McKEOWN-BARNETT.

Roxboro, N. C., Aug. 28.—At "The Oaks", the beautiful suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Barnett, a marriage of much interest to Roxboro people took place on Wednesday evening at half past seven o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Blanche, became the bride of Mr. H. H. McKeown.

While it was a quiet home marriage, yet it was a rarely beautiful one. In addition to its natural setting the beauty of the home was greatly enhanced by tasteful decorations in white and green. At the sweetly solemn hour, when evening shadows blending with the dark green of many oaks, enveloped the home in semi-darkness, two little girls, daintily attired, Lucy May Barnett and Mary Shuford Carlton, entering the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, skilfully rendered by Mrs. L. M. Carlton, received the ribbons from the hands of Master William Staley Cheatham and Guy Simpson, who were stationed at either side of the door, and marched to the front of an improvised altar of palms and ferns. Down the aisle thus formed came Master Henry Newell Sergeant, bearing the emblem of wedded life, and tiny Miss Mar-garett Carlton, who held the bride's bouquet during a part of the ceremony. Next followed the bride leaning on the arm of her future husband. They were met at the altar by Rev. Chas. M. Lance of Southport, N. C. A special friend of both bride and groom, who impressively spoke the words that made them man and wife, using the rings ceremony. Before the entrance of the bridal party Mrs. Carlton played Chopin's 5th Nocturne and during the ceremony, Berceuse from Jocelyn. The bride was handsomely dressed in an Alice blue coat suit with gloves and hat to match, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lillies-of-the-valley.

Miss Barnett is a highly successful teacher, a young lady of culture and charm who has endeared herself to her many friends by her fidelity and adherence to noble ideals.

Mr. McKeown is a Davidson man, a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and a school man of parts. He has held several responsible positions as principal and superintendent. At present he is superintendent of the Mebane schools.

The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents. They left on the eight o'clock train for Mebane, their future home.

OPENING OF THE MOVIES. Messrs. Reade & Powell Opened up Their Moving Picture Show Last Monday.

As announced in our last issue the Moving Picture Show opened up for business last Monday evening, giving two performances in the afternoon and two in the evening to good crowds, in fact they could not accommodate the crowd in the evening.

Everybody was loud in their praise of the show yesterday, many expressing themselves on the merit of the show, both as to service rendered and to the quality of the pictures produced, they were high class in every respect.

Mr. Reade was here to see that everything went off all right, and we feel sure he had no complaint to make either as to the show or the attendance, in fact we know that he was well satisfied with both. Mr. Powell says the pictures will be changed every day and the best service rendered that money can get, and he knows the business and is in a position to know when good service is rendered, and you can count on seeing something worth your time, and something that will interest you every time you go.

As a matter of interest to the people of the town and county we will give you a few testimonials from parties who have seen the show.

Mr. W. R. Hambrick, Superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School says the show was as good as any of its kind he ever attended.

Mr. W. F. Long, Cashier of the Bank of Roxboro says he has seen many moving picture shows but he never saw any with clearer pictures.

Mr. E. G. Long, Cashier of the Peoples Bank says it is as clean and neat a show as he ever saw and that it is one that no one need be ashamed to go to.

These are men in whom you know and in whom you have confidence, they have no interest in the business, but give these testimonials just as a matter of justice to Messrs. Reade & Powell who have taken the pains, trouble and expense to fit up such a place of amusement for our people, where they can spend a few hours pleasantly of an evening at a very small cost.

Personally, we were very much pleased with the show, finding it just as Mr. Reade had represented it to us last week. The pictures were good, interesting, clean, clear and neat, and we enjoyed the hour spent there very much.

Mr. T. D. Veazey, the operator, says he will promise a clear and distinct picture at all times. That they have the light, the power, the pictures and everything that it takes to give good pictures.

As we said last week, if you go once you will go again, certainly this will be true if you are interested at all in moving pictures.

They show from 3 o'clock to 5:30, and from 7:30 to 10:30 P. M., prices for children under 12 at 5 cents, adults 10 cents.

UNITED STATES' POSITION AND THAT OF MEXICO CONTRASTED.

President Wilson through Jno. Lind presented to Huerta these conditions as essential to a satisfactory settlement:

An immediate cessation of fighting throughout Mexico, definite armistic solemnly entered into and scrupulously observed;

Security given for an early and free election in which all will agree to take part;

The consent of Gen. Huerta to bind himself not to be a candidate for election as President of the republic at this election; and

The agreement of all parties to abide by the result of the election and co-operate in the most loyal way in organizing and supporting the new administration.

Senor Gamboa, Minister of Foreign Affairs, replying for President Huerta, rejected the American proposals and suggested the alternative policy for the United States:

Reception of a Mexican Ambassador in Washington.

That the United States send a new Ambassador to Mexico without restraints.

Strict observance of the neutrality laws and see to it that no material or monetary assistance is given to the rebels.

Unconditional recognition of the Huerta Government.

President Wilson yesterday announced to Congress the position of the United States Government to be:

No armed intervention.

Strict neutrality, "forbidding the exportation of arms or munitions of war of any kind from the United States to any part of the republic of Mexico."

Under the circumstances to "b the partisans of either party to the contest that now distracts Mexico, or constitutes ourselves the virtual umpire between them."

To urge all Americans to leave Mexico at once and to assist them to get away in every way possible.

To let every one in Mexico who assumes to exercise authority known plainly that this Government "shall vigilantly watch the fortunes of those Americans who cannot get away, and shall hold those responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning."—New York World.

Mexico Will Pay Damages.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Mexico will have to settle to the last dollar for damages to the billion dollars worth of property owned by Americans when the reign of the rebellion began three years ago. During the present lull in the negotiations between the United States and the Huerta government the state department is turning its attention to the immense indebtedness that Huerta is piling up to be settled by his successor. An international commission will ascertain this indebtedness, it was stated today.

Officials of the state department said today that by means of the Madero rebellion and the present Americans already had sustained a loss of $500,000,000. The international commission will be charged with the duty of ascertaining this loss.

Holds Extravagance to be National Crime.

Durham, Aug. 25.—Judge Fran Carter, in charging the grand jury for the August term of criminal court, departed from the usual of such charges, and rather than spending so much a time in the discussion of the law delivered a very interesting charge on the cause of crime. The judge laid the blame for the greater part of the crimes against society against extravagance.

He said that his spending more than could be afforded was a national crime. The National Government spends more than it should spend. The State Government, the county, towns and finally the individuals of the community are bound by the common crime of extravagance.

which in turn leads to the lesser crimes which come into the court of justice.

As an illustration of this tendency to spend more money than the incomes of individuals afforded Judge Carter cited the case against the automobile, and called attention to the recent statement of the Secretary of State that a large number of the checks sent in by automobile owners for their State, came back from the banks on a protest.
