an infield second to none in the amateur class, Concord has one of the best ball clubs in its history. Probably the weak spot of the locals is the pitching staff, but Lou is keeping his eyes open for the right men.

Renewing rivalry after a year's time, the Weavers and Kannapolis Towelers clash this afternoon. Ball games between these two clubs attract more people from Concord and Kannapolis than a free exhibition of Barnum-Bingling circus.

When Concord suspends business for the observance of Fourth of July, the fans will have some amusement here in the morning as the Weavers battle Hickory. In the afternoon the local club journeys to Hickory for an exhibition. Many fans here will likely see both ordeals.

See you at Sunday School!

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

George Crosbie, editor of the Cork (Ireland) Evening Echo, says: That every civilized country, at the moment, is suffering from a lack of dwelling houses.

With all the progress science has made, to erect a habitation today, no matter how modest, involves a very considerable outlay of capital. So far no reasonable scheme has been suggested for urban dwellers, but I thought people living in places where sites are cheap but labor scarce may be interested to hear how the housing problem was dealt with to some extent in our Irish congested districts.

Quite a number of years ago I was fishing on a Kerry lake and observed a very pretty cottage—the only habitation in sight—on the northern bank. I went there for tea, and on closer inspection I found the exterior a substantially built dwelling and a very effective addition to the landscape. The interior was rather disappointing. I learned from the owner that he was a small farmer on a famous estate which had been cleared not only of people but of houses in the eighties. Some fifteen years after eviction he was restored to his holding and the board of public works supplied him with 30 pounds worth of building material. This was to be repaid at the rate of some 3 or 4 per cent a year for 68 years, which would then extinguish both principal and interest. With this help and by his own labor he erected his tiny castle.

It occurred to me that if this excellent plan were adopted generally by governments or local ladies it might help materially to lessen one of the causes that render in all communities country life so unattractive.

Weekly Cotton Review. New York, June 10.—The rather reactionary tendencies which developed in the cotton market after the advance of late last month were promoted by improving weather accounts from the south but after showing declines of about 90 points from the best on Monday, prices turned firmer on covering and rebuying. The latter was stimulated by apprehensions that the usual June rise in the Mississippi valley rivers swollen by recent rains would result in the reflooding of some land from which previous flood waters had subsided, and also by reports that the showers or rains reported in west Texas had been insufficient. As prices worked higher, the buying movement broadened with a considerable fresh demand reported for both trade and speculative account, and the market was active toward the end of the week with new high records established for the season on the new crop positions.

October contracts which had sold up to 17.25 on June 1 and down to 16.41 on the decline at the beginning of this week, advanced to 17.45 this morning, making a recovery of more than a cent a pound in about four days of trading. As the price approached the 17-1/2 cent level for this position realizing developed and there was moderate reactions with some falling off in the volume of business. Figures have been published indicating that unfilled orders for standard cotton cloth on hand at the end of May were equal to about 10 weeks' production at the May rate of output which would naturally suggest a continued large domestic mill consumption. Exports have now crossed the 10-1/2 million mark, leading to predictions that the movement for the season will probably reach or exceed 11,000,000 bales.

Bradstreet's Trade Review. New York, June 10.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: With a turn for the better in several areas, the crop and retail trade situation has measurably improved, but crops and trade show great irregularities, with some crops, as for instance, corn, later in some states than for nearly a quarter of a century past, and the winter wheat prospect is for a crop 90,000,000 bushels, or 14 per cent below a year ago.

Eastern and far western markets seem relatively best reports as to trade and in crops, the smaller grains, especially wheat, and hay, present the best reports. Industry has tended to quiet, notable in this respect being iron and steel after a close-to-record five months; the automobile industry, which reflects shutdowns for changes in models, and the furniture manufacturing trade, in textiles, cotton goods manufacturing sends by far the best reports, although rayon is active, and takings of silk are of record size for the elapsed portion of the year, although reports are conflicting in different centers, partly because of the lower prices for the raw material and finished goods. Weekly bank clearings: $10,665,380,000.

Five-Year-Old Edna—Muvver's got a headache. Poor old Muvver! Mother—You mustn't call your mother old, dear. Edna—I don't mean you're really old, Muvver, but I've known you such a long time.

"Tired of walking, little girl?" asked the bright college lad, as he raced up in his big car. "I sure am," replied the object of his question.

"Then run a while," said the bright lad, as he raced away in his big car.

They sat silently for a long time; then he spoke a little nervously. "What are you thinking about?" he asked. He knew he had to say something.

She blushed and moved uneasily in her chair. "Never mind," she answered sharply. "It's your business to propose, not mine!"

SLAYER ELUDES ARMED PURSUIT

Rutherford and Polk County Officers in Vain Hunt For Clarence Ruff.

Rutherford, June 10.—Clarence Ruff, wanted here for the killing of Jack H. Davis at Chimney Rock yesterday, was still at large tonight. Sheriff Hardin and a corps of officers from Rutherford and Polk counties searched all night for him. He is hiding in the mountains between Mill Spring and Chimney Rock, officers think. Every possible effort is being made to capture Ruff.

The body of Davis left here this afternoon via rail for Jamesville, where it will be buried Sunday afternoon. Davis was 33 years of age and leaves a wife, two children, one brother and three sisters.

Foot Freeze in Snow Shoes On Hot July Day.

Snow scenes—and a heavy overcoat, sometimes mean a feeling almost akin to heat prostration.

This is the experience of Owen Moore, Marion Davies' leading man in her new Cosmopolitan vehicle "The Red Mill" coming to the Concord Theatre Monday and Tuesday. Owen had to traipse through snow, and over a frozen canal—which naturally called for an overcoat and muffler.

But—it happened on a hot July day at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, when these scenes of "The Red Mill" were filmed.

The canal of the Dutch village erected at the studios was real ice—kept frozen by pipes connected to an ice-machine, and the snow was cold—but the day was warm. Owen didn't have any freezing pipes under his overcoat.

"It's a funny feeling—feet cold as the dickens on the ice and the rest of me sweltering under an overcoat," he said. "I was afraid I'd catch cold from cold feet while the rest of me felt like a Turkish bath."

The frozen canal is one of the most extensive bits of studio engineering ever attempted in a studio. Several acres of ice and snow were reproduced for the picture.

"The Red Mill" is a story of Holland adapted from the stage success of the same name. Besides Miss Davies and Moore the cast includes George Siegman, Louise Fazenda, Karl Dane, Snitz Edwards, Fred Gambold, Russell Powell, William Orlamond and others of note.
