[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16th, 1887,-Recognizing that tariff reduction is lmost in vitable, both wings of the Democracy in the House are running race, to see which can first fram bill of this character, while the Re sublicans are warily regarding each side, prepared to take advantage of any legislative complication that may ensue, with the purpose of abandoning heir obstructive policy and passing a sariff measure of their own. I hus, at present, there are no less than three tariff bills in process of incubation. Mr . Randal's heads the hat, upon the presumption that the early bind catches the worm; the great Pensylvania protectionist proposes a reduction of $60,000,000 in the revenue, to be about evenly divided between tariff and internal revenue axation; the Ways and Means Committee will present, with Speaker Carlisle's approval, a bill making a reduction of $30,000,000 in internal taxes and providing for a very large free list; the Republicans xpect to offer a bill enlarging the free list, and removing the internal revenue tax on tobacco. 1 modifying the duty on wool, and also reducing the taxes on whiskey; on the question of sugar there is a decided conflict of pinion. In fact, there sppears to be an irreconciliable difference of views on the tariff issue between the E stern and Western Republicans, the line of lemarkation being quite as preceptiole as in the dominant party. What the result will be it is impossible to say, yet it seems that all the signs of the times are au-picious for tariff re form, for the politicisms see the writ wholly disregard the voice of the people, as proclaimed in the President's

Most of these parennial bills are unspecial consideration, among the number the postal telegraph bill and the proposition to change the date of the March 4, to April 30, the day on which the great Washington assumed the Presidency of the infant Republic. Regarding the former measure, there is much diversity of opinion, and it will probably not be numbered with he laws of the land—the chi-f objecion being that it would so largely in crease the patronage of the Govern ment: it is also urged that such a law would be a long stride toward a more central zed national power. There appears to be lit'le opposition to the latter bill, except that it would needless ly change a custom that has, by long observance, become his to ical, with but slight compensating advantages.
