

The Bagging Trust.

The New York Times of the 27th ult., says: "The Jute Bagging Trust people are evidently intending to run things with a high hand this year. Last year they controlled the product pretty well, but they had neglected to secure all the jute butts in the market and the result was that prices did not go higher than about 12 cents a yard. * * * The people of North Carolina were more bitterly opposed last year to the trust than those of any other State. Several million old bags were sent to North Carolina from New York city alone, one dealer having shipped as many as 500,000 old sugar, grain and potato bags—anything that had weight to it—the producers being willing to pay almost as much for old as for new bagging rather than buy of the trust at its prices.

That is North Carolina style. Our people are slow to move, but the history of their whole past shows that no people are more ready or willing to make sacrifices in resisting what they conceive to be oppression, and none will fight it with more determined stubbornness.

The Bagging Trust is going to try us again. It has control of all the jute butts in Calcutta and in this country and all that are afloat. It has practically the control of the twenty-five bagging mills of this country. So, the only means of thwarting it, is to begin now. Just how it should be done, is not for this paper, nor any of the Alliance people to say, publicly. We may say, however, that steps are being taken by which we think the South can and will be supplied. A most interesting letter from Bro. Clayton, of New Orleans, appears in this paper on this subject. It shows that our people are doing some earnest thinking. Our brethren may rest assured that the officers of the Alliance are not idle. Correspondence is going on that we think will surely deliver us from the grasp of this trust. Meantime, the Progressive Farmer, as it did last season, admonishes every member who produces a bale of cotton to be firm and unyielding. Make no noise about it, indulge in no complaints, keep cool and keep your own counsel and make up your mind not to use a single yard of trust bagging and stand by it. Remember that you can do without bagging as long as the world can do without your cotton.—Progressive Farmer.

Idleness is the beginning of all ills. Do not idle in curing your cough; it may be the beginning of consumption. For such diseases, the only sure cure is Warner's Log Cabin Cough and Consumption Remedy. Price $1.00, and 50 cents a bottle. Try it.

Time Servers.

How many men there are, holding good, paying positions as journeymen, who are really of no value unless kept constantly under the eye of the foreman or their employer! They are simply time servers, who take no interest in the business they represent beyond the actual time necessary to count them a day's work. They work when closely watched because they are obliged to, not from any motive of honor or interest in the business.

What can be expected of such workmen but that they will shirk their work and idle their time at every opportunity?

If you cannot give your employer your full time for which he pays, and take some interest in his business, you had better leave him at once. To this he is entitled, and has a right to expect it of you.

If your mind is not upon your work, you cannot expect to accomplish it with any degree of satisfaction to your employer or credit to yourself.

In going about from one shop to another it is a very easy matter to pick out the time servers. Upon the slightest pretext they drop their work to talk or look about, and are always ready to get out of the door the moment the clock strikes six, and their example is very rapidly followed by the apprentice or younger workmen. They have to be constantly watched, and this fact, being known to the firm, is not long in having its result.

Employers are more generally knowing to the habits and qualities of the men they employ than the men often realize, and they invariably know who are the time servers among them, so that when there comes a convenient opportunity or a lull in business, these are the first to be discharged.

Bacon's Lost Opportunity.

At a dinner held in New York not long ago, the guests fell to discussing the authorship of Shakespeare's plays. Among the guests was an aged Western gentleman, who said very little and listened a great deal. Finally, he was asked what he thought of the question.

"Well," he replied, deliberately "of course I don't know much about it, but if Lord Bacon did not write those plays, he lost the greatest opportunity of his life."

For a wonder, this view of the controversy was received without a dissenting voice.—Harper's.

Young men, don't rely upon your friends. Don't rely upon the name of your ancestors. Thousands have spent the prime of life in the vain hope of those whom they call friends; and thousands have starved because they had a rich father. Rely upon the good name which is made by your own exertions; and know that better than the best friend you can have is unquestionable determination, united with decision of character.—American Art Printer.

A Boy's Logical Argument.

The Up-River News gives the following reminiscence of an incident in an Oldtown lyceum forty years ago, to which all the ministers, doctors and lawyers belonged. One evening capital punishment was the question under discussion and called out the best forces on both sides. During the evening a young boy who had been a constant member, replied to Deacon Rigby upon this question. The deacon was for hanging. The boy opposed. Said the deacon, quoting from the Mosaic law, "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man his blood shall be shed," thinking this to be a bomb shell to his opponents, he dwelt upon it until his time expired, when the boy sprang to his feet and said:

"Supposing we take the law which the gentleman has quoted, and which in a philosophical sense has been abrogated as null and void since the birth of our Saviour, and see what the logical deduction would come to. For example, one man kills another, another man kills him, and so on until we come to the last man on earth. Who's going to kill him? He dare not suicide, for that same law forbids it. Now, deacon," said the boy, "what are you going to do with that last man?"

