

Fishing For Business

It is pretty hard to be a successful fisherman unless you at least put your line in the water.

If you want business, the fairest way is to come out openly and ask for it. That's the reason we are using this space every week, assuring you that we want more business, YOURS in particular, and are not beating about the bush in asking for it. Our banking facilities are the best to be had.

Do it Now

Now is the time to screen your house, do not wait until everybody else is screening when it will be hard to get someone to do it.

See us at once about your house screening and we will find you a good carpenter to do the work.

Prof. G. F. Holloway left a few days since for Raleigh, where he will enter a hospital. Mr. Holloway's health has not been good for some time, but it is greatly hoped that a few days stay in the hospital will restore him. Few men in the County are more widely known or more popular than Prof. Holloway.

On Saturday morning we received a dollar from Mrs. Lucy Whitfield of Route No. 5. Mrs. Whitfield is one of our old subscribers, having been taking The Courier for many years. She also states that she would not like to do without it, and hopes to continue to take it for some time yet.

If each farm in any community is clean, tidy, and well kept, presenting a thrifty, home-life appearance, the whole neighborhood will be attractive to visitors and satisfying to residents. Local and county fair boards might create a very valuable farm improvement habit by offering a liberal prize for the best planned farm in a neighborhood or in a county.

The members of Oak Grove Church pounded their pastor, Rev. C. R. Ross, last week, bringing him a good supply of groceries and other eatables. This is the second of his churches to pound him since his return from Conference in November, Concord pounding him just before Xmas. These poundings have not lessened the preachers height or his ability to walk when the roads are too bad to ride or drive, but on the contrary have helped him in both respects. It is useless to say that he appreciated the thoughtfulness of his people, and that he will endeavor to show his appreciation by faithful service.
