ROTARY CLUB TO SPONSOR $50,000 B Ashe County's Farm Goals For Year Are Announced

Big Need Is For Other Increases

More Turkeys And Sheep Included In Goals For Year; Improved Practices

Farm goals for Ashe county, now being discussed at the community meetings, include increases in several lines as well as improved practices. These goals, based on the state-wide production plans, call for a big increase in feed for livestock, sheep, turkeys, victory gardens, milk production, poultry and eggs, Roy H. Crouse, county agent, pointed out this week.

In speaking of the needed in-crease in feed, Agent Crouse explained the need of farmers producing all the feed possible instead of having to use large amounts of commercial feed. And n discussing the milk production, in which Ashe county leads all others in the state, he urged that milk production be increased per cow instead of increasing the number of cows. Last year, the county sold 16,384,000 pounds of milk to processing companies. An increase over this is planned for
