

Do You Dread New Shoes?

It takes a deal of moral courage for some folks to buy new shoes. Stiff soles and unyielding upper leathers sometimes bring serious foot troubles in their wake. To many new shoes mean torment for a week or more.

Rats Were Eating Up the Mules

On Shylock's principle "You take my life when you take the means whereby I live," rats came very near eating up Mr. J. L. Tomberlin's mules on his farm, five miles south of town. For some time he had been noticing that his mules were falling off more rapidly than they should have, ever in work time and hot weather. One day last week he discovered the cause, which was nothing less than the rats were eating the corn which he fed the mules, literally robbing them of their meals. By watching he found that the rats, which were of immense size, swarmed out as soon as he had put the corn in the box for the mules and left the stable, and dragged the whole ears away to their hiding place and devoured it. He saw them carrying it off, and he also found an immense pile of cobs hid away under the barn where they had devoured it. He lost no time in setting upon the rats and smote them with clubs, dogs and even a shot gun. After the slaughter he found that 129 had been killed. Fortunately his crib was rat-proof, or he would have had no corn to feed the mules in the first place.—Monroe Journal.

What Good Roads Did for Durham

Durham has never claimed to be much of a farming county and yet our farming lands are worth more than those in all other counties in the State with one exception, and good roads has had much to do with it.

Wonderful Praise Accorded Peruna the Household Remedy

Mrs. Maria Goertz, Orienta, Oklahoma, writes: "My husband, children and myself have used your medicines, and we always keep them in the house in case of necessity. I was restored to health by this medicine, and Dr. Hartman's invaluable advice and books. People ask about me from different places, and are surprised that I can do all of my household work alone, and that I was cured by the doctor of chronic catarrh. My husband was cured of asthma, my daughter of earache and catarrh of the stomach, and my son of catarrh of the throat. When I was sick I weighed 100 pounds; now I weigh 140.

"I have regained my health again, and I cannot thank you enough for your advice. May God give you a long life and bless your work."

Home Canning

We would be afraid to attempt to say, but at a rough guess, the South raises fruits and vegetables enough to feed the United States for a period of at least four months which these fruits and vegetables largely grow. If the surplus only were canned and properly put upon the market, it would yield a great income for these products of the soil. But as a matter of fact, not enough of these Southern products are canned to supply the home markets. Vast sums of money are sent out of the different Southern States annually to buy canned goods which are put up in the North. The right beginning is for each farmer to get a home canning outfit and go to work. After supplying the home and then selling the surplus, it will be time enough to look up the big canning factory business. They say that in Catawba county, omitting what is done in the kitchens, there are fifty home canning outfits which operate each year. The consequence is, we are told, that the importation of canned goods has been enormously reduced and the home merchants are now looking to the homemade goods for their supply for the season. What's the use of sending money to the North to buy goods that can be bettered raised and as well canned at home? The soil and the climate both here in the South favorable to a splendid business of a magnificent production of vegetables and fruits.—Charlotte Chronicle

Congress Will Not Adjourn Until Early in the Fall

Washington, Congress will not adjourn until close to September. This is the opinion expressed by Vice President Sherman, Representative Underwood, majority leader, and also Speaker Champ Clark. Mr. Underwood said that the house is determined to put it up to the senate to vote on the farmers' free list bill if congress has to stay in session begins.

Vice President Sherman declared that he sees no prospect of adjournment before the end of the summer.

Speaker Clark took an equally pessimistic view of the situation.

YOUR OWN TOWN

Any place is just what the men who live in it make it.

Don't sit around and damn your town. A town is just as good or just as bad as the people who are damning it.

Every community, even if it hasn't more than two hundred inhabitants, should have a townroom where the cigars are good and where every-one can meet, free from religion or politics, and absorb the good qualities of one another: where the spirit of the Golden Rule can be instilled; for no religion and no political party can deny this perfectly scientific principle.

A town is seldom the result of virgin natural conditions. In any event it was man who saw the natural advantages—and frequently it was some one individual.

