F. W. STOKES, SPECIAL AGENT, MERRITT BUILDING,
PHONE 29. ROXBORO, N. C.

Your eyes may need treatment, you require glasses to restore the failing sight, or may be you desire to consult a specialist as to what you want. See Dr. Rapport at Hotel Dowdy, on Tuesday, April 7th. For one day only.

Rev. J. A. Beam passed through town Monday morning returning from a Fifth Sunday Meeting held with Clement church. He said notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, there was a good crowd out Sunday.

Our office was honored by a visit from Dr. T. N. Ivey, of the Raleigh Christian Advocate, during his stay at the Conference last week. Dr. Ivey is one of the most polished writers in the newspaper profession and is always a welcomed visitor at this office.

They are pleasing, these shoes of ours whether you want them for a man or woman. They are made for comfort. In fact the same can be said of our entire line consisting of clothing, shirts, hats &c. When you want good goods, stylish goods, up-to-date goods at low prices just come to L. T. BOWLES.

Mr. J. N. Loy who has been sick at the Dowdy Hotel was able to be moved out to his mothers last Friday. He stood the trip quite well and we learn is slowly improving. We hope he will soon be fully restored to his usual good health.

When you want general merchandise, the best for the least money, Messrs. A. R. Foushee & Son says for you to come to their store. They carry a full line of ladies and mens shoes, dry goods, notions, groceries, furniture, infact anything usually kept in a first class general store, and the best of it is we always make prices right. Come to see us.

J. A. LONG, SON & CO.

A Change.
Having decided it a better arrangement we have moved all our business to the black smith shop of J. A. Long, on Main street, where we will hereafter be found prepared to serve our friends and patrons, guaranteeing at all times to give satisfaction in our work. Come to see us at our new place of business. March, 25th, 1903.
PETTIGREW BROS.

We noticed this week that Miss Yancey was shipping hats to friends in Asheville, Richmond, Va., Washington, D. C. Lynchburg, and South Boston, Va., and Greensboro and Raleigh. Miss Yancey is a wide-awake Milliner, and one of the best in the State. She says when they once buy from her they seldom leave her, and that is certainly true.

A Card of Thanks.
Mrs. G. H. Loy desires to return thanks to all the good people of Roxboro who were so kind to her son, Mr. J. N. Loy, during his recent illness there. And especially to the young men who were so kind and faithful during the night-watches, also for the many kindnesses shown herself while there at his bedside.
Push, N. C. March 31.

In the Review of Reviews for April there is a striking illustration of the methods adopted by the agencies now at work for building up the local schools of the South. Mr. David E. Cloyd, a representative of the General Education Board, has made a detailed study of the school situation in two Georgia counties. The results of this study, as published in the Review, are valuable for the light that they throw on educational conditions throughout the South.

The Coal Strike, greatest of modern labor crises, seems to have produced no fiction so far, but in Lippincott's Magazine for April there is a stunning little story called "An Involuntary Benefactor," by Edith Robinson, well-known for her "Mock Caliph and his Wife," which goes deep into the human motives of the Millionaire and brings him out of such suffering as he is accustomed to inflict a changed and sympathetic being. No more convincing comment could be offered, and the tale will be read eagerly by men and women of every shade of opinion.

DESTRUCTIVE STORM.

Reports From Wilmington, New Bern, Kinston, and Other Places Tell o' the Wild Work Wrought by Cloud and Gale—Eastern Carolina Appears as One Vast Lake

Wilmington, N. C., March 30.—The northeast storm predicted by the weather bureau reached its greatest intensity along this coast between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning accompanied and followed by a deluge of rain which with high tides, inundated much of the lowlands throughout this section. The water came above the street level along the city docks and Eagle's Island, across the river, was practically submerged, however, without damage except to the turnpike of the Brunswick Bridge and Ferry Company which crosses it.

Further up in the lowlands between Northeast and Cape Fear rivers, the waters of the two streams met across the tracks of the Atlantic and Yadkin Railroad and inundated the ties for a distance about one hundred yards. An outgoing local freight train at 6:30 this morning ran into the wash-out and four cars were derailed after the engine had passed over safely. No one was injured and the track will be cleared by morning.

Goldsboro, N. C., March 30.—The flood situation in this section has reached somewhat serious proportions. The water in Neuse river is falling very slowly today, and it is feared that the heavy rains which fell last night will cause another rise. At Griffin's lumber and shingle mill on the river, where the banks are 20 feet high from low water mark, the water has submerged the mill and machinery and is running into the fire boxes of the boilers. The mill can only be reached by a canoe.

Washington, N. C., March 30.—Washington's water front was flooded Sunday night and to-day. The rise of water in Pamlico river has been the most phenomenal since the inundation in 1887. Between five and six feet of water banked in front of the Atlantic and the loss occasioned to water front business interests is between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars. The railroad trestle of the Washington and Plymouth bridge was destroyed and the county bridges damaged badly. It is reported that the long bridge at Greenville was swept away. For a week a blinding rain has filled the upper waters, causing a freshet which added to the ocean water flooded the city wharves. At Hatteras the wind blew a gale and several incoming boats reported that the sailing vessels were scudding coast wise under bare poles.

New Bern, N. C., March 30.—Saturday night at 12 o'clock a heavy northeast wind rose, followed by rain in torrents, which lasted for forty-eight hours, causing very high tide. Many tenement houses and merchants stores on the river front were completely surrounded by water to the depth of 3 1/2 feet. The entire damage is estimated at $5,000.

Thomas O. Daniels, a leading fish dealer, says damage to the nets and seines of fishermen are several hundred dollars. This will cause a scarcity of fish in our markets.

As to the truck farmers they were not seriously hurt. The only damage was in the low lands, caused by the heavy rain. Some damage was done to the saw mills, grist mills, warehouses containing salt, guano, and phosphates, but the damage to private property cannot be estimated yet.

Incoming passengers on the Atlantic and North Carolina train this morning state that the woods and lowland farms along the railroad between here and New Bern are covered by water and look like a vast lake in many places. Old residents do not remember to have seen so much water, which in some places, is running through the floor into residences. Mr. Hales, the mail clerk on the Atlantic and North Carolina train, says that a steambot drawing 12 inches of water could be run easily along side of the railroad from Dove to Cove Creek. At Falling creek hundreds of acres of cultivated lands, which have been prepared for the planting season, are now submerged in water and look like lakes instead of farms. The railroad bridge at Kinston is said to be in danger and the water is still rising.

Henderson Gild Leaf: At the meeting of the town commissioners Monday night an election was ordered to be held on the question of issuing $40,000 in bonds for sewerage and street improvements, said election to be held Monday, June 1st, 1903.

Websters Weekly. Some miscreant who ought to be doing time on the county roads slashed two cows belonging to P. B. Johnston, Esq., with a knife one night recently, inflicting very painful wound. It is to be hoped that the guilty party will be caught.

We have heretofore shied at the suggestion of a censor for the press, but in view of the indecencies printed in connection with the Burdick-Pennell mess, it does not seem that liberty has become license. How any man can allow such a filth as the Burdick testimony to go into his home is beyond our comprehension — Greenville Peffector.
