THE REVENUE ACT. Proceedings Will be Commenced in Rowan County to Declare the Act a Nullity. Chatting with a News and Observer reporter, Mr. Theo. F. Klattz said: "My attention was first called to the matter by the pamphlet copy of the revenue and machinery acts sent out by the State Treasurer, in which they were printed as separate acts, the machinery act having a clause of ratification and the revenue act having no such clause."

FORCE EXERTED BY THE HUMAN JAWS. Dr. G. V. Black, a dentist of Jacksonville, Fla., has made some interesting experiments upon the force exerted by the human jaws in the ordinary mastication of food; and also the greatest force which the jaws are capable of exerting. By means of a spring instrument provided with a registering device he took records of about 150 "bites" of different persons. Of these, fifty have been preserved as characteristic of the ordinary man, woman and child.

Not in the Act. Secretary of State Coke has sent to the Public Printers at Winston, copy for a circular, which, with the gracious permission of J. C. and M. I. Stewart, he will issue to all those who have in their possession copies of the Public Laws of 1895. Ten thousand of these circulars have been ordered. It comes under the head of "Errata," and is an appendix to the laws. The circular states that the ratification of the Revenue Law in the Acts of 1895, chapter 116, is an error; that the bill has never been ratified.

What a Bachelor Thinks. Man that is married to woman is of many days and is full of trouble. In the morning he draws his salary, and in the evening, behold, it is all gone. It goeth, but he knows not where. He spendeth shekels in the purchase of fine linen to cover the bosom of his family, yet he is seen at the gates of the city with but one suspender. He goeth forth as an ox or ass and draweth the chariot of his offspring. He rises, clad in the chilly garments of the night, and seeketh the somnolent pungent paregoric which heathen the colicky stomach of his offspring. Yea, life is altogether wretched and full of misery.

United States Senator A. C. Bacon has tendered the Board of Women Managers of the Cotton States and International Exposition the use of a beautiful lot on Peachtree street, near the corner of Wilson avenue, for the erection of a hotel, intended for the accommodation of women, and to be conducted by the women of the Exposition Board. The lot is within convenient distance of the main entrance to the Exposition, and has a delightfully cool and pleasant location.

McClure's Magazine for July. Most readers will be surprised, as one may from an excellent illustrated article in McClure's Magazine for July, how the telegraph has now crept into the cranial cells of the earth and is transmitting its hundreds of millions of messages a year at a constantly lessening cost in money and trouble to the public. The same number contains a dramatic chapter from the history of Tammany—the autocratic reign of Tweed, with all its barbaric and illicite splendors, splendors maintained by the theft of untold millions of public money. An article by Sir Robert Hall, Professor of Astronomy in the University of Cambridge, England, shows that recent scientific discoveries tend to support the theory that other planets, as well as the earth, maintain life. Hamlin Garland describes the home and studio life of Edward Keyms, and relates, mainly in Mr. Keyms's own words, how, without instruction and under the irresistible urgency of natural bent, he became a sculptor of frontier life and wild animals. Portraits of Keyms and reproductions of his chief sculptures illustrate the paper. Cy Warman, the poet engineer, describes a ride on the locomotive of a London and Paris express. Cleveland Moffett supplies, from the Pinkerton archives, a history of the stealing of an express parcel containing $41,000, and of the discovery of the thief and the recovery of most of the money after years of search and pursuit. A poem addressed by Edmund Gosse to Robert Louis Stevenson, which reached Stevenson but a day or two before his death; Stevenson's rare address to the Samoan chiefs who built him a road, and his will; and several excellent short stories, among them one by "Q" and one by Stanley J. Weismann—are the other noteworthy features of the number. The publishers announce with this number a reduction of price to ten cents a copy, or one dollar a year.

Attacked by Moonshiners. WILKESBORO, N. C., July 10.—Revenue office Dancy was attacked in this county one night last week by three men, who pulled him from his horse, and two held him while the other stamped him with both feet. In the meantime Dancy got his hands on his pistol and shot one of them through the shoulder blade, and immediately the other two took to their heels. Upon the wounded man attempting to run Dancy was about to shoot him again but the man exclaimed, "For God's sake don't shoot, you've nearly killed me already." They had a grudge against Dancy as he was leading the company when young Hayes was shot in Mulberry township a few weeks ago.

