So Fair but Yet So False.

Mary K. Clark.

So Thursday late in the afternoon Lillian went to her room to dress for the ball. She selected from her wardrobe one of her finest and most becoming gowns. Elsie came to her room while she was dressing. This was something new as Elsie didn't visit her room often. After dressing Lillian placed a beautiful diamond in her hair and a bunch of lilies in her belt.
Elsie thought she had never seen Lillian look more attractive.

"Why you are so beautiful Lillian". Little did she think her lover was going to accompany her to the ball.

"Lillian are you going alone?" Lillian hesitated and then replied, "No, I have a new lover."
"Who is your new lover?"

Lillian smiled, "Oh! I must not tell, you will find out soon enough.

Elsie felt a sting of jealousy in heart. "Lillian tell me I want tell.

Mercy, thought Elsie, has she at last won the affections of my Preston, no I know she hasn't Preston would not admire such a girl as Lillian, he wants a woman that is true, and I know she won't suit him, and besides I am his promised wife.

Very soon the door bell rang and much to Elsie surprise and sorrow entered Preston Davis.
Mercy she thought to herself I am now doomed to amiserable life. I can't stand this. I wish Lillian had never been born.
Preston and Lillian were laughing so gaily.

Elsie returned to her room, her heart almost crushed. She retired but could not sleep. Can it be true that my Preston is not true. I am afraid he is not.
How I doubt him, never did I once think he would treat me so.
She couldn't sleep it was impossible, so she decided she would get up. She thought she would write to Preston but her heart failed her. At last she decided she would conceal herself in a cluster of rose bushes in the yard and listen and see what Preston would tell Lillian.
She waited several hours and they didn't return. Her weak body began to shake from head to foot. What shall I do she cried softly. I can't stand it I shall die from excitement. Then she heard some one laugh, that is Lillian's voice, I shall remain quiet and see what he has to tell her.

Soon they were in hearing distance. Elsie heard Preston telling Lillian of his true love for her. Oh! she say I can not live without Preston, never once did I think him so untrue. Preston soon came on back. Elsie couldn't let him pass without saying something to him.
"Preston", she cried, "Oh!
Preston".

He stoped he though he heard the sweet voice of Elsie, his heart beat with excitement, when he heard another voice.

"Preston, Oh! dear Preston why have you treated me so".

Preston was shocked for he knew the voice was Elsie's. He was silent for a moment and then said softly, "Elsie my darling child where are you?"
She had fainted and was unable to speak. Preston struck a match and much to his surprise he found she was laying at his feet.

He lifted her trembling form to his heart and said gently, "Elsie my darling why are you out here?"

"Preston. Oh! Preston you have treated me so shamefully, you are trying to deceive me."
"No Elsie I love you still. I would give my life for you."

"Well, why were you telling Lillian of your undying love tonight?"

Preston was silent for awhile, he was not prepared for this sudden shock.

"Elsie my darling it is only Lillian I am trying to deceive. I could not deceive you for the world. You are the only girl I have ever loved.

"Preston I don't want you to treat her so. Lillian is so fair but yet I know she is false. But Preston I believe she loves you, yes I know she does."

"She says I am the only man she has ever loved."

"Why do you do this to

Because she deceived my cousins. I am going to have my revenge."

"Now Preston if you want me to marry you, you must let Lillian go."

"Well dearest I will do anything you say." He pressed a fond kiss upon her lips. "I must go, I am so cold. Elsie I promise I will never call on Lillian again.
I shall write to her tomorrow and tell her so."

"Very well Preston I will trust you. Good night, darling." Elsie entered her chamber without disturbance anyone, retired and was soon asleep.

Preston rose early next morning and wrote Lillian a note. I know she loves me and the contents of this note will almost kill her, but I don't care she ruined the lives of two of my cousins.

Miss May:
Doubtless you will be surprised to receive this note. I have decided that I want a woman that is noble and true for my companion. Elsie and I are to be married soon. You are so fair but yet so false. I hope never to hear from you again.

Respectfully,
Preston Davis.

When Lillian received this note she was in the chamber reading and thinking about the joyous future. When she finished reading the note she was deathly pale.

