LONG-HARRIS

One of the prettiest marriages ever witnessed here was on Wednesday evening December 10 at 6 o'clock in the Edgar Long Memorial church when Miss Katherine Jones Long became the bride of Reginald Lee Harris. The church was tastefully decorated, the pulpit being banked with ferns and the altar rail and aisles being covered with white. The organist was Miss Sallie Reade and while the friends of young couple were assembling she played several selections, and just before the wedding party entered Mrs. J. A. Long, Jr. sang "For Love's Sweet Sake."

The ushers, Messrs. C. W. Long, M. R. Long, D. W. Ledbetter and R. I. Featherstone, Jr., entered by the side aisles while the bridesmaids entered by the center aisle in pairs. The first were Misses Mabel Harris and Bettie Reade of Durham, who wore white crepe de chine over blue, and carried white roses; the next were Misses Mary Harris and Elma Featherstone who wore white crepe de chine over pink and carried pink roses, all of the bridesmaids wearing the bridesmaids veils. Next came in the marion of honor, Mrs. E. E. Bradsher, sister of the bride. She wore pink crepe de chine and carried pink roses. After her came the little ring bearer, Miss Francis Long, niece of the bride, dressed in pink, who carried the ring in the heart of a rose.

The bride, a picture of girlish beauty, came in with her sister and maid of honor, Miss Sue Long, who wore a gown of light green crepe de chine with crystal tunic and carried white roses. The bride's gown was of white charmeuse and her veil was caught with white rosebuds. Her bouquet was lilies of the valley and white roses.

The groom entered from the vestry room with his best man Mr. J. A. Long, Jr., and met the bride at the altar where Rev. E. M. Snipes pronounced the words which made them man and wife. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was the one used, and Schubert's Serenade was softly played during the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris left on the seven o'clock train for a northern trip and upon their return will make their home with the groom's parents for awhile. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. W. H. Lonsr, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harris and both have many friends, which was attested by the many handsome wedding gifts, of furniture, cut glass, china, silver etc, received by the bride.

Society Events.

Last Tuesday afternoon Mrs. A. S. deVlaming entertained in her usual cordial manner the Pleasure Club. The games were spirited and lively from start to finish. When the scores were counted it was found that Mrs. R. J. Teague had won the club prize and Mrs. B. R. Long the visitors. At the close of the games an elegant two course lunch was served.

The Research Club had a delightful meeting with Mrs. William C. Bullock on Dec. 3rd. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. deVlaming, Mrs. J. A. Long led the meeting in an interesting manner.

At the close of the program the hostess served refreshments that were appetizing and delightful.

Prof. Stalvey speaking of him in the most complimentary terms in the chapel Monday morning.