The boy's logic called out rounds of applause and vanquished the deacon. The boy is now chief justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Melville W. Fuller.—Lewiston Journal.

"Miss Brown would be a charming girl," I heard a young man say, "if she had a good complexion, and those spots would go away; but they spoil her looks completely."

If Miss Brown would only take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery what a happy change 'twould make. It would drive out all the humors from her blood and make it pure, and the blemishes complained of disappear, be very sure.

This medicine is the greatest purifier of the blood, and disfiguring eruptions and blotches will soon vanish when it is used.

One Hundred Dollars Premium!

DUTCHVILLE, Granville County, N. C., March 15, 1889. TO QUINNIPIAC CO., New London, Conn.:

DEAR SIR:—As you desire me to inform you of what success I had last year with PINE ISLAND FERTILIZER on my tobacco crop, I will state that I have been using various brands of fertilizers many years and do not think any of them EQUALLED the PINE ISLAND in making tobacco grow LARGE with FINE TEXTURE, GOOD BODY, and UNIFORM YELLOW COLOR. The quantity used was 120 lbs to the 1000 hills, with an addition of a light stable manure in the drill. The season in this section last year was very unfavorable one for a fine crop. And as an evidence of the GREAT VALUE of PINE ISLAND as a tobacco fertilizer, I will state all of my neighbors used other grades, and their tobacco grew tough, specked, and cured badly, while mine grew SMOOTH, without specks or BURNING of the lower leaves and CURED FINELY. As a proof of the COLOR and QUALITY, I had nearly 100 pounds picked off one barn and sent it to Danville, Va., last November. It was put in class "A," BRIGHT WRAPPERS, and I obtained a premium of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS. I can recommend PINE ISLAND as a SAFE and RELIABLE tobacco fertilizer for farmers to use. Will use it again this year. Yours Truly, DB. W. W. COZART.

Absolutely Free from Adulteration, Unexcelled for Uniformity! Mechanical condition Perfect. STANDARD HIGH PRICES LOW.

[From one of the largest and finest tobacco farmers in N.C.] WINSTEAD, Person County, N. C., March 5, 1889. DEAR SIR:—In answer to your inquiry of recent date, would say I used PINE ISLAND by the side of three other standard brands of fertilizers and found it to be the EQUAL of any of them. While the year 1888 was a bad year to test fertilizers, I made an average crop with PINE ISLAND, and I am of the opinion that PINE ISLAND is a first class fertilizer, and as well suited for raising fine tobacco as any on this market. I will use it this year. Yours Truly, A. J. HESTER.

Grows tobacco large, with fine texture, good body and uniform yellow color. Great crop producer. Start early and stay late. It is lasting in its effect. The standard will be maintained. The record of the past is our pledge for the future. For sale by, A. R. Foushee, Roxboro, N. C.; C. S. Winstead, Winstead, N. C.; A. J. Hester, Winstead, N. C.; W. J. Pulliam, Leasburg, N. C.; J. M. Ladies in Feeble Health From any Cause.

Send at once for a bottle of Fly's Nerve Tonic Pills, as this is mostly guaranteed to cure you, as it has been prepared by leading physicians of the United States for more than a quarter of a century, but as our space is limited, we can only name a few of the many diseases for which it has been successfully used, among which are Headache, Neuralgia, Convulsions or fits, Constipation, Kidney troubles, Corea, Neuralgia of the Stomach and Bowels, and is a specific for Neuralgia of the Womb and its appendages and all diseases resulting from a want of sufficient nerve force, thoroughly regulating all the functions of the womb. And more especially the reproductive organs of both sexes, enabling young girls to safely pass the critical change from girlhood to womanhood. Correcting all menstrual irregularities and displacements of the womb, thereby conducting her through the important period of child-bearing, relieving her of many of the pains and anxiety incident thereto—through the menopause or "change of life," to a hale, healthy, vigorous and enjoyable old age. It relieves the sickness of pregnancy and promotes a speedy recovery from confinement. It purifies the blood, builds up the system and imparts vigor as if by magic to the whole body, clearing the skin of dark or brown blotches on the face of ladies suffering from some form of menstrual derangement.

It is not only a most invaluable remedy for female diseases, as above stated, but is peculiarly adapted to some diseases of men, such as Spermatorrhoea, loss of nerve power, premature old age, and want of nerve vigor peculiar to professional men. Can be taken with benefit and perfect safety at all times. Each bottle contains one month's treatment. Price $1.00 per bottle. Sent by mail on receipt of price.
