

CORPORATION TAX LAW.

Commissioner Cabell Providing For Execution of New Provision.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Newly inducted into office, Commissioner Cabell, of the internal revenue bureau, is now engaged in the heavy task of providing for the execution of the of corporation tax law. He is in daily consultation with his deputies and law officers of government departments regarding the preparation of the blank forms which must be sent to the various internal revenue collectors and by them placed in the hands of the corporation officers within respective districts.

Precautionary measures are necessary in order to render the forms "lawyer-proof" because it is quite certain that the new law will never be put into operation without undergoing fierce onslaughts in the courts at the hands of the ablest attorneys in the land.

The forms will not be ready for nearly a month. Every corporation or company save labor, religious and mutual associations which no individual derives a profit, and whose net income exceeds $5,000 per annum must fill in the blanks under heavy penalty, not only for the corporation itself but for the derelict officials. False returns will be made the subject of severe punishment.

All returns must be in the hands of the district collector by March 1 next; within a month the collectors must inform the corporation of the amount of the tax for which they are liable, and that tax must be paid before June 30 each year, also a charge will be made of 5 per cent. of the total tax due and interest at one per cent. per month thereafter.

A HOPEFUL SIGN.

Charlotte Chronicle.

The fact that Mr. Leslie M. Shaw former Secretary of the Treasury, is interested in the development of electric car lines in this immediate section of the State and has been personally viewing the lay of the land, is matter of much encouragement to all who have the best interests of the State at heart. It appears that Mr. Shaw is immediately interested in building of the line from Salisbury to Concord and from the latter place to Charlotte, Monroe and Gastonia, but he has also seen the inviting opportunities of an extension of the electric car service to connect Salisbury, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, High Point, Thomasville and Lexington. This field of urban car service has been laying invitingly open for a dozen years to the developing hand of the developing hand of the capitalist. Mr. Shaw's stake in this development would mean business.

Testifies After Four Years.

Carlisle Center, N. Y., G. B. Burhans, writes: "About four years ago I wrote you that I had been entirely cured of kidney trouble by taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy, and after four years I am again pleased to state that I have never had any return of those symptoms, and I am evidently cured to stay cured." Foley's Kidney Remedy will do the same for you.

THE GOVERNOR WINS APPLAUSE OF THOUSANDS.

Governor Kitchin has won the plaudits of many thousands of people by his recent speeches. At Sanford, the other day, he spoke to over three thousands persons who had assembled to do him and the occasion (a veterans' reunion) honor. At Pittsboro, on Saturday, he spoke to eight thousand persons, the largest crowd ever assembled at a reunion in Chatham county.

The Governor inherits his devotion to the cause of the South—which is now coming to be seen as the cause of constitutional government in the Union—for his father, the late Capt. W. H. Kitchin, was a gallant soldier of the Confederacy. Those who heard his masterful address at the Opera House in this city on the tenth of May, need not be told of the magic of his eloquence when defending the South and expounding the principles of the Constitution which controlled her action in 1861-5. A writer at Pittsboro, in the course of his account of his speech, there says:

"For one hour the Governor spoke and it measured up to the high reputation he possesses as an orator. He defended in unmistakable language the right of secession and expressed the time would soon come when Southern men would control national affairs, as was done before the war, and paid a glowing tribute to the woman of the South, and the Confederate soldier."

Long may our able and eloquent chief magistrate live to serve the people of North Carolina!—Fayetteville Observer.

Captain Ferber Killed.

Paris, Sept. 22.—Captain Ferber, of the French army, was killed today when his Voisin aeroplane crashed to the earth while he was attempting a flight at Boulogne-Sur-Mer. Ferber had made several thrilling flights at Rheims in the international aviation contests.

Ferber's biplane, which was the same one he had used at Rheims, was sailing gracefully along when it suddenly turned a somersault and crashed heavily to the earth. Ferber was crushed under the heavy motor. The captain's fame as an aviator had been gained under the name De Rue, which he had adopted as pseudonym when he first took up aviation.

A Methodist bishop was recently a guest at the home of a friend who had two charming daughters. One morning the bishop, accompanied by the two young ladies, went out in hope of catching some trout. An old fisherman, out for the same purpose, wishing to appear friendly, called out:

"Ketchin' many, pard?"

The bishop, drawing himself to his full height, replied, "Brother I am a fisher of men."

"You've got the right kind o' bait, all right," was the fisherman's rejoinder.

Our Forest Disappearing.

A startling situation has developed as the result of a taking of stock of the forestry resources of this country according to Treadwell Cleveland, Jr., expert in the bureau of forestry.

It has been shown, Mr. Cleveland declares, that we are taking from the forest every year three and a half times as much wood as is added by the new growth; that less than one-third of the growing tree felled by the lumbermen is ever used at all so that two-thirds of all the timber cut is simply destroyed. It has shown that one-eleventh of all the forests are swept by fires every year, and that on the average since 1870 forest fires have yearly cost $50,000,000 in timber and fifty lives. It has shown, Mr. Cleveland continues, that over 99 per cent. of the forests in private hands—which comprise three-fourths of all the wood—is devastated by destructive use and the sweep of unchecked fires while less than 1 per cent. is properly handed for successive crops or effectively protected from fire.

How Ten Eggs Were Rescued After the Snake Had Swallowed them.

Charlotte Observer.

Snake stories are told once in a while, but not often true ones. Here is one that a was related by a reliable man last night, though he said the reporter would be "hanged, drawn and quartered," if his name should be punished.

"I lived in the Southwest ten years of my life. One day I was sitting in my portico, and heard my hen, at the corner of the portico setting on guinea eggs, make a peculiar noise that led me to believe something was troubling her. I went out and raised the hen and found a king snake under her. The hen was pecking at him furiously. He had swallowed all the eggs, which would have hatched in a few days.

"I shot off the snake's head with a pistol I always kept convenient, and there were the eggs on the inside, ten, in a row, bulging the skin, the eggs being larger than the serpent. They were not harmed, and as I had no notion of losing my guineas, I deliberate took my barlow and ripped open the snake from Dan to Beersheba, saved the eggs and put them back under the hen. A few days afterward the hen hatched all the eggs."

THE PIONEER WAREHOUSE

Featherstone & Winstead, Proprietors.

The Pioneer Warehouse, Roxboro, N. C., as its name indicates, has always stood in the forefront in the sale of Leaf Tobacco on this market.

IT IS A WELL LIGHTED BRICK WAREHOUSE.

For the coming year, beginning Sept. 1st, we expect to see that every pile of tobacco sold on our floors brings its full value, in fact we intend to make the Pioneer the leading warehouse for tobacco prices this season. When we say this we mean big averages for the small farmer as well as for the large one.

Our house will be manned by thorough and experienced Tobacco men who know and appreciate the farmers' wants and who will spare no pains to take care of them.

Remember Rube Featherstone will do his own auctioneering, and every tobacco farmer knows what that means.
