R. W. Winston, Esq., for Judge.
 It gives the COURIER great pleasure to support Mr. R. W. Winston for judge of this District. We support him because he has passed through the crucible of defeat and has been found firm. We support him because he is and ever has been true to Democracy—never bolting over in county elections.

As the friend of Capt. S. B. Alexander, Mr. Winston nominated him for governor in 1888, and his conduct since has endeared him to the masses of the people. We support him because we believe the people want him.

We heartily endorse the following from the Oxford Day, published under the head of "Granville's Choice":
 R. W. Winston, Esq., a most prominent candidate for Judge from the Fifth Judicial District, being in the thirtieth year of his age, is full of zeal, energy and ability as a lawyer. At eighteen years of age he was thrown on his own resources by the failure of his father's health and fortune, but he was not thereby discouraged. His spirited nature disdaining to be idle, he taught school during the day and studied law during the night for two years. Since his admission to the bar some ten years ago, he has practiced his profession exclusively. As a lawyer his career has been one of unusual success. In the last five years he has appeared in nearly every important suit in Granville county, and has secured a lucrative practice in the Fifth and Third Judicial Districts.

In 1882 he was chairman of the Democratic executive committee of the county, and discharged the duties of the same with great efficiency. In 1885 he was triumphantly elected to the Senate. In 1887 he was chosen a member of the Democratic State Central Committee, and is now an active worker in the county committee. In every campaign since he was twenty years old he has closed his office and fought valiantly the battles of Democracy. It was much due to the vigor of his blows and the strategy displayed by him in conjunction with others that Granville county has been partially redeemed from Republicanism. Thus it is seen that he has been a worker in the ranks.

In 1886, at the convention in Durham, he came within less than a vote of being nominated for solicitor. The delegates then present will recall the stirring scenes of that occasion. Hundreds of voices cried for a new ballot, and many thought that Mr. Winston was nominated. A friend going to the hotel acquainted Mr. Winston with the situation, and amidst the constrained hush of pent up excitement, in a ringing voice and with fervent eloquence, he announced that "Principles live when men are dead" and for the sake of good government and Democracy he withdrew his name in favor of his more fortunate competitor. Cheer after cheer rent the house, and eager hands congratulated him on his unselfish act, and many people spoke from the heart when saying, "Some of us opposed you today, but we are for you hereafter."

When Judge Gilmer resigned, the name of R. W. Winston was presented to the Governor for appointment as his successor, with an array of endorsements from the bench, bar and other citizens such as has rarely been received by any other man.

Mr. Winston is a most diligent student of the law. He has a valuable and extensive law library, and is abreast with the times. In 1888 he associated with himself in the practice A. W. Graham, Esq., of Hillsboro. By nature he is endowed with a superior talent and fondness for law, which has been sedulously cultivated; the fruit of which is that he takes rank in the profession as one of the ablest and best equipped of the lawyers of the State of his age. Such is the man that Granville county asks her sister counties to assist in naming as the next Judge of the Fifth District. It is confidently expected that if elected to the bench he will rival Clark, Shepherd or McRae in an intelligent and comprehensive dispatch of business, and earn for himself an enviable fame as a just, firm, patient and intelligent judge.

Candidates For Congress.
 The Democratic Congressional Convention has been called to meet in Greensboro the 9th of July. We feel an intense interest in the choice of candidates it will make. Farmers and the people generally are much more interested in a speedy and considerable reform of National affairs than of State policy. The finances of the State are managed with honesty and skill and the relief that is sought from the present financial depression must be sought from National legislation. There is on this account among the voters of all classes and especially of that largest class, the farmers, a disposition to have men represent them in Congress who shall really represent them and their interests. Without making any attempt to play the demagogue we are frank to say that the farmers' interests deserve to be represented and their wishes to be consulted; and this general remark, which every one agrees to, may be made specific by saying that the farmers' wishes ought to have weight in every Congressional Convention this year. If the Democratic party is to succeed—and it must succeed—it must have the support of the influence, the character, and the number of the agriculturists in the Farmers' Alliance. This being so—the power of the organization being recognized in the elections to be held, it is certainly but just that its expressed wishes should have influence in the nominations that are to be made. Not only is any other course unjust but it is a lack of policy that the Democratic party can't afford to show. As we have said Democratic success if it comes at all must come from the sturdy, hard-working, thrifty farmers—the very men that make up the Farmers' Alliance, and while the Democracy of such men is strong indeed it is not sound policy to be forever putting it to the test.

