SOCIAL LIFE AT LOCH LILY.

This Delightful Resort Was Never More Popular Than This Season—Quite a Number Experience the Joys of Camp Life.

Loch Lily has long been regarded as one of the most delightful places in the northern middle section of North Carolina, and also one of the most popular. The star of its popularity has been more in the ascendancy this summer than we have ever known it. Why do we say so? We simply judge it by the great numbers of people from here and elsewhere who have been visitors there, and are still going out and enjoying themselves at the beautiful "lake of lilies."

Last week there were jolly crowds at the lake all the week, and every one seemed to vie with each other in contributing to the enjoyment and delight of the outings.

Quite a party spent several enjoyable days in camp. They were members of a house party given by Miss Bettie Watkins, at her home in Milton. Among the members of this party who repaired to Loch Lily and went in camp, were Miss Watkins, of Milton, Misses Rose Watkins, Laura Stebbins, of South Boston, Dot Richmond and Emma Lea, of Danville, Messrs. Henry Watkins, Joseph Stebbins, Jr., Owen Wilson, Moseley Bendall, of South Boston, and others in the party whose names we failed to get.

During the week there was also another camping party, consisting of several young boys from South Boston, under the care of Rev. D. C. Mayers. Those in this party were Watkins Hunt, Bruce Pendleton, Armistead Pendleton, John Evans Irving Ower, Julian East, Robert Lee and Graff Simmonds.

Misses Elma and Ruth Featherston and Misses Maie and Ethel Newell, of Roxboro, gave a delightful hay ride on Wednesday evening of last week, complimentary to Miss Marie Abell, of Smithfield and Miss Josephine McGowan, of Washington, D. C. A number of young people enjoyed the delightful ride from Roxboro to Loch Lily and return.

Thursday afternoon and night there was also large crowd at the lake. There was but one thing to mar the pleasure on that night, and that was the rain.

On Monday afternoon of this week another party went into camp at that resort. In this party were Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Featherston, Mrs. C. H. Hunter, Mrs. Margaret Stravhorn, Misses Maie and Ethel Newell, Elma and Ruth Featherston, Annie Long, Mary Hunter, of Roxboro; Miss Josephine McGowan of Washington, D. C., Misses Marie Abell and Nell Morgan, of Smithfield; Messrs. W. H. Long, B. R. Long, M. C. Winstead, Richard Holmes, Preston Satterfield, Ivey Featherston, Southgate Beaman, Bruce Newell and Eugene Clayton.

We have no hesitancy in saying to the young people of the surrounding cities and towns, and also to those residing in the country, that if they are seeking a few days' outing, and desire a delightful place, whose surroundings are unsurpassed, Loch Lily is unexcelled. There will doubtless be many visitors there before the season is over, and we verily believe that the closing will mark the gayest of any summer ever yet experienced in the history of the lake. Are we too optimistic? We think not. Long live Loch Lily, with the joys and pleasures it affords. May we live to see the day when it will be one of the greatest of resorts.

RIOT OVER MATCH.

Almost a Race War Follows Insults to Whites by Negroes at Stokesland, Va.

DANVILLE, Va., July 25.—A riot at Stokesland, five miles from this city late yesterday, resulted in the serious injury of four persons. The trouble started with some negroes who abused a party of white men, accompanied by women, because of the refusal of the whites to give them matches to light their pipes. Irvin Cook, white, and William Hall, Harvie Gwynn, and Harry Flippin, all colored, received wounds, some of which may prove fatal. The women escaped without injury.

Most of the population of the settlement turned out under arms and a race war was narrowly averted. The police department of this city was called upon to quell the disturbance.

To Wear Uniforms.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25.—Rural delivery carriers will receive something of a shock when they learn that officials of the post office department are considering the advisability of requiring them to wear a regulation uniform. The matter has been under consideration for several days, and the department is strongly inclined to make the rural branch of the system more distinctive by uniforming the carriers. The one argument against the proposition is the cost that it will entail on the carriers, who at best are poorly paid. There are now 569 rural carriers in North Carolina, who would be effected by such an order.

