IN THE YEAR 1900.

An Episode in the Life of Two Young Salisburians Five Years Hence. They were seated on a bench ir the Woodland Park, just east of Salisbury. The little babbling creek at their feet whispered sweet words of love. The tiny wren on a neighboring bough twitted a soft melody. It was late in the evening; nature seemed going to sleep. The large crowd that daily made the park their rendezvous had left.

The two were friends-not sweethearts-for that name was out of date. They were talking politics;-it would have been out of date to talk

Exposition Notes

A very interesting part of the ex hibit to be made by the Department of Household Economies of the Woman's Board, at the Cotton States STORIES and International Exposition, will be cooking by electricity. Electric stoves will be shown in operation, and the process fully explained. Aladdin's Oven, an invention of Mr. Edward Atkison, the famous statistician, will also be shown. By means of this oven, the heat from an ordinary oil lamp will cook a dinner.

The Letter Carriers' Association of the United States, which numbers fourteen thousand members, has asked that Wednesday, November 20 be set aside as their special day at the position. It is probable that on the date nearly two thousand letter carriers from all over the Union will visit the Exposition. The Governor's Foot Guard, of Hartford, Connecticut, which is one of the oldest military organizations in America, will visit the Cotton States and International Exposition on Connecticut Day and his staff. The Guard is distinguished by its picturesque uniform, a knickerbocker suit. They will furnish one of the picturesque features among the military events at the Fair.