Now, in the opinion of the Alliance, whether well founded or not, that the present National Banking system is largely responsible for the scarcity of money that is so burdensome to the agricultural interests of the State. Farmers' Alliance organs have had leading editorials, and their speakers have made addresses to show that the National Banks constitute a monopoly that is as dangerous as it is strong, and having had a law passed to forbid State banks to issue money, that they now enjoy the unlimited favoritism of the National government to the detriment and even to the destruction of other interests. It requires more space than we have, to discuss whether or not the organs and speakers and members of the Farmers' Alliance are correct about this or not. The question don't need to be discussed. It is true, unquestionably true, that we have correctly given the views, the declarations of a majority of the farmers in the State. It is just as unquestionably true that these views from the character and number of men that hold them, are entitled to respect and consideration. In view of this, the question arises, is it wise for the party to nominate in any district of the State a candidate for Congress identified with or interested in, a National Bank. For a judicial or State legislative honor there is nothing that may bring about a conflict of duties, but with a candidate for Congress interested in a National Bank, we think an Alliance man would naturally ask the question: If he is elected will not his own interests, and his duty to himself conflict dangerously with my interests and his duty to his constituents? And if a farmer himself asks the question, strong indeed must be his Democracy if it don't waver a little. He will vote for the nominee, but can his enthusiasm be as great as it otherwise would be? We hold this to be true wherever the Farmers' Alliance includes, as it does here, the strength and stamina of the Democratic party; that whenever there are two candidates for Congressional honors, equally capable, equally honest, and equally popular, and one of them interested in or identified, either nominally or by his pecuniary interests, with a National Bank, it would be an almost original disregard of policy to nominate that one so interested or identified.

We don't know how it may be in other Districts of the State, but in this, the 5th District, there can be no trouble for the Democratic Convention. That Hon. A. H. A. Williams, of Granville, is as capable, as honest and as popular as any aspirant, no one will deny. Wherever he is known he is a favorite, and if nominated he will assuredly be known all over the District. Aggressive, whole souled, with the most scrupulous talent—if the expressive slang may be pardoned—of always "getting there," he would make a fight strong and successful. And he has no interest that can make him distasteful to any class of voters, nor derogate in the performance of any duty as a Congressman. He has no interest in a National Bank.

Danville's Railroad Facilities to be Increased.
 The people of Danville, Va., have during the last week been right well exercised on the railroad question. It has come to light that the Richmond & Danville road has secured a majority of the stock in the Danville & New River Railroad, and that they have an option on Danville's preferred stock in the same. What they intend to do with the road is a question yet undetermined, but it is thought most probable that they will widen the gauge about Cascade, then take the N. C. Midland route to Winston via Madison, then to Walkersboro and Bristol. By such a route, the R. & D. will get a road that will be a great coal road, and will put them in sharp competition with the Norfolk & Western Railroad. The Danville & East Tennessee people say they will go west in spite of everything. So Danville is in luck, and may expect her railroad facilities to be much increased in the early future.—Milton Advertiser.

The First Step.
 Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step to Nervous Prostration. You need a Nervous Tonic and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this Great Nervous Tonic and Alternative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored, and the Liver and Kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 50c. at R. A. Martin & Co's and J. D. Morris & Co's Drug Stores.

Preparing for the Fourth.
 Several of our North Carolina cities—Raleigh, Winston, Hickory, Monrovia and other places—are preparing to celebrate the coming Fourth of July with spirit. This is right and proper. I am particularly proud of the country has a special claim on that day, it is the South. If it hadn't been for the South, there wouldn't have been much Fourth of July to celebrate. Such celebrations, conducted in the right way, as they always are by our people, do us good influence, and stir the South to pride and pride of country.—Wilmington Star.

They Generally Submit.
 The Newton Grove correspondent of the Clinton Gazette says: "I walked up to one of my neighbors the other day and saw the old woman was plowing the old man. I was surprised, knowing he had a good mare, but I soon saw the cause. The mare had a fine colt, and he told the old woman it would never do for the plow to stop, so she hitched him in; he is very tractable, and works well. He is a noble old horse; he is six feet and four inches, the father of thirteen children. I think he has consorted that he is one of the old patriarchs and submits to most anything."

Democratic Conventions.
 The Democratic State Executive Committee met in Raleigh last week and elected Mr. E. C. Smith, of Raleigh, to fill the place of Judge Spier Whittaker, resigned. They decided to have a short but vigorous campaign, therefore the State Convention was called to meet August 20th.

The Judicial Convention for the 5th District will meet in Greensboro, July 8th.
 The Congressional Convention for this District will meet in Greensboro, July 9th.
 Our County Convention to appoint delegates to the above Conventions, will meet in the court house at Roxboro, on Monday, June 30th.
 The Township Conventions will be held on Saturday, June 28th.
 It is earnestly desired that the Democrats turn out and each township be fully represented. The delegates going to the Judicial Convention, will have to leave here Monday evening, July 7th.

A Pretty Good Tale.
 The Pittsboro Record is responsible for this tale: "Did you ever hear of a cat catching chickens? Well, such a strange event has recently occurred in Chatham. A few weeks ago the wife of Mr. Matthew Seymour, of New Hope township, placed some eggs in a basket, and soon afterwards noticed that the cat had done so, and she continued to do so every day after that, until at last a chicken was hatched from every egg, eleven in number."