He Killed His Wife. ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 11.—A special to the Citizen from Canton says: Will Wilkinson, of Asheville, was driving with the wife of Attorney Jennis near her home west of Murphy late last night when Jennis who had driven from Murphy nearly home and had hid by the roadside, fired at Wilkinson and killed his wife. Wilkinson passed Murphy and boarded the train but was arrested and jailed at Bryson City. Jennis fled and has not been seen since. Jennis' family came from New York and had been living near Murphy for a few years.

Says the Southern Doesn't Want It. NEW YORK, July 11.—President Samuel Spencer, of the Southern Railway Company, stated to-day, regarding the rumor that the Southern is negotiating for the control of the Macon and Northern Railroad, that there is no foundation in the statement that the Southern desired the control of the Macon and Northern, as the road is not a natural or convenient connection for the Southern.

The Wilkesboro Chronicle says:—"Rev. Jesse Prevette was buried at Smith's Chapel, in Fredell county, at the Wilkes line, on last Sunday. It was rather a peculiar burial. There was no grave, but the coffin was placed on top of the ground and an arch of brick built over it. His body was placed as near as possible to the pulpit part of the church. All this was done by his request, which he made a short while before he died."

The Executive Committee of the Cotton States and International Exposition has ordered an annex of 35,000 feet to the Transportation Building in order to accommodate the exhibits of locomotives and trains.

She Worried Him. The grocer's new boy threw his delivery basket down in the corner with an injured air and remarked that the woman who had just moved into No. 37, around the corner, was a regular crank. "How do you mean?" asked the grocer. "First thing she asked me," said the boy, "was whether we had any nice, fresh eggs. They must be very, very fresh, she said, because she wanted 'em to put in cake. 'I told her eggs were doubtful this hot weather, but we had some very, very fresh egg plants, and how would they do?' 'She said they wouldn't do at all; and then she asked me if we had any corn that was as green as I was, and the ears as well developed as mine.' 'I said, 'Yes'm.' 'Well,' she says, 'I want some for dinner, so bring half a dozen as soon as you can.' 'As soon as we can,' says I. 'Do you want it canned?' 'She said she did not want it canned. Then she began to ask about watermelons. Did we have some that was ripe? I told her, 'Yes'm.' 'Was they on ice?' 'No'm, they was on the sidewalk.' 'Would we put half one on ice and bring it around at 6 o'clock?' 'We would.' 'Would we have the seeds taken out?' 'With pleasure.' 'All right. Do we keep Vichy water in siphons?' 'Yes'm.' 'Was that on ice?' 'No. But I told her we'd put half a siphon on ice, and bring it around at 6 o'clock with the bubbles taken out, if she'd say the word.' 'Then she said she guessed everything we had around here was nice and fresh, but there was such a thing as being too fresh, and she believed she'd try the other store, so I needn't bother. Yes, sir, that woman's a crank.' 'Eddie,' said the grocery man, as he slowly rolled the white paper around a pound of cheese, "my nephew will be here next week from Germany, and I am going to give him my job. Meanwhile, I'll try to get along without any little boy?" 'You'll have to,' said Eddie, "cause I'm going to leave."—Detroit Free Press.

To Edit the Recorder. The last Baptist State Convention, knowing the feeble state of health of the late Dr. C. T. Bailey, appointed a committee to appoint, in the event of his death, his successor as editor and manager of the Biblical Recorder, the organ of the Baptist denomination in this State. The committee met and appointed Mr. J. W. Bailey, son of the late Dr. Bailey, to manage and edit the paper until the State Convention takes formal action.

Vesuvius and Etna Spouting Fire and Lava. NAPLES, Italy, July 6.—The crater of Mount Etna is again pouring forth fire, smoke and lava. Mount Vesuvius is also in a state of eruption, and is reported to be in a worse condition than Etna. The town of Resina, in South Italy, built over the ruins of Herculaneum, is threatened. Villages in the vicinity of both volcanoes are believed to be in danger.

