ROCKEFELLER TO GIVE TO BELGIUM

Millions, if Necessary, Says Young Magnate Will Go to Desperate

New York, Nov. 1.—The Rockefeller Foundation has determined to employ its immense resources for relief of non-combatants in the countries afflicted by the war. It stands ready to give "millions of dollars, if necessary." This was announced today by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., president of the foundation.

The foundation will send a commission to Europe in a few days to report as to how, when and where aid can be rendered most effectively. At a cost of $275,000 it already has chartered a ship and loaded it with 4,000 tons of provisions for Belgium relief.

The ship is the Massapequa, the largest neutral vessel now in New York harbor. It will sail Tuesday morning direct for Rotterdam with certification from the British consul here that its cargo is destined for use of Belgium non-combatants only. The supplies will be distributed by the Belgian relief commission.

Mr. Rockefeller has been in communication with Ambassador Page at London and made public a cablegram in which the Ambassador describes the dire need of the Belgians and says it will require a million dollars a month for seven or eight months to prevent starvation.

"In fact," the ambassador added, "many will starve now before food can reach them."

Mr. Rockefeller made it clear in his announcement that steps taken by the foundation will be "absolutely neutral." The commission of investigation will be headed by Wickliffe Rose, a director general of the International Health Commission.

"This action will but supplement the public spirited efforts of the Belgian relief committee," said Mr. Rockefeller in announcing the foundation's plan.

DR. S. RAPPORT of Durham will be at Roxboro at the Jones Hotel, Tues. Nov. 10th, for the purpose of examining eyes and fitting glasses. Consultation Free.

Turks Regret Their Action

London, Nov. 2.—Turkey is making frantic efforts to keep out of the war. It is stated in diplomatic circles tonight that the grand vizier has tendered to the powers on behalf of Turkey an apology for the acts of the Turkish battalions in their raid on Russian Black Sea ports. Although no official statement has as yet been made on the subject the report is given credence generally.

While the negotiations for Turkey's extrication from her beligerent situation were proceeding a combined British and French squadron in the Gulf of Pechme hunted down and sunk two Turkish warships. They were the Turkish gunboat Dubekreis and the Turkish armed steamship Kinalida.

Miss Emma Bradsher Entertained Idlers Embroidery Club.

The social season of the year began on Friday night when Miss Emma Bradsher entertained the Idlers Embroidery Club at a Halloween party, which proved to be the most elaborate of all social events tendered the club.

The guests assembled promptly at eight thirty. They were received at the door by Miss Loraine Winstead dressed as witch and were shown to the dressing rooms by two small witches. As the guests as ghosts and ghostess, emerged from the rooms into the hall, with the magnificent decorations as a back ground, the scene furnished was indeed a sacred and entertaining one. In one corner of the large hall that truly represented a cornfield on a moonlight night reposed the punch bowl on a mass of autumn leaves, which was presided over by a dreadful looking ghost namely, Miss Lucile Winstead.

The reception rooms fantastically decorated with grinning jack-o-lanterns, autumn leaves, spiders, bats, owls and black cats made an ideal and effective home for the ghosts, witches and other halloween spirits to roam.

The guests were first given twenty minutes to guess "who was who." They were then ushered into another room where was found every device imaginable for foretelling the future. Also a large tub filled with apples and water and the old time custom of bobbing for apples was found amusing.

Last but not least the guests were each received singularly into a sacred cave ornamented with skull-bones, bats, owls and spiders. Here the most awful of all the witches presided to foretell the future and the years of single blessedness remaining the young people. The guests were then received in the dining room where delicious ices and cake were served. The favors were skull stick pins.

More than forty guests were recipients of Miss Bradsher's hospitality. At a late hour they departed declaring her the most delightful of all hostesses. And with many good wishes for the Idlers Embroidery Club and Miss Bradsher as their charming president—X.
