UNIVERSITY ITEMS.

The debating union has completed its management of Carolina's inter-collegiate contest for the annual debate with the University of Pennsylvania at Durham. The question submitted to the Pennsylvania is; "Resolved, that the Forest and Mineral lands now in possession of several states should be retained by the Federal Government." Carolina hasn't yet decided which side she will take. The Pentangular debate between Georgia, Tulane, Virginia, Vanderbilt and Carolina is still on. Carolina debates Tulane, probably at Chapel Hill and Vanderbilt off the Hill the same night. The Union is considering taking up debating relations with the University of South Carolina, and it is probable, though nothing definite has been decided, that Carolina will meet South Carolina at Charleston the night of the Pennsylvania debate. In one of the fastest and most interesting gridiron contests seen here in a long time Carolina succeeded in defeating the strong team of the U. S. Ship Franklin Saturday by the score of twelve to nothing. The Sailors put up a strong fight, but they couldn't withstand the heavy charge of the Tar Heel eleven.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

By Clyde H. Taverner

Washington, Nov. 6.—The Democratic National Congressional Committee is leaving no stone unturned to keep the House of Representatives safely democratic.

The headquarters of this organization in Washington have not been closed during the entire summer. Congressman James F. Lloyd of Missouri, chairman of the committee, is personally "on the job," prosecuting a vigorous campaign of organization work; directing the dissemination of facts showing what the Democratic House has already accomplished; informing the country as to the true purpose of the Democratic program, and in all legitimate ways doing everything he can to bring about national Democratic harmony and co-operation.

Mr. Lloyd has more than anticipated the ideal of campaign publicity legislation by making it a strick rule to see that every dollar that has been entrusted to the committee has been honestly spent. Under his management there has been no "entertainment" fund, or anything of that order. No "junkets" have been financed out of the funds at his disposal. From the first Mr. Lloyd has been determined that the methods of the committee should conform to the highest standard of business morals.

A feature of the committee work in which Mr. Lloyd takes a deep interest is the publicity bureau, which is the largest bureau, of its kind that the Democrats have ever maintained in the national capitol. Encouraged by the bright prospects confronting the democracy of the nation, the Democratic editors of the country are using generously of the information sent out by the bureau. More than two thousand newspapers are regularly printing the letters sent out by the committee, thus keeping the Democratic viewpoint constantly before the country.

TAFT'S ECONOMY.

Under the Taft policy of "cut to was the quick economy, which much talked about when Mr. Taft's first went into office, the government overspent its revenues during the first thirty days of October by $4,648,694. Thus far this fiscal year, which began July 1, the expenditures of the government have exceeded the receipts by more than $20,000,000 heavier than the deficit on the corresponding date last fiscal year. The mad money-spending campaign which is responsible for this state of affairs was a feature of the legislative program of the last republican congress.

THE HOUSE OF MORGAN.

That J. P. Morgan's grip on the financial situation is becoming more and more absolute is indicated by the discovery of the steel trust, which he dominates, and of the railroads and other industrial corporations in which he controls heavy interests, amounting in all to over half a billion dollars, is on deposit in the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., a private banking concern, not subject to the supervision of any Constitutional authority. This money Morgan can lend to whom he pleases and refuse to lend to whom he likes. Moreover, the control of this cash gives him the power to regulate the credits of this country, which makes this one man the financial dictator of America.

NO TOBACCO TRUST RULING THIS WEEK.

Judge Lacombe Says it May Be Fortnight Before Case is Passed Upon.

New York, Nov. 6.—Judge Lacombe of the United States Circuit Court, Manhattan, had a short talk this morning with Judge Coxe. Whether or not the issue in the Government suit against the tobacco company was the subject of this discussion could not be definitely learned.

Counsel for one of the interests involved in the proceeding, who had a short conference with Judge Lacombe when asked if he expected a ruling upon the proposed plan of re-organization to be filed today, said,

"I don't think there is the slightest chance that there will be a ruling this week. In fact, I think it will be fully a fortnight before the case is passed upon by the court."

Col. H. C. Dockery Died at Midnight.

Rockingham, Nov. 6.—Colonel Henry Clay Dockery, former United States marshal for the Eastern District of North Carolina, and one of the most prominent and popular men in this section of North Carolina, died at his home here shortly after midnight tonight of Bright's disease.

He was seventy-one years of age. He was a leader in the Republican party in the State. In the eighties he was a member of the House of Representatives. At the time of his death he was editor of the Rockingham Post.

Col. Dockery is survived by his six children. He was a member of the Baptist church.

Another $20,000 Package Missing.

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 6.—That a United States mail pouch routed from Raleigh to New York and containing $20,000 disappeared two weeks ago in a manner very similar to a recently reported $20,000 theft of a pouch at Lynchburg, Va., became known here today, though beyond admitting the loss of the valued package, officials refuse to discuss the matter.

Endorses Our Stand on School Books.

Messrs. Editors:

I am glad you have taken up the school book nuisance. I say nuisance for seemingly it is a great nuisance worked in the interest of the book makers, without any pity shown for the "ragtag" country child—for the people cannot and are not able to stand the expense this changing of books puts upon them.

With all the changes made has the Honorable Board made any improvements on Webster's old Blue Back? If so the pupils of the different schools have not proved it. Have they made any improvements on Davie's, Pike's, Emerson's and Robertson's Arithmetics? The answer is no. Have they made any improvements on McGuffey's series of Readers? No for the readers adopted are almost senseless and of no interest to the tot who has to study them. I see no improvement in any of the books taught 20 years ago. All I see in the book question is benefit to the book companies, and hardship to the poor man who wants to educate his children.

A man of small means was talking the other day about the cost of books. In the change he would be taxed $6.00 and he was not able to bear it and his children would be compelled to stay at home.

The Education department seems to be in sympathy with book companies and higher education and leaving the poor country children to do the best they can. We need more money for the education of the ragged boy of the country, and less for your show off of the big institutions. What we need is fewer books, less theory, more teaching. A boy 7 years old is required to use more books during a term of his school now than an average college graduate uses in a whole course. We poor people can not change the books, but in November 1912, we can change the men who put such hardships upon us. Fewer books, less Theory and more teaching we poor folks want.

Good Advice For People.

People in Roxboro have constipation, sour stomach or gas on the stomach, should use simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-i-ka, the new German appendicitis remedy. A SINGLE DOSE brings relief almost INSTANTLY because this simple mixture antisepticizes the digestive organs and drains the impurities. Hambrick & Austin.
