DEATH OF A SPLEN- DID YOUNG MAN.

Mr. Elmer Pixley died at the home of his father, Mr. L. C. Pixley, near woodsdale last Wednesday night. The funeral exercises were held on Friday and the burial at Mill Creek Baptist church. Elmer had been connected with the firm of Woody, Long & Morton for a number of years, a member of Roxboro Baptist Church and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. His life had been clean and upright and in his death his friends feel a keen loss.

ROXBORO TOBACCO MARKET OPENED YESTERDAY

Good Sales, Happy Farmers. Entire Sales for All of the Warehouses Averaged $19.33.

The tobacco market opened here yesterday and while there had been no great hurrah made about the opening there was a big crowd of farmers in town, all anxious to see how the market was going to open. They had been hearing of the good prices which the weed was bringing in Eastern Carolina, but still they were afraid that something might happen to make such prices here unobtainable. But to all, such fears were quickly dismissed for the very first pile sold brought satisfactory prices, and so on through the day, for there were sales at all the warehouses.

While all the houses had sales there was no heavy sales at any of them, but a larger quantity than usual on the first days sales here. The quantity was fair for first offering, but no fancy grades were offered, still the price soared away up, the entire average for the days sales at all of the houses was $19.33. From this fact it would seem that the Roxboro tobacco market is still doomed to be the highest average market in the State, an honor she has maintained for the past several years.

There was nothing exciting about the sales, every pound was sold on its merit, and there seemed a determination by all of the buyers to have tobacco. In fact they seemed anxious for it. It was indeed good to see such fine feeling existing between the farmer, the buyer and the warehousemen, all determined that there should be no cry raised that the buyers did not want the tobacco, or the farmers claiming that prices were higher elsewhere. With such feeling the market is sure to sell the largest portion of this crop within reach of the market.

$25.00 FOR PRIMINGS.

Yesterday, the opening day, Mr. S. T. Slaughter had a load of primings which he sold at the Person Union Warehouse for just a little over twenty five dollars a hundred, clear check. He was delighted with Roxboro prices and carried away with him a little more than two hundred dollars of good cold cash for a load of eight hundred pounds of primings.

Dr. Ivey being a favorite with all of our people, having served this field for four years, the house will probably be packed to its utmost to care for the crowd.

Corner Stone Laying.

On Saturday evening the Masons laid the corner stone of Grace Methodist Church in East Roxboro. Quite a crowd gathered to see the laying. After the ceremonies by the Masons Rev. O. W. Dowd, pastor, made a few remarks and called on Mr. S. G. Winstead who delivered the address of the occasion.

Person Union Averaged $20.24

At the opening sale yesterday the Person Union Warehouse averaged $20.24 for the entire sale. Such prices will convince that the Roxboro market is equal to the best—and then some.
