Civic Economy That Elevates
Civic Pride On a Patriotic Pedestal.

Why?

Because—

It is a home builder.

It is the life of a town.

It is civic patriotism.

It helps your own people.

It is living and let live.

It is right, just and neighborly.

It is not buying "a pig in a poke."

It means the seller and the buyer happier.

It enables you to do as you would be done by.

It puts money in circulation around home.

It is better to do it than wish you had done it.

It helps you to double the population of your town.

It makes all classes of your citizens more cheerful.

It is setting a fine example for your neighbors to emulate.

It gives the merchant a better idea of what he can sell best.

It is the best means of building up trade and establishing factories.

It is not having your corn measured in some one else's bushel measure.

It is a custom, if you adopt now, will become your second nature in time.

It enables you to see what you are getting, and who you are getting it from.

It stimulates pride in home products, and gives courage to the weak-hearted.

It raises many a cloud of gloom, and is like sunshine after a season of cloudiness.

It is turning loose a dollar to help others to grind that will bring grist to your mill.

It will give inspiration and encouragement to your merchants and manufacturers.

It strengthens the small dealers, and enables the big merchants to do bigger things.

It gives you bargains in sight, and in hand, that are worth two in the bush of the mail order house.

It is making friends among your own people, and neighbors, that will do you service when you need friends.

It creates confidence and builds up neighborly reciprocity, which is the life-blood of every community.

It is the touchstone that distinguishes between the gold of home pride and the sounding brass of foreign conceit.

It enables the home merchants to more readily meet the local demands for the home building, city improvements, schools and churches.

It enables the manufacturer to enlarge his plant and add, and keep, the most improved machinery for better work; and gives him the chance to grow, and employ more labor.

It helps your neighbor to bear their share of the school and all other taxes, and thus aid you to educate your children, and assist in making a greater and better home town.

It is education and advancement to your merchants, for it enables them to serve you more satisfactorily.

This is partially why everybody should buy in their home town. Are not the reasons sufficient to convince you to do it?—Old Hurrygraph in Everything.

Minister Gives Testimony.

The Rev. C. M. Knighton, Havana, Fla., writes: "For three months I suffered intense pain in kidneys and back, which at times laid me up entirely. I read of Foley Kidney Pills and after trying various remedies without result I decided to try the Foley treatment. I was relieved almost with the first dose and it is a fact that I used only 1-2 bottles when all of the pains disappeared. I am 55 years of age and now feel like a young man again." Sold Everywhere.
