THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Webster's Weekly: The Leaksville market is said to be glutted with apples at 40 cents per bushel. Reidsville folks are paying from 75 cents up for fruit. There ought not to be all this difference, with only twelve miles of good roads separating the two towns.

A Costly Mistake

Blunders sometimes are very expensive. Occasionally life itself is the price of a mistake, but you will never be wrong if you take Dr. King's New Life Pills for dyspepsia, dizziness, headache, liver or bowel troubles. They are gentle, yet thorough. 25 cents, at Morris' Drug Store.

Dr. Cyrus Thompson, ex-Secretary of State, will, on the first of next year, resume the practice of medicine. He will practice at Jacksonville, Onslow county. It has been several years since he has practiced. He will devote much of the winter to study.

Coughs, Colds and Consumption
Few people realize when taking cough medicine other than Foley's Honey and Tar, that they contain opiates which are constipating besides being unsafe, particularly for children. Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates, is safe and sure and will not constipate.

At Armour postoffice, Columbus county, Allen Williams, colored, attempted to assault Miss Walker, daughter of a prominent citizen. The negro was frightened away by the young woman's screams and was afterwards arrested and jailed.

A Frightened Horse.

Running like mad down the street dumping the occupants, or a hundred other accidents, are every day occurrences. It behooves everybody to have a reliable Salve handy and there's none as good as Backlen's Arnica Salve. Burns, cuts, sores, eczema and piles rapidly disappear under its soothing effect. 25 cents, at Morris Drug Store.

An attempt is being made to induce the government to introduce printing machines in the government printing office. The work of the office could be done much quicker, and the cost would be reduced 33 per cent. The Typographical Union will probably not oppose the plan.

A certain fellow who answered advertisements in cheap story papers has had some interesting experience. He learned that by sending one dollar he could get a cure for drunkenness. And he did. It is to "take a pledge and keep it."

Then he sent fifty two-cent stamps to find out how to raise turnips successfully. He found out "just take hold the tops and pull." The next advertisement he answered read: "How to double your money in six months." He was told to convert his money into bills, fold them, and he would see his money doubled.

Next he sent for twelve useful household articles, and he got a package of needles.

He was slow to learn, so he sent one dollar to find out how to get rich. "Work like the devil and never spend a cent", and that stopped him.

But his brother wrote to learn how to write without pen or ink. He was told to use a lead pencil. He paid one dollar to learn how to live without work, and was told on a postal card: "Fish for suckers as we do, and in order to not stutter to keep his d--n mouth shut."

Not Sick a Day Since.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not been sick a day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver troubles and general debility." This is what B. F. Bass, of Freemont, N. C., writes. Only 50 cents at J. D. Never Never be ashamed of work—even if you have to turn a grindstone. There are a lot of cranks in this world to be turned.

Never allow yourself to get the big head—it will cost you more for a hat.

Never turn a new leaf—unless you have something sensible to write on the page.

Never hang your head, even if you are guilty—the sheriff will attend to the hanging.

Never cease to advertise your business, if you have anything worth selling, or want the public's attention. People are forgetful and have to be continually reminded of things, even in the little affairs of households and business.

Never marry for money, but always for love—but if a girl has money, though, try to love her.

Never wear a tight corset—it is injurious to health, and then if you want to be squeezed, let your husband or brother do it.

Never cease to speak a good word for your town and business—it impresses people with the idea that you are interested in the place.

Never kiss a girl in a crowd—she prefers it done in private.

Never run down your town or its people—it will lead people to run you down.

Never fail to pay your little debts and keep your promises—it makes long friends and gives you a high moral standing.—Durham Sun.

Roderick, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of this remedy, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with my children for several years past and can truthfully say that it is the best preparation of the kind that I know of. The children like to take it and it has no injurious after effect. For sale by W. R. Hambrick & Co."

The Danbury Reporter says: "It is said that a band of farmers in the Hartman section are so incensed over the low prices paid for tobacco by the trust that they have organized themselves for the purpose of destroying the first plant bed that shall be planted in the neighborhood."

I got no relief from medicines until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure, then the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust like fine stones and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me $1,000 worth of good."

Another Trust Gone.

The Consolidated Lake Superior Company was born in the spring of 1901, with a paper capital of $102,000,000. These were the glorious days when trusts were formed while you waited, and charters were commoner than flies in fly time. December, 1902, it stopped paying dividends. October, 1903, it went to everlasting smash. There was not much the matter with it, except want of real capital, want of cash, want of prudence, skilful, one-headed management. Some thousands of unpaid workmen and bitten investors are left to mourn its loss. Gone to join the Asphalt Trust and others of the Great Bustled!—Everybody's Magazine for December.

Correctly says an exchange: The columns of newspapers is the editor's farm, his shop, his trade, his grocery, his law office or profession, and when he acnates space for which he gets no return, he is out just as the farmer that gives away his pigs and butter and eggs, or the professional man who gives advice gratis.