For illustration: There is no natural reason why Cleveland should have been the oil center of the world. There are no oil wells in or about the community. So far as oil is concerned, and as a shipping point, it is no better than a dozen and one other towns. It was simply John D. Rockefeller. He wanted to live in Cleveland and his individuality, his personality, brought the oil to him.

There is no reason why Boston should be the shoe market of the world. There are no hides there. They are all shipped from the West. Simply some man who knew how to make shoes on a large scale wanted to live there and his success encouraged others to follow in his wake.

There is no physical reason why Chicago should be the meat-packing of the world. It could as well have been St. Louis. Simply old Phil Armour wanted to live there.

In nearly every town you visit you hear some resident: "Aw, this ain't nothin' but an overgrown country village!"

The resident of any town that makes such a statement wears whiskers and boots at heart.

Of course, if your town isn't sporty enough for you, why, you can move—that ain't the town's fault.

If you get too sporty, you'll have to move anyhow.

It isn't the sports that make a town—it's the jays.

The man that gave the light for the sports on the Great White Way was a jay—Thomas A. Edison, a jay telegraph operator from Indianapolis.

John D. Rockefeller, who, in a money way, is the ideal of every sport, was a jay from Richford, New York.

Russell Sage, who loaned money to the sports for years, was a jay—he started by jumping counter in a country store.

Some jay from Connecticut went to the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893. He set up a stand on the Midway and sold wooden nutmegs to the sports for "souvenirs. Finally he ran out of wooden ones and sold 'em the real thing a twenty-five cents a throw.

William Dean Howells, America's foremost literary character, will take more pride in telling you of the days when he set type as a jay printer on the Sentinel at Ashtabula, Ohio, than his literary success of later years—the days when they used shoe pegs to space the type, and about a printer getting drunk and using a plug of Star tobacco for a cut.

Nearly every man in art, science, literature, industry and commerce here in America today either is or was a jay.

Cincinnati is the supply center of the South. Years ago, at the waning of the river traffic, it was about to give place to Louisville and Memphis in the commerce of that territory.

The citizens of Cincinnati got busy and built the Cincinnati Southern Railroad.

This road was the dream of a jay. They called him a jay dreamer, but his dream saved the town.

You hear people of the Far West in mercantile, industrial, artistic and scientific pursuits say: "If we were only in Chicago, we could do or get so and so." In Chicago you hear them say: "If we were only in New York." When in New York you hear them wishing for something in London or Paris.

Chicago, New York, London and Paris are all the results of their citizens taking the conditions and material at hand and doing the best they could with them—just as we can all do.

Seeing Yellow.

It isn't a man's mind or heart that makes most of the troubles here below—

It's his liver—

And this is not an advertisement for liver medicine.

When a man's liver is inactive he sees yellow, just as a man who drinks sees red—but yellow is a greater trouble producer than red.

A man with an inactive liver has low blood.

Your Neighbor's Experience.

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. Mrs. E. G. Whiting, Willow St, Akron, O., says: "For some time I had a very serious case of kidney trouble and I suffered with backaches and dizzy headaches. I had specks float ing before my eyes and I felt all tired out and miserable. I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions and results showed almost at once. The pain and dizzy headaches left me, my eyesight became clear and today I can say I am a well woman, thanks to Foley Kidney Pills."

Little Economy.

There is nothing so small that you cannot save money on it. Make your pillow cases, for instance, of tubing. Then when they begin to get thin in the middle you can rip the closed end and sew them again so that the creased edge of the pillow case will be now the middle of the flat side. The worn places are thus brought to the outer edge, where there is practically no wear upon them.—Philadelphia North American.

"CURED MOTHER OF ULCERATIONS"

Rev. B. C. Thompson, of Ablesville, N. C., writes: "My mother was a great sufferer from a neglected trouble peculiar to women. She took Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and Wash, and found it invaluable. It cured her. We highly recommend it to those suffering from cancerous or lupine blood affections."

"Ulcers and Old Sores are the result of bad blood, and can never be cured until the blood is thoroughly purified, and all poison driven from the system. External applications alone can never do it. You must get right down to the root of the trouble and eradicate the disease from the blood. For this purpose there is nothing so good as