A Decision Against Mrs. Lease. TOPEKA, Kas., July 6.—The Supreme Court rendered its decision this morning in the case of Mrs. Mary Lease against the members of the State Board of Charities in favor of the defendant, George C. Clark, who was appointed to succeed her as a member of the board. This effectively removes Mrs. Lease from office. The Coal Miners' Strike Ended. WELCH, W. Va., July 11.—In the Elkhorn coal field the strikers to-day laid down their guns and have resolved to have a peaceful settlement with operators, if they have any settlement at all.

STRIVE FOR THE BEST. "It is a good thing to be easily satisfied," and "a contented mind is a continual feast," are two old sayings that have been often repeated to us. And yet we do not have much faith in them. The man who is satisfied and contented with one ton of hay where he should grow four, with cows that will give eight quarts of milk a day that will make four pounds of butter a week, whose orchards, if he has any, bear only cider apples, and whose hens don't lay eggs excepting when the price is so low that it does not pay to carry them to market unless it is absolutely necessary to exchange them for groceries, may have a feast in his contented mind, but that is likely to be the only feast he will often enjoy; and there will not be enough of that to furnish three meals a day to his wife and children.

Dissatisfaction and discontent are very desirable, when they are accompanied by energy enough to lead to a striving for better things. The continual grumbler who makes no effort to change that with which he finds fault may be a very disagreeable person, but the man who says, "This condition does not suit me, and I mean to make it better," and has the grit to carry out his intentions, is in the path of progress, and is likely to get along well if he lives. He will be apt to benefit himself, his family and the world, though he may find the way difficult to travel at times.—Bulletin. Not Marse Robert.—Some Old Lee. Apropos of Lee, of Virginia, a story which General Fitzhugh Lee told on himself several years ago is a good illustration of the love the Confederate soldiers bore General Robert E. Lee. As is well known, General Fitzhugh Lee was at the head of the cavalry, who were much envied by the infantry men, who had to walk through mud and dust. After General Robert E. Lee had surrendered, General Fitzhugh Lee rode away from Appomattox. While riding through a lane he met an old North Carolina soldier. "Ho, there," cried Gen. Lee. "Where are you going?" "I've been off on a furlough, and am now going back to join Gen. Bob Lee," replied the old soldier. "You needn't go back, but can throw your gun away and return home, for Lee's surrendered?" "Lee's surrendered?" "That's what I said," replied Gen. Lee. "It must have been that d—n Fitz Lee, then," he cried. "Bob Lee would never surrender, and the soldier put on a look of contempt and walked on."—St. Louis Republic. What Self-help can Do. Any well-located town of even 2,000 people adapted to cotton manufacturing can have a cotton mill or some other equally as desirable industry if it really desire it. If the money which ought to be saved in every community, but which effort is made to induce the people to cultivate the habit of saving, were aggregated, it would soon furnish capital enough for some good enterprise. The organization of companies managed by good business men to induce the people of every small town and the surrounding country to save money, even if but fifty cents a week, and invest in the stock of co-operative industrial enterprise, would do more for South than New England's saving banks have done for that country.—Manufacturers' Record. At the Alumni Banquet at the University in June last a movement was begun by Mr. Locke Craig, A. B., Class of 1889, of Asheville, to erect a handsome building in memory of the Centennial Celebration, to be called Alumni Hall. The idea was received with enthusiasm and subscriptions were immediately made amounting to $18,300. The last Legislature passed special acts, authorizing an extra tax levy for graded schools in the following towns: Clinton, Mt. Airy, Warrenton, Rutherfordton, Washington and Hendersonville.

THE KING SIMMONS' PATENT LIVER REGULATOR. Are you taking SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR? That is what our readers want, and nothing but that. It is the same old friend to which the old folks planned their faith and were never disappointed. But another good recommendation for it is, that it is BETTER THAN FEELING never gives, never weakens, but works in such an easy and natural way, just like nature itself that it comes quick and sure, and one feels new all over. It never fails. Everybody needs take a liver remedy, and everyone should take only Simmons' Liver Regulator. Be sure you get it. The Red Z is on the wrapper. J. H. Zella & Co., Philadelphia.
