

ACHED ALL 'OVER

Was Suffering Dreadfully, Just "Wasting Away," Took Cardui, and Says It Helped Her.

Arlington, Texas.—A resident of this town for many years, Mrs. J. H. Jackson, says: "I had suffered dreadfully with an aching all over my body. At times my head would give me so much trouble I could hardly stand it. I had been in bed for weeks and it looked like I was just wasting away. I took 9 bottles of Cardui and my strength began to slowly return. Since that time I have used this medicine a good many times and it has always helped me."

"At one time I took Cardui for several months regularly. I would be afflicted with sudden spells of business when I could not stand on my feet. Everything would turn black before my eyes and I would feel as if I were going to faint. At times I would be quite nauseated. I turned at once to Cardui and took it till I was safely through."

Cardui is a mild, medicinal tonic made from purely vegetable ingredients. It has been in use for over 50 years, and in that time thousands of women have written that Cardui helped them back to good health.

MILLS RUNNING AT FULL BLAST

250 Textile Magnates Gather for Summer Convention in Asheville. Asheville, June 17.—With cotton mill magnates from all parts of the South reporting full-time operation of plants that were running on half-time or closed entirely two years ago, optimism dominated the summer convention of the Southern Textile Association, formally opened here today.

Prospects for continued prosperity were stressed in the opening address of W. H. Gibson, the association's president. One of the chief reasons for optimism, he said, is the good prospect before the farmers. He said that cotton manufacturers are pleased when the cotton market is stiff, since a good price for cotton means a good market for the manufactured product.

Don't Forget Father's Day. New York, June 18.—Tomorrow will be observed as Father's Day. The third Sunday in June has been set apart as Father's Day in different sections of the country since 1910, when the first observance of the kind was held at Spokane. Since then, with strong support from the newspaper and slipper manufacturers, the idea has developed rapidly. The official flower of the day is the dandelion, which was selected originally by the members of the Martin W. Callender, Bib's class of Wilkesburg, Pa. They picked the dandelion because the more it is trampled on the better it grows.

"I'm so sorry to learn that you have buried your uncle." "I had to. He was dead."

- A Young Old Man. The Pathfinder. Elbert H. Gary, who recently passed life's 80th milestone, denies rumors that he intends to retire. He is still active enough in mind and body to be entrusted with what the business world considers to be the "biggest job in America," namely—the chairmanship of the steel corporation.
- This corporate empire is greater in income, resources and area than the average European nation. It sends its own industrial envoys to 60 countries. It does an annual business of nearly $1,500,000,000 a year. It employs more men than our army and navy combined. On it 1,500,000 persons depend for support. It runs a fleet of more than 100 ocean steamers. Its rail system, if straightened out, would stretch from coast to coast.
- "Judge" Gary—he was a former Illinois county judge—has done more than any other man, perhaps, to reconcile "big business" and the public. Some years ago he roundly condemned the high-handed, secretive methods of industrial leaders warning "this must be stopped by the rich themselves or the mob will stop it." He inaugurated the system of monthly financial statements. Mr. Gary is somewhat of an idealist and has had many run-ins with associates because of his "play-fair-with-the-public" policy. In fact, he is credited with reforming the steel trust. He frowns on speculation and claims to never indulge himself. He favors prohibition.
- Born on a farm not far from Chicago, Mr. Gary preferred school to chores and later read law while he taught school. He became the first mayor of Wheaton, Ill. He became interested in the Illinois steel company and in a subsequent merger drew the highest salary then on record—$100,000 a year. Mr. Gary is a blunt but effective public speaker. He is married but has no son to succeed him. There are two daughters, however.

JACKIE COOGAN, 12, PASSES A MILESTONE

Enters New Phase of His Career With Cutting of His Hair: Continues Training.

Jackie Coogan, the "million dollar child star" has passed now in his twelfth year, the first milestone in his phenomenal career. He has emerged from babyhood to boyhood with the shearing of his bobbed hair. Jackie's first appearance sans long hair will be in his latest production, "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut," from a story written especially for him by the late Gerald Beaumont. Master Coogan has eight years of achievement in the motion-picture industry to his credit. His is the only career of his kind on record in theatrical annals and if his new film is any indication of what the future holds, then Jackie Coogan will entertain the public through all the seven ages of man.

From Doug Jackie learned the art of twirling the Australian whip. The elder Coogan has a hard time these days keeping a cigar in his mouth, as Jackie practices cutting the "smokes" in two with a crack of his fifteen foot leather whip.

"Johnny Get Your Hair Cut," Monday and Tuesday at the Concord Theatre, is Master Coogan's latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release. It was made at the famous Tanforan race track in northern California.

Mabel and Ted were going through the museum. Wide-eyed they passed slowly from one glass case to the other reading the inscriptions on them. Finally they came to a case that was unmarked and its contents puzzled them. It was a model street scene, carefully worked out and designed by some plastic artist. It represented a deserted section of city street. "Why dear, what is that anyway?" said Mabel sweetly.

For a moment Ted seemed to be stumped; then he said brightly, "Why dear, that is a parking space!"

Fenner and Beane Cotton Letter. New York, June 17.—Cotton and a fair sized rally at the start today on weevil reports and rains in the east but turned reactionary later. Buying power was noticeably smaller while selling increased in volume considerably. Mr. Hester's week-end figures were favorable but had little effect. The private bureau issued reports showing a condition around 75 or better than last year. The market acts like it will react further, especially if the weather outlook over Sunday is good. FENNER AND BEANE. PENNY ADDS GETS RESULTS.

Not So Good. Prisoner—I'm sorry, your honor, I took the money; but you know the more a man gets the more he wants. Judge—Well, you're getting on years. How much more do you want?
