

Origin of Gold and Silver.

Steamboat Springs, Nevada, has figured prominently in discussions of the origin of ore deposits. The waters of these springs contain the precious metals in minute quantities, and the sinter deposited by them contains several minerals that are common constituents of ores, as well as small quantities of many of the rarer metallic constituents of ore deposits, including gold and silver. Such springs, therefore, suggest that many and perhaps most ore-bearing veins have been formed by hot waters rising from great depths, which have brought their metal contents up in solution and deposited them in open spaces or fissures in the rocks through which the waters passed, the deposition of some ore being influenced by chemical reaction with the surrounding rock. Many ore deposits are undoubtedly formed in other ways, for some are unquestionably of sedimentary origin and the metal content of some others has been carried down, redeposited, and concentrated by rain water that descended into the earth's crust, but the "hydrothermal" origin that is their deposition from ascending hot water—of many of the more valuable ore deposits is indicated by the close relation observed at many places between mineral veins and eruptive rocks. Thermal waters are believed to be, in part at least, given off by slowly cooling and solidifying masses of igneous rock (magma) deep within the earth.—U. S. Geological Survey.

Worth Attention of Women.

When you feel too tired to work, when dark puffs appear under your eyes, when you wake up weary, with backache or pains in sides and loins, when muscles and bones ache, when you suffer rheumatic twinges, when lumbago puts you down, then you know the kidneys are weakened or disordered. Mrs. T. J. Bucknell, Route 1, Hardy, Neb., writes: "I am recovering from an attack of lumbago, by the aid of Foley Kidney Pills. They surely have helped me."

Gregg has Introduced Mothers Pension Bill.

Senator Gregg, of Randolph county, who is the largest member of the upper house of the general assembly and as a Republican represents the district composed of the counties of Randolph and Montgomery, introduced in the senate Monday afternoon a bill to provide state pensions for dependent mothers. Mr. Gregg's idea, as he puts it, is to make sin pay for the protection of dependents, and his bill would appropriate the mother's pensions from the profits of the State's Prison, although if these should prove insufficient, the amount needed would be derived from the general funds of the state.

The bill proposes to allow the mother of one dependent child $15 a month, but in case she has more than one to allow her $12 for the first and $9 for each additional child. Mr. Gregg is convinced of the equity of his bill, and says that he has all the nerve required to make a fight for it.

WOMEN'S OVERALLS
A BLESSING OF WAR

Vogue Starting in Europe is Here to Stay, as Makers are Selling Lots of 'Em.

Overalls for women!

Overalls of chambray, overalls of soft cotton, overalls in stripes, checks, white, blues, of khaki and of black sateen but veralls none the less—have been in need for sale by one of the largest overall manufacturing firms in the country which heretofore had devoted its output to men only. Henceforth it will produce bifurcated garments of special design for feminine wear, and already, it was said yesterday, orders were coming in from all over the country for the new costume. They were from employers of women and from department stores which plan to sell overalls to housekeepers, servants, and women who do work of sorts for which skirts have disadvantages long obvious.

So overalls may soon become as commonly used as the now popular bungalow apron, but the chances are they'll never look just the same as those the plumber, the carpenter, or the machanic now wears to his work. In fact, the first concern of the designers of the new garment was to make them practical overalls without making 'em too obviously a pair of trousers. So more goods go into overalls for women than are required to make a pair for men, and they may be gathered in little tucks about the ankles. Or they may be gathered about the knees, assuming then a billowy, bloomerish appearance. According to them they may be worn over skirts, so their primary purpose is to add to the freedom of women's movements.

Their makers think they may be employed to advantage in all sorts of factory work, housework, washing, ironing, cooking, scrubbing, gardening, and other outdoor work, and for motor cycling, camping, and sports of all kinds. They point out overalls for women are more sanitary than skirts, which catch all the dirt, and can be washed more easily and less expensively. They are superior to aprons, for, clasped about the ankles, they keep the undergarments of their wearers free of any dust or dirt. A feature that has appealed so far to those who are to wear them is that women who like to travel to and from their work arrayed in finery may do so, and, by changing into overalls at their places of employment, can go about their work with no fear of wearing and tearing their street clothing or of catching them in machinery.

I, a Southern Gentleman, am Named

Well, way back in 1901, after I had been in this bright, happy world for several days, I began to get worried like. I didn't have any name.

Folks were calling me "it" and "the new one" and "whatdya-call-it." I didn't like it a bit. Then one day I heard the Big Chief telephoning all his department heads to meet in his office.

Pretty soon they all came filing in. Tall chaps, short chaps, fat chaps and skinny chaps. "Now that he is here," said the Big Chief, "what will you name him?"

My! how they wrangled and wrangled and wrangled. You know, you have heard them argue whether He'd be called Jack or John or Jim before. Finally, one fellow spoke up and said:

"Why not call him 'SOVEREIGN'? His mother was a Virginian, his father an aristocrat of the Carolinas. He comes from the very best stock. He comes from the very sweetest, ripest, mellowest Virginia and Carolina tobacco. He is being raised right in one of the cleanest, whitest, healthiest homes on earth. He is a Southern born, a Southerner bred, a Southern gentleman—the king of them all—a real SOVEREIGN.

The Folks of the South KNOW good blood.
The Folks of the South KNOW good tobacco.

SOVEREIGN—the best—is none too good a name." So I was named, friend, for I want you as one of my friends, and it means a whole heap when I say—

I am guaranteed by The American Tobacco Co. —Buy me. If you don't like me return me to your dealer and get your money back. I have said it. A Southern gentleman is known the world over for keeping his word, and I have given you mine.
