Please mention this paper.

Drs. R. J. Teague and E. J. Tucker left yesterday morning for New York, where they will take a course in their respective professions. It is presumed that Dr. Tucker is fitting himself for a trip to the Klondike, being under contract with THE COURIER to furnish it with a weekly letter.

W. A. Duncan is one man who believes in selling his tobacco on the Roxboro market, and is always the gainer thereby he says. He made the following sale here a few days ago: 12 lbs at $5, 98 lbs at 10, 150 lbs at 16, 70 lbs at 20, 232 lbs at 30, 170 lbs at 35, 98 lbs at 5, 118 lbs at 8, and 70 lbs at 10, making an average of $19.70 for the load of 1004 pounds, which was just like stripped from the stalk.

L. G. Clayton, who lived near Allensville, in this County, died suddenly at his home on Sunday evening December 26th Mr. Clayton was an old man, more than seventy years, and was a man of whom his neighbors all spoke kindly and was a prominent man in his neighborhood. He had been on the Democratic Ex. Committee of his township for many years, and also filled the position of magistrate for a long time. He leaves a devoted wife and several children to mourn their loss.

Nothing succeeds like success, and when a man is successful he is sure to want the world to know it, and there is no better way to inform the world of it than through the columns of some live newspaper. Upon just such faith as this Messrs. Hunt & Walker have succeeded in doing a business far beyond their expectation. We call attention to their "Special Sale" which will take place in Milton on Wednesday, Jan'y. the 12th. There is no man living that will work harder to see that every one who favors him with a load of tobacco is entirely satisfied than will Maj. Hunt. Read their ad in another column and see what they say.

On the fourth Monday evening in Dec. last the Roxboro Baptist church met in regular conference when the report for the years work was submitted by the various officers and committees. The report showed that while the church had not grown very much in numbers, it had gone forward in financial matters, having given more to the cause of missions than ever before, and likewise to all other benevolent objects. The Pastors salary was paid to Jan. 1st, all pledges were paid in full and a comfortable cash balance in the treasury. Altogether, it was a successful year, and the church deems itself fortunate in having secured Rev. W. B. Morton as its shepherd.

Rev. Weston R. Gales Preaching in Roxboro.

On Sunday morning the evangelist Rev. W. R. Gales, of Roanoke, Va., began a series of services in the Methodist church, since then holding services twice daily. His preaching is of an exceptionally high order, being entirely free from any slang or doubtful phrases, so often used by the modern evangelists. His thoughts are clothed in the most beautiful English, he speaks with ease, and his pulpit manners are well nigh perfect. The congregation has not been as large as it should have been, but it is growing at each meeting—the church being well nigh full at the services last night. Not the least enjoyable part of the service Monday night was the solo by Mrs. Gales. This part of the service was omitted last night, but we hope it will be a special feature at each of the night meetings hereafter, for there are many who would go to hear these solos who would not otherwise attend and once inside the house of God they are too much of the gentlemen to leave before services are closed.

Services every day at 3 and 7 p. m. Everybody cordially invited.

Below we give a few extracts of what those who have heard Rev. W. R. Gales have said of him:

From The News, Augusta, Ga.

Mr. Gales has been doing evangelistic work for several years, and has conducted meetings in many places of importance throughout the South and West.

Mr. Gales was converted at the age of 31, and is a member of the Reformed Episcopal church.

After his conversion he became active in Christian work, and devoted much time to it. After a short time he decided to give all his time to spiritual work, and gave up his business.

After conducting a mission in a western city for a couple of years he became assistant State secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of North Carolina and served some time in this position.

He then began regularly to do evangelist work, and has since been engaged in holding revivals.

His work has always been crowned with success, and wherever he has held meetings there has been a marked spiritual revival.

Mr. Gales is married and has one child, a daughter. His home is in Roanoke, Va., his wife belonging to one of the first families of North Carolina, and is a woman of accomplishments and great Christian grace. She frequently accompanies him to his different fields of labor, and is a great help to him in his work.

Mr. Gales is highly pleased with his reception in Augusta, and is most encouraged at the start the meetings has made. He is confident that a great work is in progress, and that there shall be many manifestations of it during the remainder of the meetings. It is not certain how much longer the meetings will continue, but they will certainly continue during the present week, and perhaps through the next week.

Mr. Gales has already made many warm friends in this city, and as a preacher of the Gospel he is highly regarded for his ability and earnestness, and the people are even sad to even think that he will have to leave at any time in the future.

From Norfolk Virginian.