Should Not Attend Church Bareheaded.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 23.—The Rev. Edward Henry Eckel, rector of Christ Church, and a probable candidate for bishop of the new Episcopal Diocese, has announced from the pulpit that bareheaded women in church are not conforming to the teachings of St. Paul.

Mr. Eckel said that more serious thought should be given to dress; that a low cut gown, with a mere semblance of covering for shoulders and arms, should not be worn in the house of worship, and that hereafter hatless women and décolleté gowns were not wanted in his church.

Christ Church is the oldest and wealthiest congregation in this city.

A brave man is not one who gets excited and uses his knife or pistol. Real bravery is not exciting, and therefore takes a cool headed man to be brave, and a cool headed man seldom gets into trouble. An irritable, excitable man gets scared and shoots down his fellow man, or provokes trouble with one of his kind and gets killed himself. That is what the Irishman calls "d-d-d bravery." A brave dead man is a worthless specimen of humanity.—Marshall's Our Home.

WOULD BE LYNCHERS PUNISHED

Two of Danville Mob Sent to Jail For Trying to Avenge Death of Mr. Armes.

DANVILLE, Va., July 23.—The trials of the men indicted by the special grand jury which investigated the riotous demonstration before the city jail early Wednesday morning, when an attempt was made to secure the negro prisoner, Roy Seals, charged with the murder of the Southern Railway flagman, James L. Armes, were begun today before Mayor Wooding.

Will Harris was fined $50 and sentenced to sixty days in jail, and Frank Childress sentenced to thirty days.

Childress, who is but sixteen years old, is accused of throwing stones at the police officers who were guarding the jail.

Decision in the case of J. William Mann was reserved until Thursday. Witnesses testified that he was at home during the riot. The evidence against the men was given mostly by policemen who witnessed the demonstration. Most of the eighteen men indicted for participating in the disturbance have been released on $200 bail for trial next week.

The most sensational of the cases have been set for next Tuesday, when Wicker Armes, a brother of the murdered man, and Daniel Talley, who is accused of leading the crowd, will be tried.

Woodburn Notes.

The annual protracted meeting at Lebanon Christian church began on the third Sabbath in July, and closed on the Friday evening following. Revs. White and Newman assisted the pastor, Rev. Mr. Wicker, during the meeting. The crowd on Sunday was immense, some estimating it at 700 persons. Mr. Newman is a very edifying and popular preacher. Mr. White did not preach during my stay. Mr. Wicker, the pastor, is a very superior preacher, with a mind finely cultivated and stored with rich thoughts. I was told that he can speak fluently six or seven different languages. The meeting was a success, a number being converted and the church much encouraged and strengthened in faith.

We are having nice showers now nearly every day. Rains at night and clear and hot on the following day.

The corn and tobacco is growing nicely.

J. A. Jones, of Greenville, Pa., is now recreating with homefolks. All are glad to see him looking so well.

Stephen Wells, of Somerset, Pa., another Person coming here, is also visiting home people, and enjoyed himself highly during the meeting at Lebanon this week.

Herbert Cunningham is visiting his old home place after an absence of several months.

Jim Cunningham is taking in the St. Louis Exposition this week.

George Cunningham and family, with other friends, picniced at Club Lake last Thursday.

The protracted season at Ephesus begins on the fifth Sunday in July, and at Providence on the first Sunday in August.

The State Firemen's Tournament will be held at Salisbury, August 2, 3 and 4.

Stateville Landmark: The other day near his home in Betheny township, Louis Moore, the young son of Mr. C. A. Moore, saw about 30 bats—of the small leather winged variety—go into a tree. The young man told his father about the circumstance and proposed to cut the tree down. Mr. Moore, Sr., thought there was a mistake about the number of bats, but they cut down the tree. As the result they found and killed just 127 bats and a number got away, and ground where the tree fell was literally covered with chintz bugs that came off the bats.

Work has begun by a large force to rebuild Greensboro Female College. Material is on the ground, and it is hoped that the building completed in time for the opening of the fall session by October 1st.