"Mercy!" she cried. "Just think that cruel sister is my rival.
I wish she was dead. I can't stand this. Then all of her past life came to her mind. I am so fair but yet so false. Perhaps I deserve it. I shall leave this hateful city before they marry."

Lillian was so angry she could not read or sleep. She pulled the lilies from her curls and threw them in the fire, Preston gave them to her the evening of the ball. I don't know what to do. I shall not tell anyone, but I am going to leave this city at once.

For several days she remaind-ed in her room not eating anything, and sleeping but very little.
Her mother would visit her room but Elsie never went near it.
Lillian told her mother she was sick and wanted to take a trip.
Her fond parents were growing anxious about her and told her she could go any time and where she wanted to. They saw she was fading from some cause, but never once thought she had been deceived.

Lillian packed her trunk and started on a long trip. When her fond parents told her good-bye little did they think it would be last. After reaching London she decided she would spend several days there. She put up at a big hotel and everyone that saw her thought she was beautiful, but they observed that there was something unpleasant behind.
One day she was asked if she knew Willie Davis. She was so excited she could hardly speak.

"Yes I know him, he was a noble young man but was deceived by a young lady, and it ruined his life."

"He disappeared from here and we have never heard from him since. Guess the poor boy took his life."

Lillian left him; she did not care to hear any more.
Early next morning she left, she had forgotten Willie had lived there. She went to Newbury, N. Y. She had been there only two days when she was asked the same question. She said sadly to herself, "I am done, I shall leave here and go farther and change my name. She left for Topeka, Kan. after having reached that decision. After reaching there she decided not to change her name. I am so far from home I know it will never be known here. She was so sad she could hardly live. The Lillian that was once so fair has ceased to attract attention. Her mother wrote and told her that Elsie and Preston had married and were so happy. This added to her sorrow. She was employed in a store as a clerk. Never again did she have a lover. Her parents were grieved over her departure and never saw her again. The Lillian that was so fair but yet so false lived to be very old but never married.

The End.

Hay Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds.

Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St, Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with Hay Fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience.

The Vital Range.

The lieutenant rushed to the bridge and saluted
"Captain," he shouted, for the roar of battle was deafening "I regret to report that the enemy has got our range."
"Curse the luck!" roared the captain. "Now how can the cook get dinner?"

Loss Time means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M.
Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Stear, Ill. was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results a friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills.

White Oak and Proximity cotton mills, Greensboro, are shut down for two weeks. The existing depression in mill business in the South was given as the cause. The employees seem rather happy over having a two weeks vacation and are having a good time. While the mills are shut down a number of repairs will be made and the mills will resume work August 14.
A South-wide organization was perfected in Raleigh Saturday after a preliminary meeting in Washington to erect a memorial to the late Dr. Seaman Knapp, organizer of the farmers' co-operative demonstration work. A statue or bust is to be placed on the grounds of the department of agriculture at Washington. Replicas are to be erected in the agricultural colleges of each state.

Cheap Land Clearing.

In the neighborhood of Arlington, Washington, a partial solution of the problem of clearing land cheaply has been found in the use of gasolene engines equipped with cables and drums. What can be done with this equipment is shown in the experience of one farmer.

With a gasolene engine of local construction and with the assistance of his two sons a farmer living near that town cleared twenty acres of land and took out every stump during one season. The time devoted to this which could be spared from the management of a dairy farm. On the particular farm in question the actual expenditures for gasolene and oil were but $30.

Foley kidney Pills will check the progress of your kidney and bladder trouble and heal by removing the cause. Try them.

In Bad Fix

"I had a mishap at the age of 41, which left me in bad fix," writes Mrs. Georgia Usher, of Conyers, Ga.
"I was unconscious for three days, and after that I would have fainting spells, dizziness, nervousness, sick headache, heart palpitation and many strange feelings.
"I suffered greatly with ailments due to the change of life and had 3 doctors, but they did no good, so I concluded to try Cardui."
"Since taking Cardui, I am so much better and can do all my housework."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Do not allow yourself to get into a bad fix. You might get in so bad you would find it hard to get out.
Better take Cardui while there is time, while you are still in moderately good health, just to conserve your strength and keep you in tip top condition.
In this way your troubles, whatever they are, will gradually grow smaller instead of larger—you will be on the up-grade instead of the down—and by and bye you will arrive at the north pole of perfect health.