"Colley Memorial Church is thronged from night to night. The meetings are full of interest. Never has one preached in Norfolk who excels Mr. Gales in wealth of power and pathos. There were 12 men and women who took their stand for God last night, and many asked for prayer. The cottage prayer meetings conducted from house to house daily, have had the effect to enlist individuals and families in the great work and to involve the whole community in revival sympathy and effort, with the church."

From "The Voice," N. Y.

"Evangelist Weston R. Gales is filling a series of appointments in Baltimore, Md., and has just finished the third appointment at Franklin Square Presbyterian church, and began Sunday the 4th at church of The Redeemer, Reformed Episcopal, Bishop Latine, pastor. Two other series will be held—one in the eastern and in the extreme northern sections of the city. There have been some hundreds of professions. The power of the Spirit has been manifested."

From Augusta, Ga. "Chronicle."

"Evangelist W. R. Gales of North Carolina is now engaged in conducting a series of revival meetings in this city, in which all the protestant churches are united. Mr. Gales is an evangelist of reputation and ability. He has been heard at two night services and one afternoon service and at each he has made a deep impression upon his auditors." * * * Same Paper later.

"The crowds in attendance on the Gales revival meeting do not appear to be diminishing any, either in zeal or attendance, and last evening when the doors opened there surged into the vast auditorium of St. John church an audience that completely filled the vast edifice from pit to dome. * * * * The Evangelist seems already to have obtained a warm place in the hearts of the people of Augusta by his strong personality, his power of carrying conviction and his genial manner, and the series of meetings which he has inaugurated will rank among the most successful of the many in Augusta in recent years."

How to Look Good.

Good looks are really more than skin deep, depending entirely on a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver be inactive, you have a bilious look; if your stomach be disordered, you have a dyspeptic look; if your kidneys be affected, you have a pinched look. Secure good health, and you will surely have good looks. "Electric Bitters" is a good Alterative and Tonic. Acts directly on the stomach, liver and kidneys. Purifies the blood, cures pimples, blotches and boils, and gives a good complexion. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold at J. De Morris' Drug Store. 50 cents per bottle.

Roseville Dots.

DEAR COURIER: Perhaps you would like to know how the Rosevilleites enjoyed the Xmas holidays. Rabbit hunting and sociables have been the order of the day, and greatly enjoyed by all. Every day during the week the war on Mollie Cotton Tails was vigorously prosecuted. I venture to say the number killed ran up into the hundreds. Wm. Glenn and company report the killing of 60 in three days. I learn that Hon. J. A. Long and company were very successful in killing a good many, and other parties were very successful. Some of the huntsmen could not resist the temptation when a covey of birds flew up, they would occasionally take down a Bob White, notwithstanding it was against orders.

The young folks reports a jolly time at the sociables. Music and dancing at some, and others enjoying themselves in plays and games. Mrs. Carver gave the young folks a sociable that was greatly enjoyed.

R. W. Crumpton wound up the Xmas by giving a sociable which was largely attended and greatly enjoyed.

The old and young have had a jolly good time, nothing has turned up to mar the peace of any. May all enjoy the pleasures of the New Year, and hoping that the McKinley breeze may soon reach us all and all enjoy a prosperous time. Like Micawber, we are still hoping for something to turn up. We wish THE COURIER a prosperous year and a largely increased circulation. We missed its weekly visit last week.

Married.

The quiet old town of Leasburg was awakened from its slumbers to-day by the marriage of two of our most popular young people. Miss Josephine Hambrick, daughter of Mrs. M. T. Hambrick, was married to-day at high noon to Mr. Ben E. Stanfield.

Miss Hambrick for sometime has been Post Mistress of our town and every one has learned to love her.

Mr. Stanfield is indeed a fortunate young man to gain for a helpmeet through life such an excellent young lady. He may well feel himself highly honored by her choice.

Every one in our town wish their future life may be as bright as their wedding day.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, God has seen fit in his infinite wisdom to remove from our midst Mr. W. F. Winstead, whose death occurred at his home in Roxboro, N. C. on Nov. 26, 1897, and, Whereas, Mr. Winstead was a student in Trinity College during the session of 1892-'93, and while here he became a member of Hesperian Literary Society; whereupon be it resolved:

1. That the Society has sustained a heavy loss; the church to which he belonged, a consistent member, and all who knew him a true and sympathetic friend.
2. That we extend to the bereaved family and friends our deepest sympathy, assuring them that their loss is also ours, and praying that the God who is always present in times of trouble may temper the wind to the shone lands.
3. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased; a copy be spread on the minutes of the Society; and a copy sent to the Trinity Archive, the Christian Educator, and the Roxboro COURIER for publication.
